U.S. Cracks Heroin Ring With Ambassador's Arrest

NEW YORK (AP) — Authorities said Saturday a trap laid by Canadian police led to the arrest here of the Mexican ambassador to Bolivia and two other men and seizure of millions of dollars worth of smuggled heroin.

Estimates of the retail value of the contraband ranged from $13.5 million to $25 million at United States prices and to $52 million in Canada, where narcotics are scarcer.

The heroin was smuggled into Canada and the United States from the Middle East via France. The haul was one of the largest ever of its type — more than 134 pounds.

Canadian police found the heroin in four suitcases in lockers in a Montreal railway station but, instead of arresting the man who checked them, worked out this stratagem: They switched all but two pounds of the narcotics with flour, leaving the two pounds as additional evidence if the trail led to associates of the man.

They said the man took the suitcases to New York, where they were found in Pennsylvania Station lockers, still with the two pounds of heroin. Tracing of his contacts here led to his arrest and that of the two other men.

The arrested men, charged with conspiring to violate United States narcotics laws, appeared in federal court and were ordered held in $100,000 bail each pending a hearing.

The Justice Department in Washington identified them as: Salvador Pardo - Bolland, 55, Mexican ambassador to Bolivia.

Juan Artizi, about 60, employed by the Uruguyan Foreign Ministry in Montevideo, Uruguay. (However, a Uruguayan government representative said Artizi had resigned.)

Rene Bruchon 50, a Frenchman from Marseille, who was deported from the United States in 1949.

If convicted, each could be sentenced to 20 years in prison and be fined $20,000.

Nasser Warns New War With Israel Possible

CAIRON U.A.R. (UPI)—President Gamal Abdel Nasser said Saturday there is a "probability" of war with Israel and accused the United States and Britain of partiality toward the Tel Aviv government.

Nasser, in a major foreign policy speech, said the "future bears the probability of war with Israel."

He also demanded the liquidation of all foreign bases in the Middle East.

Quakes Still Trouble Small Azores Island

ANGRA DO HEROISMO, Azores (UPI) — Fear-ridden inhabitants of these mid-Atlantic islands prayed Saturday for an end to a week-long series of earth tremors while Portuguese ships stood by to evacuate them in case of need.

Churches remained open all night following the strongest quake of the series Friday afternoon. Thousands moved in silent prayerful processions from church to church.

All over the islands wary peasants spent the night in the open air. Because of such precautions nobody has been reported killed in the quakes, although the town of Velas on Sao Jorge island was almost completely wrecked.

Villagers on Sao Jorge still feared a major volcanic eruption and were urging the civil governor to evacuate their cattle to another island.

Special Session Proposed For Reapportionment

GREELEY (AP)—Gov. John A. Love was called upon today to summon the legislature into a special session after the current regular session, in order to reapportion the state's four congressional districts.

The governor said Friday he has given some thought to such a move.

The request was made in a letter signed by David J. Miller, Greeley attorney, representing the Colorado Committee for Federal Congressional Reapportionment.

Officials said the committee includes members of both major political parties.

Miller's letter said if the state takes no action on reapportionment, a suit will be filed in U.S. District Court declaring the present apportionment plan violates the U.S. Constitution.

If no change is made, the committee said, Colorado's four congressmen should be elected next fall on an at-large basis.

Miller pointed out the 2nd District in northern Colorado has a population more than three times as large as that of the 4th District in western Colorado.

To bring about uniformity in terms with a U.S. Supreme Court decision last Monday, each district should have about 438,000 persons, Miller said.

Springs Girl Dies After Car Crashes Into Tree

A 15 - year old Colorado Springs girl was fatally injured early Saturday morning when the car in which she was riding plowed head-on into a giant pine tree. Three other teenagers were injured.

Maurie E. Sullivan died at 5:29 p.m. Saturday at St. Francis Hospital. She sustained a fractured skull and head and body lacerations in the spectacular accident.

Toby G. Anderson, also 15, driver of the car, was listed in satisfactory condition at St. Francis where he is being treated for head lacerations and other injuries.

Treated and released at St. Francis were Charles E. Pritts, 14, 307 Cheyenne Blvd., who sustained a bruised nose, and 15-year old Craig Hilfers, 108 Saturn Dr., who sustained a bruised foot.

State Patrolmen J. D. Morrissey and A. G. Martin said the accident occurred on Miranda Road in the Broadmoor area about 2:15 a.m. Saturday.

The officers said Anderson of 7 Winfield Ave. apparently lost control of the car which veered off the left side of the road and ran into a drainage ditch. The car continued south and struck a large pine tree at 9 Miranda Rd. head-on.

The car, a 1962 model, was declared a total loss.

Miss Sullivan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roger Sullivan, 1606 Ridgeway Ave., is survived by her parents; three brothers, Brion, 17, Roger, 14, and Clarence, 3; a sister, Deirdre, 12, and maternal grandfather, Maurice Moore of Rockville Center, N.Y.

The body was taken to Nolan Funeral Home where arrangements are incomplete.

More Cigarette Tax, Other State Tax Revisions to Be Proposed

Denver (UPI)—House Speaker John D. Vanderhoof, R-Glenwood Springs, confirmed Saturday he and other Republican leaders expect to propose a state tax on cigarettes and revision of the income tax next week.

Together, the tax package would amount to about $11 million a year. But the Republicans are quick to point out that they have all but junked Gov. John Love's plan to extend the property tax.

Thus, they say the increases will amount to only $5 or $6 million.

The Democrats disagree on this point. They point out that the property tax would have expired at the end of this year anyway.

Vanderhoof said he considers the cigarette tax "a replacement" for the property tax.

"We could keep the property tax going next year if we wanted to," he said, "but we aren't going to."

He said House Republican leaders have agreed the cigarette tax should be fixed at about 3 cents a pack, thus producing revenue of $5 to $6 million a year.

This bill already has been introduced in the House. It is sponsored by Rep. Ruth Clark, R-Fort Collins.

The income tax bill also has been introduced but has been bottled up in the House Rules Committee most of February. It was the work of a special interim committee and sponsored by Rep. William Griffith, R-Denver.

This measure is an implementation of the 1962 constitutional amendment to make state income tax returns conform more closely to the federal income tax system.

Two revenue-producing features might be included in the bill — adopting the less liberal federal medical provisions and eliminating the special state travel allowance.

It has been estimated that these two changes would mean $5.5 to $6 million a year in added revenue.

Policemen Use Dogs to Break Up Race Riot

PRINCESS ANNE, Md. (UPI)—A flying wedge of state troopers using two snarling police dogs charged Saturday into a crowd of 300 Negro students blocking the entrance to a restaurant accused of discrimination.

One Negro student was bitten on the leg and a state police captain was clubbed on the head during the brief melee.

Police disarmed a white man who tried to join in the fray with a knife. Four of the Negro demonstrators were arrested.

The chanting, singing, sign-carrying Negro students from Maryland State College demonstrated in this Eastern Shore community to protest segregation at several Princess Anne restaurants.

But they singled out one restaurant on Somerset Avenue, the main street in town, because it was the scene of a disturbance Friday night in which a Negro student was struck.

Police Capt. Paul Randall was struck on the head before order was restored, and the Negro students resumed their

Pilot Survives 1,000 Foot Fall Into Sierra Snowbank

OAKLAND, Calif. (UPI) — A 26-year-old Navy pilot who survived a 1,000-foot fall into a High Sierra snowbank said Saturday it all happened so fast that he did not realize until he was on the ground that his parachute had failed to open.

Lt. (jg) Edward A. Dickson, Wyoming, Pa., was in Oak Knoll Naval Hospital recovering from a broken leg, his only injury except for bruises.

Dickson landed in a deep, sloping snowbank and bounced up against a tree.

He bailed out Thursday over the high wilderness area after the engine of his A4 Skyhawk jet failed during a flight with four other planes from Le-Moore Naval Air Station in California to a practice bombing range near Fallon, Nev. When he ejected he was about 60 miles north of Bishop, Calif.

"I remember doing a tumble in the air, but falling at 130 miles an hour you don't have too much time to think about anything," Dickson said. "I don't remember landing in the snow but what must have been a short time later I found myself wrapped around the trunk of a tree.

"I thought at first I'd had it. Then after a few seconds I knew I wasn't as bad off as I'd feared.

"I did not lose consciousness and knew my right leg was broken. I noticed a deep gouge in the snow about 30 feet away and concluded that I must have bounced from there to the tree.

"I released my oxygen mask which was hissing and began looking for my plane mates. I saw them circling and thought, 'at least they know where I am'."

Dickson said he got out survival equipment and inflated a yellow raft which had been strapped to his body. He fired a flare and the planes responded by dipping their wings.

"I wrapped myself in my parachute and tried to stay as warm as possible. I rested my broken leg in the crotch of the tree where I'd hit. My only thoughts were of how soon I was going to be picked up."

Cardiovascular Disease Deaths Are Decreasing

NEW YORK (AP) — The American Heart Association reported Saturday that the upward trend in cardiovascular disease deaths among middle-aged men had been reversed for the first time.

Dr. John J. Sampson, association president, said there had been a six per cent decrease in the 1962-63 year of cardiovascular disease deaths among men between 45 and 64.

He noted that deaths among men in this age group had been moving upward for years in contrast to a steadily declining rate among women of the same age.

He added, however, that diseases of the heart and blood vessels still cause more than half of all deaths in the United States each year.

Shrieking Mobs Give Beatles Wild, Hysterical Welcome 'Back Home'

By RICHARD C. LONGWORTH

LONDON (UPI) — Thousands of shrieking teen-aged girls staged the biggest, wildest and noisiest reception in the history of London Airport Saturday when the Beatles returned to Britain from a triumphant tour of their American colonies."

A harried official of the Aviation Minstry called the mob scene involving an estimated 10,000 Beatlemaniacs "Britain's first battle of the Beatles" and conceded that police assigned to control the throng had lost it.

Most of the teen-agers had waited through one of the coldest nights of the winter to see the sun-tanned, mop-topped rock 'n 'roll quartet when they stepped off a jetliner at 8:02 a.m., 33 minutes late on a flight from New York.

The airport exploded in bedlam when fans swept through the airport like a hurricane. They surged against a special 100-man police guard ordered to protect the singers.

Dozens of girls fainted or received minor injuries when they stormed through and shattered a glass door leading to an observation platform overlooking the runway.

The roofs and hoods of several official airport cars and trucks were caved in by fans who clambered atop them to get a glimpse of the singers. The reception was far wilder than the send-off the Beatles got when they left here two weeks ago.

When the plane finally came to a stop on the runway, police fought a losing battle to keep the crowd back. The Beatles scurried out of the plane and darted from the terminal under a hail of jellybeans.

The position pays $11,136 a year.

Japanese Prince Selects Bride From 2,000 Girls

TOKYO (UPI) —Miss Hanako Tsugaru, a lively 23-year - old of noble lineage selected from nearly 2,000 candidates, today accepted the marriage proposal of Prince Yoshi, Emperior Hirohito's younger son.

Yoshi, 28, a shy, studious biology researcher at Tokyo University, had never seen Miss Tsugaru before a formal half-hour meeting in the home of a mutual friend two days ago.

He apparently liked what he saw.

Today, the grand chamberlain of the imperial palace went to the home of Mr. and Mrs. Yoshiharu Tsugaru and informed them that Emperor Hirohito and Empress Nagako wanted their permission for Yoshi to marry their daughter.

The answer was affirmative. Although such a request was once a command, in modern-day Japan the question is not asked until it has been determined that permission will be given.

Sources close to the imperial household said the engagement will be formally announced in April and the wedding will take place after the completion of the Olympic Games here in October.

President Turns Debt-Ridden Private College into Profit-Making Institution

By G. K. HODENFIELD

FAIRFIELD, Iowa (AP)—Eight years ago Parsons College had 212 students, a campus worth $700,000 and debts of $1.2 million.

Parsons now has 2,700 students, a $7-million campus, is virtually debt-free, and will show a profit this year of $2.2 million.

Behind this rags-to-riches tale stands Dr. Millard G. Roberts, president of Parsons College, and one of the most cussed and discussed men in U.S. higher education.

Roberts, a former New York minister now in his 40s, has has turned a bankrupt college into a thriving business. He welcomes students no other college will take.

Roberts' critics sputter that no college should even try to make a profit.

Roberts replies that a profit-making approach is the only salvation for most private colleges.

The critics charge that no college can admit students with poor test scores and high school records and still maintain a quality academic program.

Roberts says it is only a matter of giving the students more personal attention.

The North Central Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools placed Parsons on probation last June. The reasons were not disclosed.

There has been some faculty dissension, some professors resigned, and ties have been loosened with the United Presbyterian Church with which Parsons has always been affiliated.

Much of the criticism has been aimed at Roberts. Whatever the merits of the charges and counter-charges, Roberts has done a face-lifting job on Parsons.

When Roberts took over as president in 1955, most of the school's 212 students lived within 50 miles of Fairfield, a pleasant farming community of less than 8,000 population. The average faculty salary was $2,800 a year. Besides being deeply in debt, Parsons was operating on an annual deficit of $54,000.

Today, only 21 per cent of the student body lives within 100 miles of Fairfield. The average faculty salary is $12,996, in the upper 2 per cent of all colleges and universities. Nearly 80 per cent of the faculty members have their doctorate, a figure exceeded by only a handful of institutions. Despite its tremendous physical growth, Parsons is in debt only for current construction.

Admission is on the basis of scores on the College Entrance Examination Board tests. Parsons uses a quota system to determine the makeup of its freshman class: one-third from the highest ranking one-third who apply, one-third from the remainder of the top half, and one-third from the lower half.

"Experience has shown us over an eight-year period that many average students make excellent records when placed in a system which requires them to work hard with professors of outstanding ability," Roberts said.

Parsons also welcomes some students who have flunked out of other institutions.

"Some students need the motivation of failure," Dr. Roberts said, "they need—and deserve—a second chance."

Some critics have said that Parsons caters only to the sons and daughters of millionaires who want their offspring to get a college diploma, regardless of whether they get an education.

Parsons requires that one-third of entering freshmen came from each of three "financial patterns," including low-income families. Parsons this year offered scholarships and work grants of about $700,000 and plans to raise that figure by $500,000 next year. About 60 per cent of the 2,700 students are getting some form of financial aid.

How do you find a curriculum for a risky student body?

Parsons has tried to solve that problem with a nongraded program and team teaching.

First, the number of courses was pruned from 768 to 160. Next, a core program of 20 courses in science, social science and the humanities is required of all freshmen and sophomores.

Non-credit courses in English composition, European history and mathematics are required of freshmen weak in those areas. Superior students are allowed to take sequence courses above the core level.

Perhaps the most radical departure from tradition was in the expansion of contact time.

Traditionally, a three-hour course means a student attends three one-hour lectures a week. At Parsons, the student also is required to attend two weekly small-group discussions of one hour each. The lecture material is gone over slowly, questions are answered, and ideas explored. Students in difficulty may have up to 10 hours a week of individual tutoring free.

Instead of 3 hours of "contact" with a course, a Parsons student gets at least 5 and as many as 15.

"This is what we are trying to do with our nongraded program," Roberts said, "taking each student from wherever he is to as far as he can go. We give our students a real chance to get an education."

No student is allowed into the junior and senior years without a cumulative grade average of "C." Any student whose grades drop below a "C" average is required to attend the next summer trimester to bring them up, or drop out of school.

Roberts has built his faculty with a combination of high salaries, good working conditions, and free time to pursue such activities as research, writing and advanced study. Parsons is on the trimester system, with 16-week terms beginning in June, October, and February. Faculty members teach two trimesters, and have the third term off at full pay.

In 1778, John Parke Curtis, stepson of George Washington, bought 1,100 acres along the Potomac River. He named the estate "Arlington" after an ancestral home in Virginia's Northhampton County.

CC Students Take Part in Debate Contest

Six Colorado College students are taking part in the Desert Invitational Forensic Tournament at the University of Arizona in Tucson this week (Feb. 20-22).

The team is regarded by Prof. James A. Johnson, debate coach at the independent liberal arts college, as one of the best in recent years.

He said the debaters have maintained a winning average of 80 per cent in competition where 50 per cent is considered good. They have been in the finals of all six tournaments they have entered this year.

Dave Helms, junior and Bob Knight, freshman are in the senior men's competition. Susan Caudill, junior, freshmen Barbara Keener, Judy Sundquist and Linda Marshall, are in the women's competition.

In addition, Knight and Keener are in Original Oratory and Caudill and Keener are in extemporaneous speaking.

Coach Johnson, assistant professor of economics and business administration, and Robin Rudoff, instructor in history, are accompanying the team.

Safety Council Discusses Vehicle Stopping

Do you believe smaller vehicles can stop in less time and distance than larger ones? Seems logical maybe, but tests show its' not so, according to Attorney General Duke W. Dunbar, chairman, Colorado Highway Safety Council.

"There is some truth in this misconception when it comes to heavy semitrailer trucks," admits Dunbar. "They don't stop as soon, but not because of their size or weight.

It's because the brakes won't lock the wheels when the vehicle is heavily loaded, or the driver is afraid to lock them for fear of jackknifing."

Traffic Deaths In '63 Exceed Record by 3%

In 1963, 506 traffic deaths were charged to 421 fatal motor vehicle accidents on Colorado's streets and highways, exceeding by approximately three per cent the previous record highs set in 1961 when 492 persons were killed in 405 accidents.

This was reported by the Traffic Operations Section of the Colorado Department of Highways, which now is preparing a comprehensive analysis of the 1963 fatal accidents.

In December, 42 fatal motor vehicle accidents, in which 53 persons were killed and 49 persons were nonfatally injured, were recorded on Colorado's streets and highways. Compared with December, 1962, the figures showed an increase of 11 in the number of accidents and an increase of 21 in the number of fatalities.

Of the 42 fatal accidents in Colorado in December, 37 occurred on state highways, three on county roads and two on city streets not a part of the State Highway System.

Sixty-two vehicle operators and five pedestrians were involved in the month's fatal acents. Thirteen drivers were licensed out of the state; 22 drivers had been drinking, and the impairment of driving ability was cited for 13 of these. Three drivers were believed to have fallen asleep. In all, 16 drivers, or more than one-fourth of those involved in fatal accidents, were not considered in fit condition to drive.

Springs Student To Tour Russia With Choir

A Colorado Springs student at Oberlin (Ohio) College will be among the 75-member college choir which will make a two-month tour of Tussia in March and April under the cultural presentations program of the U.S. Department of State.

He is Thomas L. Jenkins, 19, son of Mr. and Mrs. Delmar Jenkins of 1840 Northview Dr. Jenkins has served as manager of the Oberlin College Choir for two years. He is attending Oberlin on a four-year alumni regional scholarship and will graduate in 1966.

The Choir's itinerary in the Soviet Union will take members from Leningrad on the Baltic Sea to the Black Sea ports of Odessa and Yalta. The young singers will be the first Americans to perform in several of the 12 Russian cities on their schedule.

The Choir will leave Feb. 29 for Moscow and will give the first of 33 concerts in Russia on March 3 in Leningrad. They will appear in Moscow, Kalinin, Yaroslavl, Ryazan, Kiev, Lvov, Chernovtsy, Kishinev, Odessa, Kharkov and Yalta.

Concerts have also been arranged in at least two satellite countries before the Choir returns on May 2.

The repertoire includes sacred and secular choral music, spanning five centuries and sung in seven languages including English, French, German, Italian, Latin, Russian and Spanish. Ten choir members make up an instrumental ensemble and provide accompaniment for a Bach cantata and a Mozart mass.

Robert Fountain, the choir director, is a graduate of the Eastman School of Music at the University of Rochester and has studied conducting at the Academy of Music in Vienna. He joined the Oberlin faculty in 1948.

Man Escapes Death After Truck Stalls

Jim Dean, 34, 3900 N. Nevada Ave., was admitted to Penrose Hospital in fair condition Saturday after spending two nights stranded on Gold Camp Road eight miles above Bruin Inn Curio Store.

Dean was found Saturday afternoon about 2 p.m. at the ruins of a cabin three miles below where a light truck he was road testing, stranded.

His rescuers, Charles Bryant, 2012 Ridgeway St., Dale Duncan, 1939 Mid Rd. and Don Carlson, 1816 Mid Pl., all driving jeeps drove up the road by chance "to see how the snow was," according to Bryant.

They were unaware that they had passed Dean in the cabin ruins, but in turning back after reaching an impassable area somewhere below Dean's stranded vehicle, they discovered stick placed upright in the snow by Dean near the cabin ruins, leading to his location.

During the trip back to Colorado Springs, Dean did not believe his condition serious enough to require medical attention but later was admitted to Penrose.

Policemen Use Dogs to Break Up Race Riot

protest march up and down in front of the restaurant.

Clarence Cromwell, 24, Cambridge, Md., Douglas Hutchins, 21, Donnell, Md.; Edward Davis, 20, Snow Hill, Md., and Thomas Dopson, 20, Baltimore, were arrested.

Cromwell was arrested on charges of assaulting an officer because Randall said he was struck while wrestling with him. The others were arrested and charged with failure to obey a police officer and resisting arrest.

About an hour after the incident the students ended the demonstration and returned to their college campus.

Police, expecting trouble, had brought two dogs to the scene. But they did not put the dogs into action until the Negro students attempted to block the entrance to the restaurant.

When the Negro students finally broke away from the restaurant entrance, they sat down in the middle of the street, singing and chanting "freedom songs."

In Moscow, the Byword Is: 'Cash in Advance, Please'

By C. D. BAXSTRESSER

MOSCOW — This is really a cash in advance country. No one can tell me the reason why. I have talked with the Russians I have asked for explanations for the things that I have observed as a matter of business that quite frankly lead to inefficiency and create the lines of waiting people that are so common in the stores and restaurants. Let me give you two examples.

Cash in advance is the accepted medium when buying in a cleaning shop, barber shop, restaurant, or a shoe repair store. The last five days, because the nearest restaurant is so far from our installation site, we have been purchasing the raw commodities for lunch at a nearby grocery store. This usually involves a bottle of milk, a loaf of bread, and some sausage, ham or bologna.

To purchase sausage for example you must first go to the meat counter. This means standing in line. You then ask the person behind the counter how much the sausage is. They will tell you in terms of hundred grams. You then go to another line which is waiting in front of the cash register. After going thru this line you tell the lady at the cash register that you want two bottles of milk (at 30 cents a bottle), a loaf of bread, (at 14 cents per loaf), and three hundred grams of sausage (at 22 cents per hundred grams). She will then ring up the three items, take your money, and give you the tape from the cash register.

It is then necessary to go back in line for the sausage or the bread, or the milk. You tell the person behind the counter how much of each you want and as she gives them to you she tears from the cash register tape the amount required. This obviously involves a great deal of time. Quick service is certainly not the standard.

The second phonemena which no one can explain is the use of cash registers and the abacus. Every store that I have visited has had a good cash register quite capable of ringing up the various items and then totaling them as we would expect any cash register to do.

But these cash registers here are not used to total even tho they have the keys and the necessary facilities for adding sums. The items are rung up individually as I described before. Then the person in charge turns to their abacus and the various items are added on the abacus and the total entered on the tape by hand. I have asked again, again and again why they are not totaled on the cash register. I get the inevitable reply "It is not the way we do things."

This system of paying cash in advance certainly is a dissuader to the impulse buyer. I go to these stores basically to buy bread, meat, and milk. But after having my tapes rung up I sometimes see an item like a candy bar, or perhaps a sweet roll that I would buy if it were not for the time, effort, and trouble to go back thru the lines to find out how much it costs and get the necessary tape to buy it.

This particular concept of cash in advance is at times quite humorous. The other day I bought an ice cream bar from a street vendor. This again was a woman and she had displayed on top of her box the three commodities she had for sale and a price was posted for each one.

I walked up to her and pointed to the particular ice cream bar I desired. It cost 19 cents. She would not even open the box until I gave her the 19 cents. It would be quite impossible for her to give me the ice cream bar and then I give her the 19 cents. It must be done the other way. No exceptions, even for an obvious foreigner. I don't think that credit cards are going to be popular over here for quite a while.

Speaking of money, last night I learned a rather curious fact and I will not expound on the inferences but leave each reader to his own conclusions. The rate of exchange on the American dollar for an American is 90 kopeck. There are 100 kopeck to a ruble and the ruble is equivalent to our dollar. (by the way when I mention prices in terms of cents as when I said before that bread was 14 cents, actually bread is 14 kopeck which makes it closer to 15 cents).

The rate of exchange as I have said is 90 kopeck for $1. This is rigidly controlled. However, the rate of exchange for citizens of the African nations and Middle East nations is 3 rubles for one American dollar. In other words, an American dollar brought into Russia by a Congolese, for example, would yield for him 3 rubles whereas for me it yields 9/10 of a ruble. Interesting, eh what?

The currency control here is more than stringent. When you enter the country you are given a long form on which you must list the exact amount of dollars and-or travelers checks you carry with you. Each time you convert dollars or travelers checks to rubles you must give this form to the person making the transaction. They in turn will enter the date, place, and amount of foreign currency and the amount of rubles you received.

Upon leaving the country the amount of money you take out is very definitely scrutinized and it must be exactly in agreement with what your form reads. This is to prevent the illicit selling of personal possessions, or the taking of profit for services performed.

It is very easy to convert American dollars into rubles, there being at least 15 banks in downtown Moscow for this purpose. On the other hand, if you have rubles that you wish to convert to dollars because you are leaving, this is almost impossible.

The fact of the matter is that theoretically it can be done, but no one that I have talked to knows of anyone who has been successful in doing it. Since the ruble has no standard rate of exchange on an international basis and if you happen to be in the position of having a great many rubles because you are unexpectedly leaving the country, they are worthless. The ruble has value only here in Moscow.

Needless to say as I cash my travelers checks, I only cash for the amount of rubles that I will need for two or three days.

We have quite a few people leaving the hotel at which I am staying at this time. This is primarily because they are students and are going back home. You can always tell who is leaving tomorrow by the festive last night dinner wherein he disposes of all the rubles he has, other than the one or two needed to take the taxi to the airport and pay the exit fee.

So far I have been reprimanded twice by the director of this hotel. She is naturally a woman. There isn't an ounce of subtlty or diplomacy in her approach.

The first time I was reprimanded was because of the towels in my room. As a matter of business I have traveled rather extensively in the U. S. An average month will see me out of town 7, 8 and maybe 10 nights and naturally I am accustomed to staying in a hotel or motel. It has become my habit each morning as I shower and shave to use the towel I dry with as a floor mat, then to use the second towel as an accessory to shaving. By the time I have finished with the morning ritual what towels there are in the bathroom are pretty well ready for the laundry. This is obviously no problem in our country because towels are changed daily. Not so here at the Hotel Warsaw (and the Hotel Warsaw is one of the better hotels in Moscow).

After my first week here I was summoned to the director's office and informed thru an interpreter in no uncertain terms that it was the custom in the hotel to change the towels twice a week. I was further told that mine were being changed daily because of this habit of mine and that it would be greatly appreciated by the director if I would be more careful with the towels, and perhaps even consider by-passing a daily shower in favor of every other day.

We have a restaurant on the eighth floor of the hotel and attached to the restaurant is a small annex where it is possible to buy wine, beer and Vodka. For working clothes I have brought over with me two one-piece fatigue suits. These are the olive green type commonly worn by the members of our armed forces.

From the day that our equipment arrived I have been wearing these to the installation site. Like many Americans I find it relaxing to have a beer or a glass of wine before retiring to the hotel room to clean up and change clothes for the dinner. I felt no qualm or guilt of going to the small annex in this uniform because it compares very favorably with the attire of a great many of the Russians who wine and dine at the restaurant.

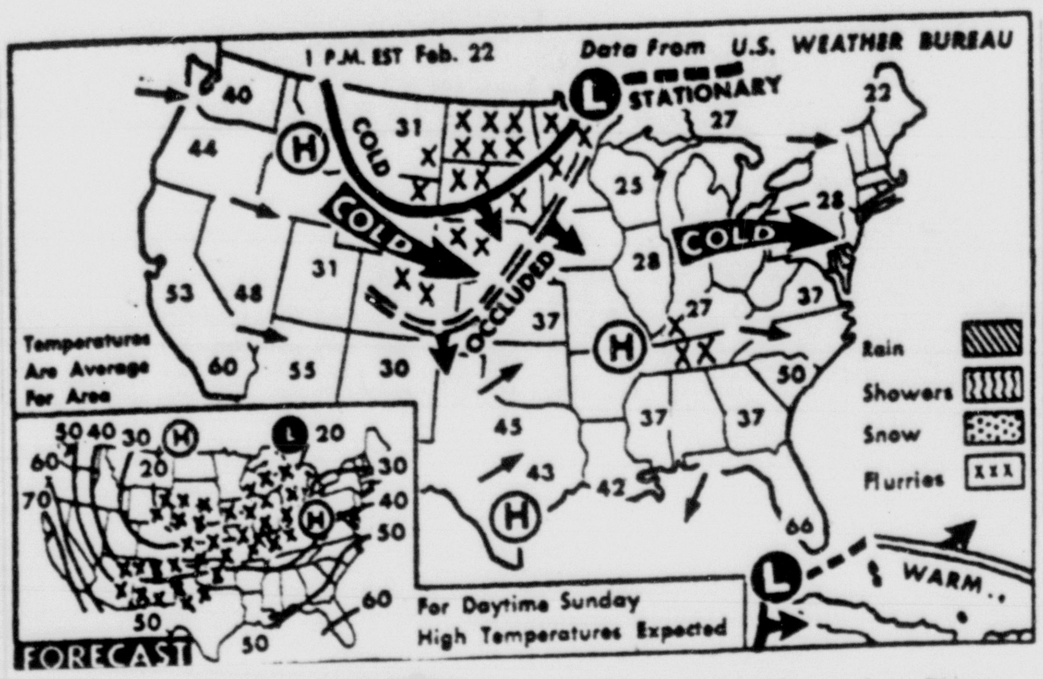
One day I was once again called to the director's office and it was pointed out to me that it is not considered etiquette or manners to go to the restaurant in working clothes no matter how clean or tidy they may be. Actually this bit of information embarrassed me as I hadn't given it a thought and there is built into each of us a dislike for criticism.

I told the director that I understood her thoughts in the matter but that I felt just a little bit picked on and told her I would make a deal with her (all this was being done thru an interpreter). I told her that I had changed my bathing habits from daily to every other day at her request and was thereby conserving on towels. I told her further that I certainly had no objections to changing from working clothes to, leisure clothes before my nightly beer, but I also told her that I felt that these concessions on my part might call for a concession on her part.

I have been more than irritated by the poor quality and speed of the service in the restaurant. This continual fight to get ice water with the meals, coffee before the meals, and the meal and check within a two-hour period is beginning to get under my skin.

I therefore told the director that I would certainly acquiesce to her wishes if she on the other hand would somehow, someway, see that when I appeared for dinner that I would be able to get ice water without an argument, that I was able to get coffee before and after dinner, and above all that some effort was made to serve the entire dinner before I got hungry again.

I also suggested to her (with a big broad smile) that if this were not possible perhaps it would be better if I wore my working clothes to the restaurant because if these were so objectionable to her she would then see that I was served quickly to get me out of there. We had a rather long discussion of the pros and cons of this situation and I will report on the total effect as it develops.



WEATHER BUREAU FORECAST — Snow is expected today from the southern Plateau, eastward through central and southern Plains, and upper and middle Mississippi Valley. While colder weather is forecast for southern Plateau, Plains states, Mississippi Valley and southern states, warmer weather is expected in north and mid-Atlantic states. (AP Wirephoto Maps)

The Nation's Weather

(Report furnished by U.S. Weather Bureau Station at Peterson Field)

Cold wave warnings are in effect for the Plains area from eastern Montana and Wyoming eastward across the Dakotas, Nebraska, Minnesota and moving across Iowa. Hazardous driving warnings have been issued for northwestern Wisconsin and upper Michigan.

A surge of cold arctic air is moving southward across the northern plains accompanied by snow and strong northerly winds with gusts to 45 mph blowing snow and creating near-blizzard conditions across the Dakotas and Minnesota with visibilities reduced to near one-quarter of a mile.

Precipitation was generally light over Florida, the Ohio Valley and Northern Plains. The Northern Mississippi Valley reported locally heavier amounts such as International Falls, Minn., with .18 of an inch and 13 inches of snow on the ground. Temperatures are hovering near the zero mark across the Dakotas and Minnesota this evening and are expected to drop to 5 to 15 below along the northern borders this morning.

Two-Car Collision Causes $500 Damage

A two-car collision at Colorado Avenue and 24th Street Friday afternoon caused $500 damage to the car driven by Herbert Frank Braun, 24, Ft. Carson, when it was struck from the side by a car driven by Janice Virginia Vincent, 17, 7 Commons Rd., going south on 24th Street.

Vincent was cited for taking the right of way by Cpl. C. M. Maloney, city police.

'Sense of Fantastic' Art Seen in Belgian Exhibit

By ANNA BACCHI

Belgian to its core is the work of that country's contemporary artists in the exhibition now at The Denver Museum organized by The Corcoran Gallery of Art, Washington, D. C., under the sponsorship of The Embassy of The Kingdom of Belgium.

Included are paintings of the "modern old masters" Magritte, Delvaux, Servranckx, and van Tongerloo to show the link with the elements native to the preceding art movements — fantasy, love for their soil, realism of feeling, and intellectualism.

A sense of the fantastic lurks in all their art, the discovery and expression of the hidden aspects of reality, its secret soul; strongly asserted and displayed, this tendency becomes sur-realism. Possible worlds are portrayed: what could have been if other possibilities had occurred, what may be existing today but not yet discovered, what may be the underlying structure of things known from their visible exterior only, what may be the reason for being itself.

At times this probing uncovers a feeling of mysterious foreboding, or even horror; again, an underlying basis of logic and order is brought forth. A real beauty pervades. These painters are technically competent; their handling of color, line, harmony, and rhythm is masterly; but what counts is that each one seems to have something personal to say and is sincere in his attempt to communicate.

The poetic painters Bertrand, Peire, and Vandenbranden have found their means in structuring in flat geometric patterns or pure forms that evidence their direct descent from Mondrian and the "De Stijl" group; however, none of them is as austere, prim, and detached as the originators; all take their departure from natrue, publicly stating that "reality is the embryo of the idea" instead of holding to Mondrian's theorem that "painting is not a representation of reality, but reality itself."

These geometric abstractions are no longer non-objective and non-figurative, mainly because today's artists feel compelled toward commitment and participation in life; they share the new attitude in regard to the relationship between the world and the individual. And while these works are founded on a community of taste and culture, the personality of each artist stands out sharp and clear; however, they do reflect minds that can interpret the chaotic impulses of the spirit and present them coherently, ordered, and purified.

There is no denying the fact that this type of art has great therapeutic value for the artists as well as the spectators; some of the most poetic of those in this group were a few years ago them most tormented of the postwas "Jeune Peinture Belge" Nevertheless, it is difficult to comprehend that a former expressionist can be so far converted that he can visit the Medici Chapel and be so impressed by the interior architecture, constructed by Michelangelo of white marble and grey pietra serena, that he completely overlooks his masterpieces of sculpture including "Night," "Day," "Twight," and "Dawn."

The most fruitful-seeming line of development in Belgium today appears to be non-schematic art freed from the limitations of absolute geometry and in forms released from the thralldom of physical space, as in the works of Collignon, Mara, and Verstockt.

Some, more versatile and daring, have adopted in addition the contemporary feeling for "found objects." Gentils shows three intriguing compositions made from piano parts — black and white keys, hammers, levers, hoppers, even the fasteners; while van Hoeydonck materializes his dreams in planetscapes and spacescapes assembled from screws, bottle tops, funnels, strainers, plastic eggshells and balls of various sizes, thimbles, jars and jar tops, and what-not. Both these artists use exquisite taste and a vivid imagination to make true esthetic works by these strange means. Bury goes them one farther by letting small motors give real movement to his kinetic creations.

On the other hand, Landuyt and Wittevrongel hold to representational figuration in which in some instances the fantastic intensifies into a horror that invades the sensibilities of the spectator in true sur-realistic fashion. Paradoxically, a large part of Landuyt's impact comes from his mysterious coloring and sculptural effects while Wittevrongel limits himself to black and white and achieves mural quality. Both are superb artists.

The fantasy of Vlerick, a true son of Ghent, is more on the gentle subtle side with delicate and sensitive coloring in which at times he uses Belgian lace to attain textural quality and pattern.

The influence of the "Cobra-movement" (founded by artists from Copenhagen, Brussels, and Amsterdam) is seen in the paintings of Burssens and Wyckaert. The works of Burssens included in this exhibit could be of the cosmos pictured as it was forming itself from primordial matter into land, sky, and man himself. In contrast Wyckaert paints the world of today in opulent color and vigorous dynamic movement. Neither is strictly representational, but their work leaves little doubt of their source.

Thus, while reflecting the international interest in philosophical and scientific research, the Belgian artists remain true to their national heritage and respond to the demands of both discipline and freedom.

Antipodes is a term applied to any two persons or places on opposite sides of the earth, so situated that a line drawn from one to the other would pass through the center of the earth, according to the Encyclopaedia Britannica.

Official Springs Goldwater Drive Office Launched

Goldwater headquarters will be Mondays, 12 noon to 4 p.m.; Fridays, 5 p.m. to 9 p.m.; and Saturdays, 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. Mrs. Kinzler pointed out that the current time schedule was selected as the most convenient for those who wish to visit the offices to volunteer in the campaign or contribute toward the Goldwater election fund.

The Gold for Goldwater committee is collecting postdated checks as of July 24, 1964, for Sen. Goldwater. The checks are being placed in escrow in the Exchange National Bank until the time of the Republican National Convention. If Goldwater receives the Republican nomination for President, the funds will be forwarded to the Goldwater campaign headquarters for use in winning the national election. If Goldwater does not get the presidential nomination, the checks will be destroyed.

Robert M. Laura, president of the Goldwater corporation, said that plans are underway to establish committees in various Colorado towns. The Colorado Springs Gold for Goldwater corporation is the state organizaton which will supply local committees with organization specifications and fund-raising literature.

Laura urged all residents to inform the Gold for Goldwater headquarters or mail suggestions to Box 1964 about people in other areas who may be interested in supporting the Goldwater movement.

Nasser Warns New War With Israel Possible

in a two-hour speech marking the sixth anniversary of Egyptian-Syrian unity:

"What guarantees are there for us that American and British bases in Libya will not be used against the Arabs in the event of a clash with Israel?"

He accused President Johnson of "spoiling" the Israeli government and said Arabs should "use their sources of strength to pressure those supporting Israel just as Israel uses Jewish votes to influence them."

By Arab sources of strength, Nasser apparently was referring to oil, but he did not elaborate.

Nasser called on Libya to refuse to renew the Anglo-Libyan treaty under which Britains maintains a military base in that North African country.

He told the packed Cairo University auditorium audience that "we must be strong in order to avoid a repetition of the 1948 disaster," a reference to the war with Israel.

Springs Boy Still in Critical Shape

A five year old Colorado Springs boy remained in critical condition Saturday at a Pueblo hospital where he was taken Friday after being injured in an automobile accident 13 miles east of Pueblo.

Mark Tom Andrews sustained a severe brain injury in the accident which also injured his father James 38. The boy is at Parkview Hospital in Pueblo.

Andrews, driver of the car, was in serious condition and has been transferred from Parkview to the Ft. Carson Hospital. Authorities said he sustained a fractured skull and brain injuries in the crash.

Investigating officers said that Andrews apparently lost control of his car east of Pueblo. The vehicle veered out of control and landed on its top in a ditch.

Both father and son were thrown out.

Development of Shale Oil Lands Being Studied

DENVER (AP) — John M. Kelly, assistant secretary of the interior, says that the department is giving close attention to various proposals for development of western oil shale lands.

But he said such development cannot come overnight and many of the proposals cannot be utilized without legislation.

Kelly, addressing the National Association of Oilwell Servicing Contractors, noted that Secretary Udall has extended the period for receiving proposals development to April 1.

He said the government is encouraged by the upturn in oil exploration in the country.

CONSTRUCTION BEGINS IN RUSTIC HILLS — Nick Scandaliato, in white jacket, president of Scandaliato Building Co., and Bob Newbill, right, general manager of Smartt Realty Co., check sites for the first new homes being built on the one-acre estates area of Rustic Hills. The area is located in Rustic Hills Filing No. 2, east on Constitution Avenue and one-half mile past Murray Road. The new development contains 140 one-acre residential sites, 50 of which have already been purchased by individuals or independent builders. The area will have city water, electricity and gas services, plus fire and police protection. Children will attend one of three new District 11 schools now under construction in the northeast section. The first home being built in Rustic Hills is a ranch-type with garden level basement in the $25,000 price range by Scandaliato. Protective Covenants provide for architectural control of all structures and preclude commercial activity. Provision is also made to permit residents to keep horses. Bridal paths from the one-acre area are connected with two and one-half acre estate areas to the west and to the southeast, providing five miles of trails. (Gazette Telegraph Photo)

Ray M. Yell Graduates From NCO Academy

Army S. Sgt. Ray M. Yell, whose wife, Barbara, lives in Colorado Springs, was graduated from the 24th Infantry Division Non-Commissioned Officer (NCO) Academy in Augsburg, Germany early in February.

During the course Sergeant Yell received two weeks of rigorous refresher training in leadership and exercise of command, map reading, the history of military weapons and military teaching methods.

Sgt. Yell, a squad leader in Company B of the 21st Infantry's 2d Battalion, entered the Army in June, 1954 and arrived overseas on this tour of duty in January, 1963.

The sergeant, son of Mr. and Mrs. Riley M. Yell, Whitwell, Tenn., attended Whitwell High School.

CU Science Programs Set Under NSF Grants

Three programs, one new this year, will be held by the University of Colorado Institute of Arctic and Alpine Research next summer under $39,000 in National Science Foundation (NSF) grants.

All three will be conducted June 15 - Aug. 22 at the institute's Science Lodge near Nederland.

The new program is entitled "Research Participation for College Teachers" and is supported by a $4,900 grant. The program will be for two pre-doctoral instructors from small colleges and is intended to restimulate their interest in their field. One of the participants will be selected to continue his research thruout the academic year.

For the second year the institute will offer a summer science training program for advanced high school pupils. The program operates under a $3,430 grant and gives pupils from the Rocky Mountain region an opportunity to be junior research assistants in projects of graduate students and faculty and to do some independent research.

The undergraduate research participation and independent study summer program will be in its fifth year next summer. Eight students from various colleges and universities will participate as researchers and independent students. They will work under a three - year grant totalling $30,965.

Carson's First On-the-Spot Promotion Made

An on-the-spot promotion, first such to be made at the Non-Commissioned Officers Academy at Ft. Carson, was given to Timothy W. Feener, honor graduate of the class which graduated Feb. 13.

Brig. Gen. Joseph R. Russ, assistant division commander, presented sergeant stripes to Feener. The on-the-spot promotion will be given to each honor graduated in the grade of E-5 or below, it was announced by Captain William F. Baynes, commandant.

Another new award was won by Spec. 5 Billy E. Levine of 77th Armor, winner of the Commandant's Inspection Award, he received a letter of commendation from the commanding general, Major General John A. Heintges.

Distinguished graduates were S.SGT John B. Norwood III, 1st Battalion, 10th Infantry Regiment; S.Sgt. William E. Howell, 1st Battalion, 19th Artillery and Sgt. James R. Hays, 1st Battalion, 19th Artillery.

General Russ, assisted by S. Maj. Stanley Azevedo, presented the diplomas to the graduates.

Polio Mop-Up Clinic Open at Palmer High

"K-O Polio," the largest public immunization program in the history of the Pikes Peak Region will be a matter of history after the Type Three Sabin mop up clinic in the Palmer High School gymnasium closes at 4:30 p.m. today.

The clinic will open at 11:30 a.m.

The El Paso County Medical Society offers this final opportunity to residents to receive Type Three Sabin vaccine at 25 cents a dose or no cost at all to those who cannot afford the fee.

The K-O Polio committee has consisted of dentists, pharmicists, osteopaths, PTA members, transportation workers, nurses, a Holly Sugar representative, a Boy Scout executive, a representative of the United Fund and National Foundation, medical auxiliary and others in addition to the members of the Public Health committee of the El Paso County Medical Society whose chairman, Dr. William Stone was in charge.

"The assistance of thousands of volunteers and the donation of many supplies, particularly the sugar cubes from the Holly Sugar Corporation, made it possible for the public to receive the vaccine at such low cost," Dr. Stone said.

Sabin vaccine will be available to those who missed the mass immunization program through private physicians and the City County Health Department. Residents are reminded that six weeks is needed between doses for the vaccine to be thoroughly effective.

"We should never see another polio case in this area if all residents take the Sabin vaccine. It is especially important for parents of new infants to see that the child is vaccinated with Sabin serum as soon as his doctor recommends it." Dr. Stone concluded.

A new radio telescope — believed to the the largest of its kind—has been built by the U.S. government in Puerto Rico's rugged limestone hill country. It will be operated by Cornell University.

DO BIRDS GRIEVE?

The question often arises as to whether birds and animals grieve over their tragedies. We often observe the parent birds after their families have been destroyed and they apparently appear very frustrated for a day, as we are able to tell. If the bird loses his mate, there seems to be in most cases, dejection for at least a couple of days.

Just how much they grieve over the loss of their loved ones, it is difficult to determine for all we have to go by is their actions.

Some scientists believe that birds and animals forget very quickly and yet some experiences we have concerning them, leads us to think differently.

At one time a few years ago, house finches built a nest in a blue spruce tree very close to the house. The parent birds guarded the nest closely and it was interesting to watch them for they were so faithful.

After the eggs hatched, they were very concerned over the little birds and cared for them faithfully. The baby birds thrived and grew but they were doomed for tragedy.

A cat climbed the tree for he had spotted them. He was chased out of the yard every day but alas, unawares he climbed the tree and devoured the little birds and the mother bird. This was a double tragedy and the father bird was seen to come to the tree and sit for hours.

After a week, he commenced calling in a sad plaintive note. He was restless and never remained long in one place. He would perch on a telephone wire, then fly to the fence, then to the tree, but he always remained alone, never mixing with other birds and always staying close to the tree with the nest.

He was conscious of the fact, that we were observing him. He kept up that sad note most of the day, entirely different from the house finch's note.

If he had forgotten about it all, he would have been mixing with the other finches and going about as usual. This is just one incident that happened to be observed. Think of the many tragedies that are never known about in the bird world! There are many causes for these tragedies other than cats. Wind, hail, heavy rainstorms destroy many bird families and of course the deadly sling shot or many guns, just for the pleasure of shooting.

The cat is severely criticized for his desire in capturing birds which is an inborn nature with him.

It is the duty of cat owners to watch them carefully during nesting season especially or any time for that matter.

It is the duty of every citizen to try in every possible manner to protect the birds not only from natural enemies but human enemies. We see boys throwing rocks at birds nests in our parks. Birds are terrified for they have young. When asked the meaning of such an act, boys replied "We just wanted to see if we could knock it down."

It would seem that there are many sports for the youth of our city to engage in beside killing birds. The cat is not responsible for these acts. Yes, birds grieve over their loss of a family and whatever is their loss, is ours also.

CAMPAIGNER AND NURSE — Col. Charles Heitman, assistant to the City Manager and new chairman of the Public Service Division of the Pikes Peak United Fund talks to Visiting Nurse Mrs. Donald F. Ward. The combined Public Health Nursing and Visiting Nurse Association is supported through city and county, patient fees and the United Fund. Approximately one fifth of the nursing budget comprises the budget of the Visiting Nurse Association. Patients who can afford to pay are charged fees for bedside nursing. The United Fund Allocation to this agency provides the service to those who cannot afford the fee. Heitman is already organizing his division for its work on the United Fund drive next October.

Heitman to Head Uf Public Service Division

Col. Charles Heitman (Ret.) assistant to the City Manager of Colorado Springs was appointed this week to head the Public Service Division of the Pikes Peak United Fund in its Fall campaign.

William Pfeiffer, assistant manager of Harris Upham and Co., campaign chairman, said, "Col. Heitman has been the chairman of the Go (Give Once) Club of the City of Colorado Springs since he retired from the Army and joined the city staff in 1961. Under Col. Heitman's leadership that employee group gave $5400 to the United Fund last year."

Col. Heitman decided to make Colorado Springs his permanent home during his last tour of duty at Fort Carson. At the time of his retirement he was deputy post commander. He is a member of the Board of Directors of the Symphony and the local affiliate of the American Cancer Society and is a member of the Pikes Peak Range Riders.

The Public Service Division which Col. Heitman will lead consists of employees of all governmental offices, schools, and hospitals.

The Heitmans live at 8 Commons Road. Col. and Mrs. Heitman are the parents of two grown sons, Charles III and Bruce who live at home, two school age sons, Craig who attends Palmer High School and Tim, a student at Zebulon Pike School and a married daughter, Mrs. Phillip Secrist of Holliston, Mass.

AFA High Members of Quill, Scroll Initiated

New members of the Air Academy High School chapter of Quill and Scroll were initiated Wednesday in ceremonies held in the Home Economics Room at 2:30 p.m.

Guest speaker for the initiation was Mrs. Mary Ann Lee, society editor.

Her topic was "The Challenge of Journalism as a Career." Students who qualified for membership were Nancy Blair, Sally Chinn, Bruce Clark, Marty Daley, Beverly Earhart, Christine Green, Michael Heronemus, Sharron Kennedy, Wanda Roper, Cheryl Terry, Duronda Wright, and Beverly Yoder.

To be eligible, these student journalists had to be in the upper third of their class, have done outstanding work for school publications, and be recommended by the sponsor, Mrs. Joan Troth.

Projects undertaken by the AAHS chapter are the school paperback bookstore and the annual literary magazine, Sursum.

Senior members of the chapter who were elected last year are Diane Auser, Cheryl Crosland, Michael Hackleman, Bill Mack, John MacWherter, Terry Wolfe, and Myra Woodruff.

Membership in the Quill & Scroll organization provides the school paper, "Jetstream," with annual critical analysis and gives all Social Studies students an opportunity to take the Current Events Quiz each spring in which scholarships are awarded to national winners.

Cub Pack Holds Annual Blue And Gold Banquet

The annual Blue and Gold Banquet of Cub Scout Pack No. 92 was held Thursday at the Holy Trinity Parish Hall. The opening Flag ceremony was performed by Cubs from Den No. 3 with Mrs. Townley as Den Mother.

Invocation was given by Father Walter Jaeger, Pastor of the Holy Trinity Catholic church. Guests of the Pack included Father Jaeger; Mr. Roger Ries; Mr. and Mrs. Bill Williams; Mr. and Mrs. Chales Madson; Mr. and Mrs. Ed Bishop and Mr. and Mrs. Leo Tuxhorn.

The scouts and their families were entertained by T. Ernest Nowells, noted Magician and popular entertainer at local Blue and Gold Banquets. Bill Bruce, The Institutional Representative of Pack No. 92, was master of ceremonies for the evening.

Ed Bishop, district advancement chairman, presented the 1964 Charter for Pack No. 92 to Mr. Charles Madson, President of Edison School PTA, the sponsors of Cub Scout Pack No. 92. Ed Bishop presented Adult service stars to Committee members and Den Mothers. Special mention was made of Mike Lanza and Joe Hardin, who received 4 year service stars and Tom Shepperdson, who was presented with a 3 year Adult service star. Mr. Bishop also presented banners to Cubmaster Dailey for on-time registration and 100 per cent Boys Life subscription. The following awards were presented to Cubs by Cubmaster Dick Dailey: Den No. 1. Ralph Brandhorst - Wolf Sivler Arrowpoint. David Skoronsky and Buddy Quinn - Wolf Gold Arrowpoints.

Den No. 5. Ale Atencio - Bear Gold Arrowpoint; Steve Dailey - Bear Badge with Gold and Silver Arrowpoints. David Days and Mark Summers - Bear Gold Arrowpoints. Larry Lane - Bear Badge and Bear Gold and Silver Arrowpoints. Ale Lopez - Bear Gold and Silver Arrowpoints.

The closing ceremony was by cubs from Den No. 5, who sang "Happy Birthday" to pack No. 92.

Plans are being made for the annual Pack "92 Kite Flying contest at the Edison School grounds on 22 March at 2:00 P.M. The next pack meeting is to be held at the Edison School gymnasium on Friday, March 20th.

AFA Construction Involved Design Pioneering

The Air Force Academy, when designed, incorporated the best in modern, creative design. Use of the very latest developments in methods and materials, involved, in many ways, a pioneering effort.

To insure the continued advance of engineering at the Academy, emphasis has been placed on professionalism and education. Altho the basic interest in new methods and materials is to improve performance and reduce maintenance costs, the professional engineer at the Academy is being trained in creative engineering design for the future.

Col. James A. Bower, deputy chief of Staff-Engineering himself a registered professional engineer, heads a staff including 16 registered professional engineers in fields ranging from mechanical, electrical, and architectural to structural, sanitary and civil.

The central heating plant represents one of the advancements in engineering design incorporated at the Academy. Due to the expansive nature of the Academy site, transmission heat losses thru use of conventional methods would have resulted in exorbitant operating costs.

To eliminate this problem, the systems were designed to use hot water at temperatures of 454 degrees and high pressures — 425 pounds per square inch.

Heating plant number one, a 100 million BTU per hour unit, furnishes heat to all academic buildings, the Community Center, and 7625th USAF Hospital.

Proof of the excellence of the design and its inherent efficiency is underlined by the naming of the plant as best in the Air Force based on efficient management, operation, and maintenance.

The word geography has a Greek root — geographia — a description of the world.

FAMILY AFFAIR

COATESVILLE, Pa. (AP) — W. Lloyd Webster and his sister, Mrs. Elizabeth Ford, are the third generation of their family to operate the general store opened 101 years ago in nearby Ercildoun by their grandfather.

The two succeeded their father, Warren Webster, in 1953. Warren had taken over the business from its founder, William Webster, in 1903. The original store was a one - room affair and the building now housing the market was built in 1893. It was remodeled and enlarged in 1957.

The EXCHANGE was only 10 years old when the old Antlers Hotel burned down in 1898!

On October 1, 1898, the Antlers Hotel, built by General Palmer, burned to the ground. The fire broke out at the D&RG freight station during a high wind and spread to nearby lumber yards and on to the Antlers when a freight car of powder exploded. Hundreds worked to keep the blaze from spreading. Colorado College, a mile north of the hotel, was threatened with blowing embers. The town was saved but the Antlers Hotel was destroyed. Today's Antlers Hotel is an attractive fireproof structure, completed in 1901, and is much larger and far more costly than the original building.

Ever striving for the Pikes Peak Region to be an even better place to live

This newspaper is dedicated to furnishing information to our readers so that they can better promote and preserve their own freedom and encourage others to see its blessing. Only when man is free to control himself and all he produces, can he develop to his utmost capabilities.

We believe that freedom is a gift from God and not a political grant from government. Freedom is neither license nor anarchy. It is self-control, no more, no less. It must be consistent with the truths expressed in such great moral guides as the Golden Rule and the Declaration of Independence.

The Trend Continues

In 1953 our various governments (federal, state, local) collected $90 billion from the taxpayers. They spent $110 billion. Each person in the United States, on an average, paid $707 so this could occur.

In 1959, our government collected $110 billion. But it spent $146 billion, a cost per capita of $840.

In 1960 the government collected $127 billion. It spent $151 billion and the per capita cost rose to $854.

In 1961 total tax receipts came to $132 billion. But the government spent $164 billion, at a per capita cost of $912.

In 1962, the government collected $141 billion and spent $173 billion at a per capita charge of $933,

In 1963, the government collected $150 billion and poured out $185 billion. The charge per capita was $983.

President Johnson, who claims to be economy-minded and is proposing a tax cut, has provided the evidence which says that in 1964 government will spend $197 billion. If it does it will cost, on a per capita basis, $1,044.

The difference between what is collected and what is spent is partly made up by revenues received by various governmental agencies in competition with American business, and partly by an increase in the national, state and local indebtedness.

It is obvious that monies taken in by the government from various businesses it is operating, do not contribute to the general well being of the nation. Most, if not all, of these businesses are losing money. All of them without exception are cutting into the free market and reducing the ability of the private sector to produce, to make profits, and even to pay taxes.

And certainly it is well known that tax increases which have to be made to pay for the debts created in prior years do not balance the budget when new debts are incurred and the entire process seems to move in but a single direction.

It has been an oft-debated question as to how long this policy of profligacy and irresponsibility in government financing can continue. It takes no wizardry to know that mounting debt, followed by mounting taxes on an annual basis, is the road to ruin.

But it is clear that these simple facts escape serious consideration at government level. The only reason for this lack of concern for what is so obviously a course of folly lies in the fact that government controls and regulates our money supply.

Because government can increase or decrease the supply of currency in circulation at will, government men are prone to fall into the trap of thinking that inflation is not an evil and that debts can always be paid, even if they are to be paid with newly printed paper.

On a day to day basis, this is, of course, true. Much of our trade and business today is accomplished thru the simple procedure of keeping books. Debits and credits shifting thru bank ledgers bring about a movement of enormous amounts of goods and services without any of the parties engaged in such transactions necessarily even touching currency, gold or silver. Most of these shifts are handled by the exchanges of personal or industrial checks.

The fact that this happens can influence many men in government into a belief that it isn't necessary to have anything behind the medium of exchange except the merchandise or service promised.

But the problem immediately appears when we consider government meddling in the supply of various media including credit. Persons trapped at a point in between exchanges, when their wealth has been converted into a bookkeeping entry or into some medium of exchange, may find upon re-entry that they cannot obtain the goods or wealth upon re-entry that they could have obtained at an earlier date.

Such persons are actually robbed of the purchasing power of their dollars. And the major villain is the government with its constant surrender to the lure of debt and easy (printed) money.

It is no secret that our dollars have been declining in purchasing power for years. Nearly every twelve months finds the dollar buying a cent or two less than it could have purchased before. More than half of its vigor has disappeared since 1930.

The only thing that can halt this trend is for government to stop going into debt. The only permanent cure would be to get the government out of the money manipulation practice totally.

Resolution

We know of no greater moment of spiritual exaltation than that which occurs within the man who resolves that henceforward he will neither steal, even tiny items, nor tell a falsehood, even a "white" one.

Seed of Capitalism

It is interesting to note that recent reports coming from Soviet Russia indicate that the seed of private enterprise — of capitalism, if you prefer — has been allowed to sprout in that country.

The breakdown of the Soviet economy no doubt had much to do with the decision of the Russian leaders to allow the people to have something — if only a little — to show for their efforts.

Actually, the leaders probably had little choice in the matter because the hard-working Russian people have become increasingly dispirited and discouraged by the bleak emptiness of their lives.

The Russian leaders may well find that it is tricky business, trying to give their people only a little of what they yearn for and rightly deserve. Applying socialist methods to repair the crack in their economic dam may well prove impossible.

For instance, the success of farming under the personal enterprise system was highlighted when Russia found that in the very few instances where farmers were given a private plot of land — totalling only three per cent of all sown areas — they are capable of producing 46 per cent of Russia's meat, 49 per cent of her milk, 50 per cent of her green vegetables, 60 per cent of her potatoes, and 80 per cent of her eggs.

This has been accomplished, we repeat, on only three per cent of her acres sown and the balance of the food and fiber is produced on the other 97 per cent of the collectivized farms.

What more dynamic proof is there that the answer to success in all part of economic society lies in the freedom of its people?

A basic principle of socialist and communist doctrines is that everything is state-owned and that everyone works for the state; everything belongs to the state and the individual has no personal rights of ownership.

Khrushchev, however, has now watched collective farming prove a failure with his own eyes.

He has seen Poland, which rejected collectivism, as the only communist country to even meet her farm production quota — much less double it.

He has seen lack of incentive on the part of his workers. He has seen the collectivization of farms bring nothing but woe and heavily reduced production, and what's more, he's finally had to admit it.

There is also other evidence that the Russian people have a keener realization of the failures of communism than we do in the United States.

There is a story circulating to the effect that a Russian commissar asked his local university to provide him with information on the origin of the Russian people. A professor of anthropology produced this explanation. "My dear commissar," he said, "we believe that Adam and Eve were Russians."

"Good," replied the commissar. "Now, give us the proof, because in our scientific discoveries we like to have the proof."

"Well," replied the professor, "as to housing, Adam and Eve did not have a roof over their heads; as to clothing, they had none: as to food, they had an apple between them — and they called it Paradise."

The fact that such stories are circulating in Russia is an indication that the people are beginning to understand the difference between the Marxist system of their own country and the system of the free market with the freedom of the individual and its resulting prosperity.

Perhaps the Russians will learn in time what Alexis de Tocqueville expressed so adequately some 120 years ago. In speaking of personal enterprise and the American way of life, he said, "The citizen never thinks of soliciting the cooperation of the government but he pushes his plan, offers to execute it himself, courts the assistance of other individuals and struggles manfully against all obstacles. The sum of these private undertakings far exceeds all that a government can effect."

Personal enterprise and the American way of life, the way it was first conceived, is simply individualism. Could it be the Russian people will at last get a chance to reap the benefits of such a system as practiced in their own country?

Allen-Scott Report

Is U.S. Phasing Out Of Gitmo?

WASHINGTON — A long-range, highly controversial State Department plan is behind those suddenly-announced orders to withdraw military dependents from Guantanamo and to reduce the number of Cubans working there.

Aim of this inner State Department plan is the eventual complete "phasing out" of this country's occupancy of the big strategic naval base.

Navy authorities, who are vigorously against both withdrawing military dependents and cutting back Cuban workers, are claiming these moves are important steps in the execution of the State Department's backstage objective.

The Joint Chiefs of Staff, spearheaded by the Navy, are strenuously opposed to giving up Guantanamo at any time in the foreseeable future.

The State Department's hush-hush plan actually is not new. It was formulated by the department's policy Planning Council not long after dictator Fidel Castro came into power in 1959. But it got nowhere at the White House in the face of adamant Pentagon resistance.

At one period in the Kennedy administration, Secretary Rusk sought to pump new life into the scheme, but made no headway when the Navy vehemently dissented.

A major premise of the State Department's plans is that sooner or later Castro will take the Guantanamo issue to the United Nations, and the U.S. should be ready to give up the base rather than risk a "censure" vote.

It is argued that activities at Guantanamo should gradually be shifted to the Roosevelt Roads base in Puerto Rico. Under a program started by the late President Kennedy last year, this base is being rapidly expanded and modernized at a cost of around $100 million.

While strongly favoring the development of Roosevelt Roads, the Navy flatly opposes evacuating Guantanamo for the following principal reasons:

To do so would be a crushing blow to Castro foes in and out of Cuba, and would gravely undermine U. S. prestige thruout Latin America and elsewhere; as long as Cuba remains a Communist puppet state, Guantanamo is militarily vital to the U.S.; relinquishment of the base would mean its instant falling into the hands of Russia.

Navy authorities contend it's impossible to overestimate Guantanamo's value to the Soviet. It not only would give the Reds a major deep-water submarine base 90 miles from the U.S., but would provide them with an invaluable stronghold from which to conduct subversive and other turbulent operations thruout Latin America.

MORE TROUBLE AHEAD

Navy Intelligence has ascertained that Castro, with active Kremlin connivance, is planning to follow up his shutting off of Guantanamo's water supply with other harassments.

One scheme is to stage fishing boat "sitdowns" in Guantanamo harbor to obstruct shipping operations. Vessels of all nations have access to this superb harbor.

Another Castro plan is to raise the Guantanamo issue in the United Nations on the ground the U.S. is violating its treaty rights by harboring Cuban refugees on the base. It is definitely known that Soviet bloc diplomats have been taking soundings at the U.N. on such a move.

Basis of this threatened charge is some 500 Cubans working at Guantanamo who have been given asylum there. Since the recent furore, 72 have asked for refuge.

The 1903 treaty between the U.S. and Cuba bars refugees on Guantanamo. Article IV reads as follows: "Fugitives from justice charged with crimes or misdemeanors amenable to Cuban law, taking refuge within said area, shall be delivered by the United States authorities on demand by duly authorized Cuban authorities."

Castro has not yet made formal demand for these refugees. But they live in daily dread of his doing so. Among the Cuban workers rumors are frequent that he is about to crack down.

The Navy has long urged that these refugees be quietly and gradually dispersed to Puerto Rico and other countries of their choice. This has been advocated on the ground that the U.S. under no circumstances can return these refugees to Castro; for many of them that would amount to a death sentence.

So the Navy has sought to ship them out in small and unnoticed groups.

But the State Department has blocked that on the argument that it could be a clear-cut violation of Article IV and provide Castro with exactly the issue he has been looking for to go to the U.N. and challenge U.S. retention of Guantanamo.

While the U.S. has never given the Cuban workers official asylum on Guantanamo, in effect that's what they are enjoying.

In opposing the withdrawal of military dependents, the Navy held that the "Berlin rule" should be applied to the base. This so-called rule was formulated during the historic Berlin crisis a decade ago when the U.S. pointedly kept all military families in the Communist-periled German metropolis. This policy was a tremendous morale booster both among U.S. forces and the Berlin population.

The Navy contends the same policy should be pursued at Guantanamo.

COMING AND GOING

Richard Donahue, member of the White House staff who quit after the death of President Kennedy, is returning from Massachusetts to work for Sargent Shriver in his new job as head of the war-on-poverty program. Donahue was close to the late President, and is now to be an assistant of his brother-in-law. . .State Department insiders are hinting that Robert Manning, assistant secretary for public affairs, is on the way out. Formerly with a news magazine, Manning was named press chief of the State Department in 1962 after that division got off to a bumbling start under Roger Tubby and Carl Rowan. The former was kicked upstairs to a sinecure in Geneva, and Rowan was sent to Finland as ambassador — from where he was brought back by President Johnson as head of the U.S. Information Agency.

WATER RATIONING

To the Editor:

In a recent issue of the Denver Post, Robert S. Millar, secretary-manager of the Denver Water Board, is quoted as saying that there is no present indication of water rationing in Denver this summer. This is true. Why do we hear the continuous outcry about water shortages and rationing from Mr. Nixon of the Public Works Department, insofar as Colorado Springs is concerned?

When the water system from the west slope was voted on, we were assured that Colorado Springs would soon have ample water supply for any conceivable population growth pattern.

What has happened behind the public scene? Or, who is kidding whom in Denver?

BURTON

To the Editor:

The Allen-Scott report which appeared in your paper on Feb. 14 cited another foul-up in our State Department. To some it would mean nothing more than an incident, or oversight on the part of the State Department; to others it would mean another crisis. The crisis, or incident, whichever one prefers to use, pertains to the visa issued to Richard Burton which gave him permission to enter the U. S. for a period of six months.

According to the report, the case came to light in Washington, only after our federal capital city was flooded with letter, telegrams and telephone calls.

After the situation came to light, numerous telephone calls between the White House and the State Department and between cabinet officials took place. Also, the chief of the Bureau of Consular and Security affairs cabled U.S. officials in London, Paris, Rome, Mexico and Canada requesting all information in their files concerning Burton be furnished as soon as possible, seems as if Washington got shook about this deal.

Representative Michael Feighan, D-Ohio, deserves to be congratulated for using firmness to have Burton's visa cancelled. However, one speculates as to whether the congressman would have known about the case if the deluge of letters, telephone calls and telegrams had not materialized. The congressman should not be condemned for not having given any of his busy time to the matter without pressure from outside, and probably inside Washington.

The very important point is, that the people in this country do have considerable influence on our elected and appointed servants, not officials, in Washington when they make up their minds to do so.

Many of the letters, telegrams and telephone calls reaching the White House and the Congress were from parents of teen-aged children expressing their concern over the depraved example of public conduct set by Richard Burton. These parents are very much concerned about the welfare and conduct of their children, as they should be. However, it appears that potential strife must hit home in order to wake them up and start demanding our paid servants in Washington to take necessary action to correct a sour situation.

The hit home deals it takes to wake the American public to the point that they will do something to force correction, only when their families are concerned, indicated that the trend toward complacency is picking up momentum which is bad, very bad for the country.

If the same parents would take more interest in the things our State Department is doing to jeopardize the security and freedom of this country and demand corrective action be taken in this respect, they would be doing their children a much greater favor than would be accomplished by demanding Richard Burton's visa be cancelled. Not that the action against Burton, as demanded, is not justified, it is.

If these same parents would demand that this country stop appeasing communism, our trend toward the communist cause would halt, back up and reach the time, in the not too distant future, that we would be back on the road to becoming a republic, as our Constitution says we are, not a democracy.

The Burton incident, or crisis, seems to be trivial in one other respect. When the Allen Scott report was published locally, the Beatles were getting into full swing, resulting in an overwhelming amount of control of the teen-agers' minds and actions. It is very doubtful that over a handful of teenagers ever read or heard about Burton and if they did, in all probability, a quick shrug of the shoulders expressed their views.

It is believed that if the American public would start reading anti-communist material which there's plenty on the market, and start paying more attention to what is published in the papers of communist-inspired crisis thruout the world and how we come out second best, we would not have to be too concerned about people like Burton, for we would soon have personnel in our State Department who would be looking out for our interests and would not try to figure out ways and means of turning us over to the Communists.

CIVIL RIGHTS

To the Editor:

The House vote on the Un-Civil Frights Act clearly proves there are 290 in that body unworthy of confidence and unfit to represent us, who must be defeated at all costs next November if our liberties are to be reclaimed.

That vicious and diabolical act was written to centralize power in the White House and its army of bureaucrats and will permit intrusion of federal fingers in every phase of our lives if it can be forced thru the Senate. All our civil rights, whether white or black, are gravely endangered so long as it is even pending.

We can thank God there are as many as 138 who stood fast under the enormous pressure being applied and sought to prevent passage. Let's clean house of the rest of them, come November.

If the Southerners would hold their own convention and nominate a man with the mental stature of Senator Thurmond or an independent Republican group nominate a man with the stature and integrity of Senator John J. Williams, either would bring the forty million to the polls who have not been voting because the CFR-BAC has allowed no real choice to be offered our people during the past thirty years of planned misgovernment.

ASSAULT

To the Editor:

The new President is talking about his "assault on poverty," but look at what his administration is doing.

Among other things, it taxes us to establish artificially high prices for wheat. Then taxes us to store this wheat, because it is so high priced it will not sell in the market. Of course, besides all the taxes, the boosted prices of wheat products, paste, cake, spaghetti, bread and even bread crumbs must be paid by all of us no matter how impoverished we are.

Then when the wheat is sold abroad we are taxed again to subsidize the sale so foreigners will not be impoverished by the high prices Americans must pay for wheat and wheat products. And when the sale is to the Soviets, our government makes the subsidy extra large, and so we must pay extra large taxes for sales to them.

This is "assault" for sure, but not on poverty.

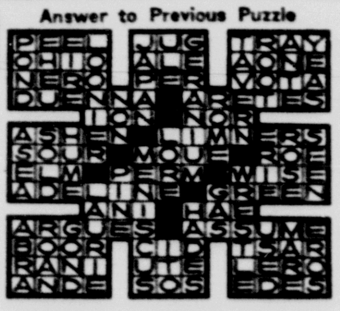
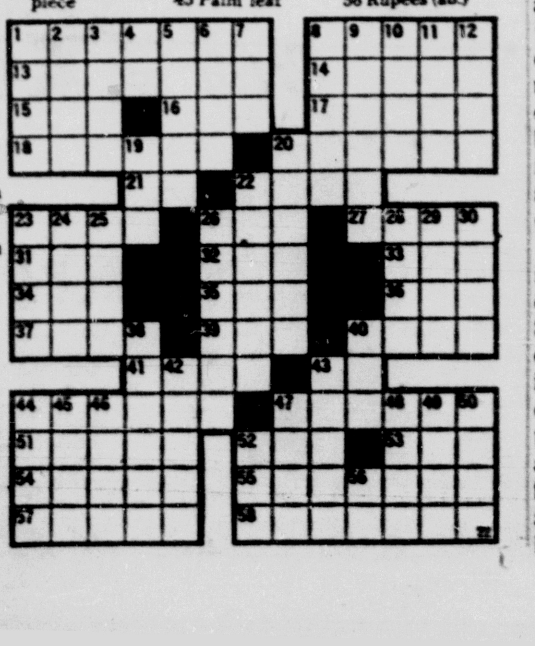
Answer to Previous Puzzle





Unexpected Reactions

By GEORGE BOARDMAN, PhD

One of the interesting aspects of talking with people via a newspaper column is the reaction generated by certain types of columns. Last summer when I made some critical comment about a raise in service pay, the column evoked a reaction which made me feel that only Marines and their wives read what I had to say and that all of them hated me.

A few weeks ago I made some comments about Monday haircuts and wives of several barbers took off after me in anonymous letters but gradually the furore diminished, or so I thought. Last week a barber in Southern California decided he wanted to talk with me on the phone and managed to accomplish his goal despite the fact that we have no telephone. When I answered the call at my son-in-law's and my daughter's home and the caller introduced himself as a barber, I wasn't quite sure what to expect. Much to my surprise, the man was happy with what I wrote on this subject and he wanted to tell me about it and why.

Yesterday, I received a postcard, postmarked Wilmington, Delaware. Unfortunately the card was slightly damaged and I am unable to decipher the name of the sender. The gist of the message is that we can get haircuts from what the writer calls "non-unionists" for $1.00 at the Farmers Market in New Castle, Delaware, even on Sundays, and I'm happy to be able to pass this information on to you.

Then there's the subject of voting and the fact that not a great many people agree with my point of view — my refusal to sanction the right of anybody to rule me. On the other hand, about 70,000 registered voters did not go to the polls in Orange County in 1962, which means that despite the increase in population, there are, at present, fewer voters in Orange County. During the past 18 months or thereabouts, quite a few Orange County residents have told me why they did not vote in 1962 and why they will not re-register this year, and this situation should cause professional politicians to stop, look and, for a change, listen. I don't suppose many of you have noticed this, but politicians almost never listen. They just sort of stare off into space until you finish what you have to say and then get on with the standard brand of hogwash they have memorized for the benefit of their constituents.

Oddly enough, while the population in Mohave County, Arizona, has supposedly gained a little, the voter registration has dropped off here, also. I don't have all the statistics on this yet but I have good reason to believe there has been an appreciable reduction in voter registration all over the country on a per capita basis and this indicates that the law of diminishing returns continues to operate. If there's a low voter turn-out this year, don't be surprised if some political boss suggests bringing the polls to you, on wheels.

Reaction to my columns also provides me with a day by day poll in connection with public sentiment. Never before have I encountered such general disapproval of politicians and everything political. A pleasant aspect of this situation is that the letter writers express absolutely NO tendencies towards even mild violence. They're just plain disgusted and figure that anybody who puts his or her faith in a politician deserves what they get.

During the past two months I've received something in excess of 300 answerable letters or postcards. Only three of the writers included the ZIP code in their return address but several correspondents have told me exactly what they think of that particular bit of post office foolishness. Of course, it's a must for people who draw pay from the post office department but it seems like the MUST didn't take very well. At the moment, it looks like the area designation may become mandatory in about 20 years or so. It seems that the bosses of the post office believe the Santa Claus campaign may begin to have some long-range effect by that time.

Without a doubt, letter writers who react one way or another to what I have to say in my columns provide me with a mighty fine cross-section of public opinion and I appreciate it very much.

Good luck and good health to you, in Freedom.

Question Box

Question No. 446: "According to the Bible, Jesus whipped the money-changers out of the temple. I have often wondered just what attracted the money-changers to the temple in the first place? If there was something going on or being dispensed at the temple which required the payment of money, then, it would appear that the money-changers by being there and making change were providing a needed service. If so, then, why whip them for the fact?"

CWO CECIL V. GROVE

Answer: Two general observations may be made to start with.

In the first place, not every payment of money is legitimate. The gain that a merchant makes by an exchange of labor for goods is not the same kind of gain as that exacted illegally by a highwayman or legally by a taxing agency. The first form of gain is commonly termed "profit"; the latter can hardly be described in any other way than "plunder".

In the second place, even an otherwise legitimate business cannot be transacted indefinitely upon the premises of another person except by consent of the owner.

The event cited by Chief Warrant Officer Grove, therefore, has two aspects: 1) Was the payment - of - money a profit transaction or was it plunder? 2) Who owned the property where the transactions were conducted and did Jesus act by authority of that owner when he expelled the money - changers?

As to the first point, the elder Testament discloses that the blood sacrifice was instituted by God as a way to impress upon his people the seriousness of sin and as an augury that at some future time the blood of an innocent person would be shed for the sins of all. The Scriptural account is that the symbolic teaching of such sacrifices became lost in mechanics and organization, and the practice lapsed into a form of idolatry.

Jesus lashed the money-changers on grounds that they were thieves; that is, fraudulently claiming to confer value after malpractice had robbed blood sacrifice of its real meaning.

By what authority did Jesus take upon himself to expel other men from the temple premises?

The Book of Chronicles, in the 21st chapter, says that the place of the temple was acquired by David after he had seen an angel standing there. It was at that time a threshing floor. When the owner learned that the king wanted it, he tried to give it to him. But David insisted on paying "the full price."

After David had given the owner 600 shekels of gold for the property, he announced: "This is the house of the Lord God" (Chronicles 22:1).

The temple that David's son Solomon subsequently erected there was destroyed. Yet later it was built anew. The record indicates that the temple was not a public place, or the property of a priesthood, but rather the peculiar property of God Himself.

In short, Jesus made two claims when he routed the money-changers; first, that they were thieves, depriving other persons of money by fraud (Mark 11:17, Luke 19:45), and second that the premises belonged to "my Father" and were not a proper place for merchandise (John 2:16).

As to whether Jesus really was the Son of God, as he claimed, and a rightful administrator of the property involved, each person is free to decide for himself. This much can be said, Jesus either was the greatest imposter who ever lived or he was the Son of God.

Questions are limited to general human relations questions that will improve the well-being of all mankind on this earth.

Wit and Whimsy

With the recruitment rush, an about-to-be soldier was being interviewed.

Sergeant: "Did you go to grammar school?"

Recruit: "Yes, sir, I also completed high school, graduated cum laude from Harvard and subsequently obtained my doctorate."

The sergeant nodded amiably, reached for a rubber stamp, and pressed it to the questionnaire. It read: "Literate."

A man's character is like a fence; it cannot be strengthened by whitewash.

AMA Discusses Care And Nursing for Sick

Most people who get sick are cared for at home. Only a comparative few become ill enough to require hospitalization. Almost everyone at some time is required to care for a sick friend or relative. Usually care is required for only a day or two, perhaps a week. Sometimes a chronic, long-term illness is involved.

Do you know how to care for someone who is sick?

There are two primary points to remember — Keep clean and keep cheerful.

Sanitation is highly important around the sick room. The amateur nurse must remember to wash his or her hands often. Clothing should be laundered frequently and thoroly. Used towels and cloths should be handled carefully.

The sick person needs a cheerful nurse to help the invalid keep up his morale while getting well. A long, solemn face won't be very good for the patient.

Equally important is a third point — Don't try to diagnose and prescribe. The attendant should obtain careful orders from the doctor, especially with regard to medications.

Sometimes cold packs relieve discomfort, sometimes hot packs are better. Let the doctor decide. Write down his instructions for care and for giving medicines, to avoid error.

Rearrange your household so that the patient has a room to himself, if at all possible. The room should be thoroly cleaned, and then kept clean and neat.

Ask the doctor about the patient's diet, and follow his directions. Food served fresh and hot, in an appetizing manner, will stimulate the appetite. Avoid laxatives and enemas except on direction of the doctor.

There are home nursing services in many communities today. If you anticipate lengthy care of a patient at home, a nurse is available to come to your home and demonstrate proper methods for home care. You can learn about their availability thru your doctor or local health department. Many communities also offer courses in home nursing that are very helpful.

No one wants to be sick. Proper home nursing care can do much to speed recovery.

Great Decisions Broadcasts to Start Monday

The first in a series of broadcasts related to the Great Decisions discussion will be heard at 7 p.m., Monday, on KSHS FM, 90.5 mg.

The five weekly programs will present outstanding authorities discussing the Great Decisions topic of the week. The first program will feature Dr. Mostafa Kamel, the ambassador from the United Arab Republic, discussing "Egypt and the middle East: What Prospects for Stability?"

Topics for the following two weeks are "Disarmament: Alternative to the Balance of Terror?" and "Castro's Cuba: Challenge to the Americas?"

Now in its 10th year, the Great Decisions discussion program is sponsored nationally by the Foreign Policy Association and locally by the University of Colorado Extension Center.

STUDENT DESIGN — Paul Carson of Englewood, Colo., and Thomas Purdy of Denver, test a device designed by physics students at Colorado College for studying dampened oscillatory motion. The college information office says that the research project is one of many developed this year in the college's freshman physics laboratory under the direction of eight students. DU Will Note 100th Birthday In March

A week - long 100th birthday party complete with giant cakes, time capsules, banquets and dances, alumni awards, an opera premiere and crowning of a queen is set for the University of Denver March 1 - 8 as it gets ready to begin its second century.

The crowded schedule of salute and festivity begins Sunday night, March 1, when Colorado Gov. Love and Denver Mayor Thomas Currigan co-host a dinner for the region's civic leaders at the Brown Palace West. The city and state heads will salute the University and its 100th birthday through the banquet at which David Packard, president of the Hewlett-Parkard Co., electronics manufacturer of Palo Alto, Calif., will speak.

Students will festively prepare for Founders' Week by unveiling a 30 - foot - wide Centennial Birthday Cake the preceding Friday night during the DU hockey game. The cake will be displayed beginning (March 1) in Civic Center. Students will crown a Founders' Week queen Monday morning March 2 and seal the time capsule to be opened in the year 2064.

CC Students Make Own Lab Equipment

Students at Colorado College are designing their own laboratory program in freshman physics.

The result is a flexible laboratory program that changes each year, enabling students to keep abreast of new developments in the rapidly changing field of physics.

It also provides a method for producing young physicists who are ready to do publishable research by the time they are juniors.

Dr. Wilbur Wright, professor of physics at the independent liberal arts college, developed the new laboratory approach to physics in the fall of 1962.

"The whole laboratory program, for freshman physics is essentially in the hands of eight specially selected students," Professor Wright said. "They develop and administer the program throughout the year."

In charge of the program is Paul Carson, a junior from Englewood, Colo. Working with Carson are three sophomores and four freshmen.

These freshmen keep Carson and his other asistants alerted to what high school graduates had last year in the physics laboratory," Professor Wright said.

Carson, consulting frequently with Professor Wright, directs the sophomores and freshmen in developing the laborator experiments.

Prof. Wright and other members of the Colorado College physics department are extremely pleased with the way the program is working out with the 25 freshmen enrolled this year in Physics 111-112, the preprofessional course. This semester experiments include damped oscillatory motion, heat flow, and the behavior of liquids in motion.

Prof. Wright meets with members of the freshman laboratory class one afternoon a week to give them an opportunity to ask questions.

He said "one of the main advantages of having students build their own course is that they can design a flexible program that can be altered quickly to the needs of the freshmen.

Prof. Wright, who joined the Colorado College faculty after having taught physics at the University of New Hampshire, noted that there traditionally are two constraints in any freshman laboratory program.

These, he said, are the laboratory program and equipment, as well as the textbook. "We have pretty well solved the first problem," he said, "and now we are working on the textbook."

He now is giving students supplementary readings. These include excerpts from assorted text books and textual materials which he prepares.

Carson, who hopes to enter graduate work in physics after he receives his bachelor's degree from Colorado College, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. L. K. Carson Englewood.

Sophomores working with him in developing the laboratory course are William R. Moninger of Glencoe, Ill., Louis C. Sass, Jr., of Miami, Fla., and Thomas R. Jervis of Chevy Chase, Md. Assisting them are four freshmen: Thomas Purdy of Denver; Tessa Palmer of Burke, Va., Steven Stivers of Salem, Ore., and David Gore of Newark, Del.

HINTS FROM Heloise

By HELOISE CRUSE

Dear Heloise:

When I wash my heavy sweaters in cold water soap, I roll them in a heavy bath towel (after rinsing), put them in my washing machine and turn it to spin-dry for a few minutes . . . "leaving the sweater rolled in the bath towel."

The bath towel absorbs the excess water and removes much more water from the sweater than one can possibly squeeze out. This way they dry faster.

Just unroll the towel and you will be so pleased. —Dot

When I tried it, I found that if the sweater was rolled securely in the bath towel that the towel prevented "streaks" in the sweater when the spin dry cycle was used.

And thanks for the terrific hint. —Heloise

Dear Heloise:

Mothers of small tots can solve the problem of sticky fingers and hands by carrying a small, damp sponge in a plastic bag. This is not only easy to find but eliminates facial tissues and soiled hankies. —Mrs. Lawrence Beavers

Dear Heloise:

If you have limited storage space in your home and are head over heels with luggage, store out of season clothes, linens, blankets, etc. in your "not in use" luggage!

Include a sweet smelling sachet and your guilt feeling about shelf and closet space will fly away. —Dorothy Snyder

DEAR HELOISE:

For Mothers who Rave tiny tots just beginning to use high chairs, and who have tried tying a diaper around the child's waist and tying them to the chair, and yet they still slide out . . . here is what we did:

I bought a pink rubber dish mat and cut a piece of it to fit in the seat of my child's high chair. Now he doesn't slide out under the tray. The rubber mat controls the "slide." Using a rubber mat is great in more ways than one:

Instead of washing the seat of the chair when it becomes dirty, all I do now, is remove the rubber mat and wash that.

With the leftover piece of rubber mat I lined the tray of the high chair. Now each night as I do my dishes, I just remove the rubber mats and wash them right along with my dishes.

Oh, how many hours a week this saves me washing that high chair. —Chris

Dear Heloise:

I have a grand solution for solving the everlasting problem of lint on dark clothes.

I took an old rolling pin I have in the house and put adhesive backed tape on the entire surface with the sticky side out . . .

I keep this on the top shelf of my closet and just roll it over my clothes and it removes all lint from them. I do this before I ever hang them up! It takes but a few seconds and removes large areas at once.

Replace the tape when necessary. —Mrs. Al Lenhard

Dear Heloise:

If you have glass rings on your furniture, caused by water, put some cigarette ashes on a wet rag and rub until the spot is gone. Works real good. —Mrs. B. Wickman

---

We mix cigarette and cigar ashes with vegetable oil and rub this in with our fingers very carefully until the ring is gone. Then polish as usual. Since I don't have a glass ring today I can't test your water method. —Heloise

Mount Etna Eruption Is Reported Stopped

CATANIA, Sicily (AP) — Mount Etna's latest eruption stopped Friday night after more than a million cubic yards of lava had poured from the 10,705-foot crater in 21 days.

The eruption opened several small craters just below the main crater's rim. The stream of lava traveled almost three miles downhill stopping in a valley 5,500 feet high.

Cragmor Cub Scout Pack 71 Recharted

Cub Scout Pack 71 has been rechartered for the period of Feb. 1 to Sept. 30, 1964. The new charter will be presented to the sponsoring institution, Katherine Lee Bates Parent Teacher Association, in a special ceremony at the March 9 PTA meeting at Katherine Lee Bates School.

There are 65 cub scouts registered in the Pack. K. Byron Martin, Jr. is the cubmaster and Stan Holden the Instructional Representative. The pack committee for the chartered year ending September 30 includes Thomas Smith chairman, Kenneth Veatch, secretary; William Bush, treasurer; Dewey Wofford, Paul Scharke, Al Croskell, Jerry Pierson, and Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Carothers. Robert E. Jones, Jr. and Atlee Lemasters are the WEBLO leaders.

Mrs. Paul Scharke is the liaison den mother. Den mothers include Mrs. Kenneth Veatch, Mrs. Thomas Smith, Mrs. Adolph Zoellner, Mrs. J. B. Quick, Mrs. Martha McCray, Mrs. Willard Lee, Mrs. Erma Tucker, Mrs. Byron Martin and Mrs. R. J. Sunstrum.

The 100,000 residents of Innsbruck, Austria, and those of the neighboring communities of Iglis, Lizum and Seefeld have been preparing for the 1964 Winter Olympics since 1960.

Stone Idol Defended By Mexican Peasants

MEXICO CITY (AP)—Peasants armed with clubs and rocks have blocked archaeologists' efforts to move a stone idol from a nearby village to a Mexico City museum.

They drove workmen from a truck carrying the idol Friday, slashed the truck's tires and damaged rigging holding the image in place.

Officials said the peasants believed that allowing to move the idol of Tlaloc, an Aztec god, would bring them bad luck.

A January thaw in New England is mentioned in literature as early as 1798.

Wasson High School News

By CAROL JENSEN

The junior class presented its junior class play last Thursday and Friday nights in the Wasson auditorium. This play, The Male Animal, is a satirical comedy and was directed by Homer aris, Wasson's dramatic coach. Students having activity tickets were advised to use these tickets to purchase their play tickets, for each punched activity ticket represents another 10 cents toward the Junior-Senior Prom in May.

Since the junior class traditionally sponsors this annual dance, the proceeds from the class play and other functions will be used to pay for the dance decorations, band, and the invitations sent out to all the seniors.

As a means of publicizing the play, a contest for a transistor radio was carried out last week. The idea was for every student having bought a play ticket to see if he could find the one student at Wasson designated as the "Male Animal," and win the radio. This was planned to increase the purchases of tickets for the play.

Wasson's first semester honor roll has been composed by the members of the National Honor Society and its sponsor, Miss Francis Walingford. They worked at averaging the students' grade points to determine which students would make which part of the honor roll.

The three categories of the honor roll are: honorable mention for those students with averages of 3.2; honors for those students with average of 3.5; and high honor for those with 3.75 and above.

Four hundred and sixty-six students made the honor roll this semester and recognition to the students was given over the public address system last week.

Approximately sixteen members of Wasson's National Honor Society will attend the state National Honor Society convention at Colorado University in Boulder on Saturday.

Various panels and discussion groups and assemblies have bee planned for the state members of the Society with the purpose of the discussion of academic subjects. The price for the trip is $1.50 for the students to cover the cost of their lunches.

Tuesday, seniors at Wasson interested in attending Colorado State University at Fort Collins will have an opportunity to visit the campus and the classrooms. Wasson's counseling department has arranged a special day for the students, giving them the opportunity to learn more about the school and its standards. The trip will cost $4.00 for those students going by the chartered bus.

However, both the students going by bus and those going by car had to get classroom grade okays before leaving for the excursion. These permission slips were to be handed in to the counselors by last Wednesday. Students going by bus had to pay their money on the 14th, bring a permission note from home on the 17th, and return their classroom slips by the 19th.

Refund of the trip's cost will not be made after last Wednesday, the 19th. To complete the day's busy schedule, the students will have to leave quite early in the morning, possibly before eight o'clock.

Those students who took the College Board achievement tests in January can pickup their test scores in their counselor's office. The scores were ready to be handed back by last Wednesday.

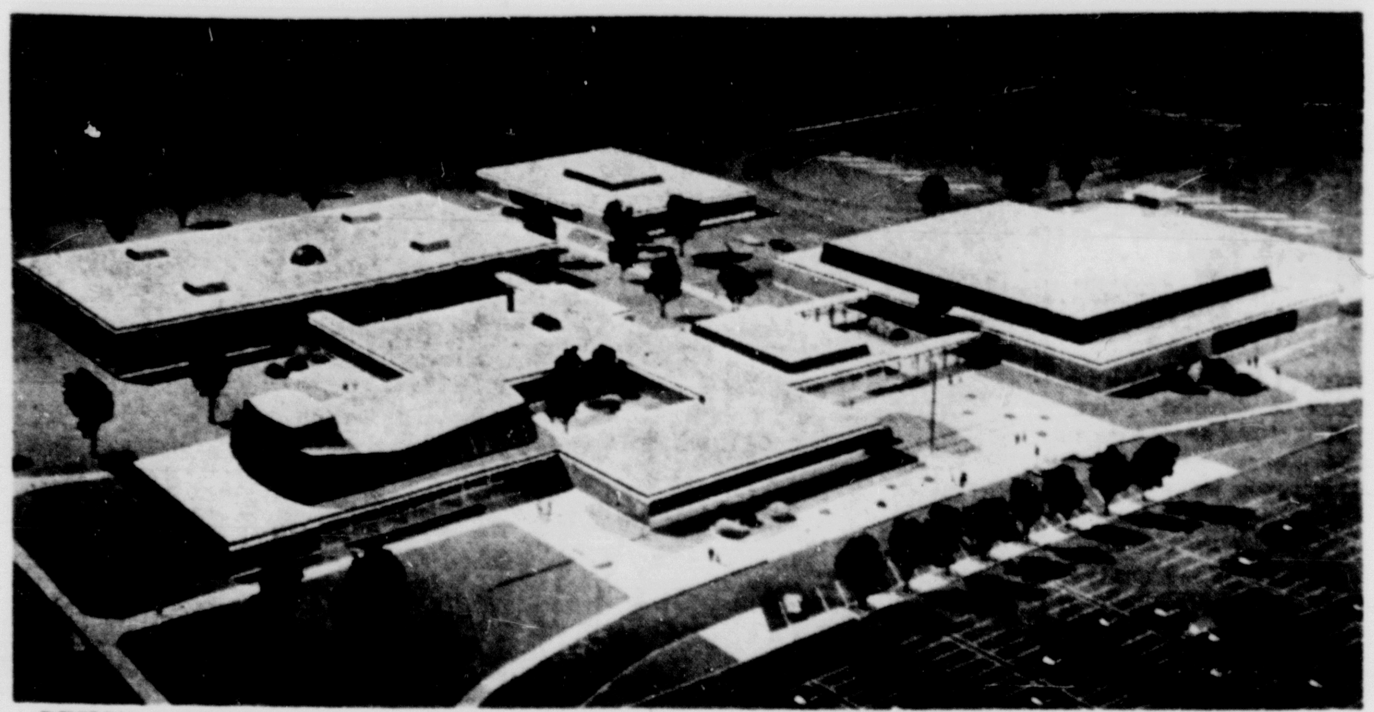
Invitations were sent out last week to qualified students to join Quill and Scroll, an honorary journalism society. This was open only to those students working on a journalistic publication, such as the yearbok or school paper, and in the upper third of their class.

NEW SEA MONSTER

LOS ANGELES (AP)—A new kind of "flip-top" ship may frighten unwary mariners cruising off the coast of California this year. The 355-foot steel vessel has the ability to stand on its stern, with only 55 feet showing above water—all in the interests of ocean research, according to "Steel Facts," published by American Iron and Steel Institute.

The old vessel has special pumps which fill ballast tanks and cause the stern to shift downward, thus permitting sonar equipment to better study underwater conditions. The University of California is conducting the research.

A storm must have winds of at least 74 miles per hour to be classified as a hurricane.



DESIGN COMMENDATION — General William Mitchell High School was one of 36 buildings selected for commendation at the convention of the American Association of School Administrators, last week in Atlantic City. The jury made its selection from among 325 entries. Shown here is a model of the Mitchell High School plant, now under construction at San Miguel Street and Potter Road.

Springs School Selected for Commendation

The new General William Mitchell High School, now under construction in Colorado Springs, was selected for special commendation at the 96th annual convention of the American Association of School Administrators, last week in Atlantic City.

Mitchell High School was one of 36 buildings selected for citation by the exhibit jury. Selections were made from a total entry list of 325 outstanding school facilities entered in the original screening. The final exhibit included 275 buildings from 40 states, representing the work of 212 architectural firms.

The exhibit contained elementary schools, junior and senior high schools, junior colleges, and education buildings on college and university campuses. It is an annual feature of the school administrators' convention.

In presenting the citation to Mitchell High School, the jury made the following comment: "Flexible teaching spaces, seminar and conference rooms, teacher work areas, and study carrels for individual pupils are outstanding features of this school plant. . .clean, straightforward architecture."

The Colorado Springs firm of Bunts and Kelsey, Architects, planned the citation-winning school project. The building is scheduled for occupancy in the fall of 1965.

Thomas B. Doherty, superintendent of schools in District 11, and Lamar Kelsey of Bunts and Kelsey, Architects, attended the convention.

In commenting on the exhibit, Doherty stated, "After seeing buildings from all over the nation, I feel that we in this area are getting quality in both design and construction equal to or better than anywhere in the country, and at lesser cost."

Britian Winning U.S. Scientists

LONDON (AP)—Home Secretary Henry Brooke claims that Britain is winning scientists from the United States as well as losing many through the highly publicized "brain drain" across the Atlantic.

Brooke told a Conservative party meeting Friday night: "There is not so much publicity for those scientists who move from America to Britain, and 140 have moved from the United States to take positions in this country in the last couple of years."

Vatican Reports Views on Race

VATICAN CITY (UPI)—Vatican sources declares the Holy See's position on racial discrimination is clear—it is to be condemned.

The specific case in question was a statement by Archbishop William P. Whelan on Bloemfontein, South Africa. He said that he favors his government's apartheid policy and feels there is no conflict between Catholic teaching and segregation.

Two noted vatican theologians — who declined to be quoted by name — said that "Archbishop Whelan is right theologically in saying that segregation in itself is not immoral if not forced, but it seems that his judgment may be questioned in the case of South Africa."

Some Motorists Permitted Per Mile Deductions

Some motorists — but not many — will be able, in filing their federal income tax returns, tc take a flat per-mile expense deduction rather than having to figure out exact costs, the Rocky Mountain AAA Club, reported today.

A new "simplified" procedure announced recently for figuring automobile income tax deductions for business purposes permits a flat 10 cents a mile deduction for the first 15,000 miles of business use, and 7 cents a mile thereafter. Taxpayers who prefer to report their exact costs may, however, do so.

The new procedure applies only to 1) self-employed persons using only one automobile, and to 2) employees who use their cars at work but who receive no reimbursement from their employers. The flat-rate procedure does not apply to fleet owners using two or more automobiles simultaneously, or to employees who get reimbursement — no matter how small the reimbursement may be.

According to the AAA Club, 89.7 per cent of those employees who use their automobiles at work and are given a mileage allowance get less than 10 cents a mile reimbursement. The employee who gets, for example, 7 cents a mile, cannot deduct the difference — three cents a mile — as a business expense on his personal tax return. Any part of his expenses above the reimbursement must be figured by the old method.

The AAA club emphasized that driving to and from work is not considered a business deduction as far as the federal income tax is concerned.

CU String Groups To Present Public Concerts

University of Colorado string groups will present two free public concerts next week under the baton of Assoc. Prof. Andor Toth.

The Baroque String Ensemble will perform at 8 p.m. Monday in the Music Hall, and the University Symphony Orchestra will present a young people's concert at 4:15 p.m. Thursday, Feb. 27, in Macky Auditorium.

The 29-member string ensenble will perform Scarlatti's "Concerto No. 3 in F minor," Corelli's "Concerto Op. 6, No. 4, in D major," J. S. Bach's "Concerto in C major for Two Pianos" and "Sinfonia con Due Trombe," an anonymous 17th century Italian work discovered last summer by Prof. Jean Berger.

Prof. and Mrs. Paul Parmelee will be at the pianos for the Bach work.

The orchestra's young people's concert will feature a performance of "Pandora's Box," a short children's opera, with music by Prof. Cecil Effinger and libretto by Assoc. Prof. Sally Monsour. Other selections will include works by Bizet, Mozart, Paganini and Sousa.

AFA Member Named Winner in Letter Contest

An Air Force Academy faculty member is one of the winners of the 1963 Freedoms Foundations letter writing contest.

Capt. Jack W. Carlson, assistant professor of economics, has been named winner of a George Washington Honor Medal and a $50 check for his letter on the 1963 theme, "What I Can Do for Freedom."

No novice in the field of writing, Capt. Carlson has had several books published and is currently working on another. His new work will be titled "The Valuation of Life Preservation" and will be published by the Harvard University Press.

Capt. Carlson has also had many articles appear in national professional publications. He also acts as an economic consultant for RAND Corp.

Before his assignment here, the Harvard graduate was a combat instructor pilot at Perrin AFB, Tex.

PROBLEM: Which Falls First?

NEEDED: A yardstick or meter stick, a coin such as a quarter or half dollar.

DO THIS: Place the stick against the wall so that it will not slip. Place the coin on the end, as in the upper drawing, and when the stick is released the coin will not fall as rapidly as the stick.

Place the coin back one-third the length of the stick, and both coin and stick will fall together.

HERE'S WHY: The stick is not falling freely as is the coin. The stick is rotating about an axis at the wall. The velocity of the end of the stick is greater than the falling coin. The velocity of a point on the stick one-third the length of the stick from the end moves at the same velocity as a falling body.

A colleciton of these scientific puzzles is in book form under the name "Science Circus." It is in bookstores and libraries.

Job Openings Sought for Military Vets

Openings for "on - the - job" training of disabled veterans are being sought by the Veterans Administration as the surest way to obtain permanent employment for the veteran when his training is completed.

Merely to train veterans in vocational schools or colleges accomplishes only a part of the task — they are still unemployed. Their handicaps rather than their abilities may loom large in a prospective employer's eyes.

On the other hand, VA officials have learned, if an employer trains the disabled veteran in his own shop, there is strong assurance that he will retain the trained veteran as a "tailor-made" employee.

The VA asks the aid of the veterans groups, employment agencies and the business world in general in locating employers who will offer disabled but ambitious veterans a chance to take training in specialized lines of work with a goal of permanent employment.

Film Narrator Spends Much Time on the Go

Renee Taylor who arrives by plane this noon from her latest engagement, Saturday evening in Tennesee, to present her travelogue on Hunza Land on the "Horizons Unlimited series today and tomorrow, spends a lot of her time flying back and forth across the continent. Of course mainly to make her public appearances.

On the 13th she gave her program at the distinguished Town Hall in New York City and then flew to her home in California. Having in a few days moved from Beverly Hills to Redondo Beach, she took off Saturday morning to fill her date that night in Tennesee. Then taking a mid - night plane, she back - tracked here via Denver.

In a letter received by her local manager, Theodore Fisher Miss Taylor comments interestingly on that New York engagement. She says "I have just received the following comment from Mr. Edwards, the assistant director of Town Hall. May I again congratulate you on your successful performance in Town Hall last night. We have received many fine comments on the Hunza film and particularly on your commentary. Considering everything — the enthusiastic audience, the book sale, the Pakistan's Consul General's reaction and your assignement to the New York World's Fair — it was a most successful evening.

Tur guess is Miss Taylor's assignment will be a a representitive of the Pakistan government.

Callers, Fiddlers Contest Set For April

The 28th Annual Official Colorado Square Dance, Callers and Fiddlers Contest will be held in the City Auditorium, on April 3rd, 10th and 11th, it was announced Saturday by Arthur Eubanks, commander of Zebulon Pike Chapter, Disabled American Veterans, sponsors of the contest.

Palmer Class Visits Bo-Peep Nursery School

The Home Living class from Palmer High School, taught by Mrs. Esther Salle and assisted by a student teacher, Miss Sandra Ely from Colorado State Univ. visited the Bo-Peep Nursery School, 524 E. Cache la Poudre St. Thursday.

The class is made up of 28 senior girls.

As a part of their study unit of child development, they observed programs concerning listening ability, coordination, respect for the rights of others, play patterns, personality development and the effect on the child of the working mother.

The purpose of the class is to learn how to manage, buy and furnish a house, family finances, child development and preparation for marriage. Mrs. Salle noted "The standard of living has risen in the past decade, making a change in home living and necessitating in a majority of cases the need for both parents to work away from home.

The Bo-Peep Nursery School has an enrollment of boys and girls aging from two and a half to five years of age. The children receive a well balanced play program, nourishing meals plus classes in creative handicrafts, music and drama.

Mr. and Mrs. Ed Creech opened the school a few months ago. Their daughter, Mrs. Patricia Caesar is the teacher director assisted by Mrs. Philip Hendrix.

Graduated Care Center Opens at Hospital Monday

The first step in a program of graduated care will be taken by St. Francis Hospital when its new center for intensive care opens Monday.

This is a six-bed unit completely equipped for the seriously injured, the acutely ill, and for those who have just undergone major surgery.

Each bed has its own oxygen supply, with tents and masks. The large room contains a separate dispensary for life-saving drugs and equipment. A specially trained staff provides constant, 24 hour nursing care.

Patients will be admitted to the intensive care center on their doctors' orders. When they are no longer in danger they will be released and moved into their hospital rooms for general care.

In this way the expense of a medical emergency is kept at a minimum, yet each patient receives the best of individual care.

Contract Let On Interstate 25 Overpass

Leon K. Suhm, Inc., Denver, with an offer of $252,495, was the lowest of mine bidders February 11 on a Colorado Department of Highways' project to improve Interstate 25 north of Castle Rock in Douglas County.

The work will consist of constructing a frontage road and a grade separation one mile north of Castle Rock. A four-span concrete slab and I-beam bridge, 214 feet long, will be built to carry a crossroad over the interstate highway.

The work must be completed within five months. The Department named Resident Engineer Harrison G. Phelps of Castle Rock to supervise the project. Work is scheduled to start Monday.

Gwillimville Community Reduced to One House

By MARIAN M. McDONOUGH

The white gabled house standing alone among rolling meadows and grazing land six miles east of Monument, is all that is left of a community once called Gwillimville.

Mrs. Charles Furrow and Mrs. William Galley of Colorado Springs have first hand knowledge of that house and of Gwillimville which they like to tell about.

"Of course we remember Gwillimville! Our uncle, Gwillim Rees Gwillim from Wales founded that small settement and built the house in 1869," lively, hospitable Mrs. Furrow explained over coffee and fruit cake in her North Nevada Avenue home filled with furniture and treasures of the past.

According to Mrs. Furrow the two story house with tall chimneys, ornate wooden lace, dormers and a bay window was the center of a large ranch as well as part of Gwillimville. The settlement was never incorporated however and fewer than a dozen people lived in it. In its heyday there was a cheese factory, creamery store, blacksmith shop, saloon, post office, school and church. Across the road was housing for some of those who worked in the cheese factory.

Dainty, white-haired Mrs. Galley, who claims to be the oldest living member of the family, remembers Gwillimville very well. "The cheese factory was across from the barns and on a hill southeast of the house were the saloon, blacksmith shop and post office. The school and church were at the Four Corners. The Gwillim R. Gwillims lost three infant children but raised three sons in the big nine room house."

"Our father, Richard J. Gwillim, who was born in 1850 at Abernaut Farm, near Neath, Glamorganshire, South Wales, followed his brother to America in 1870 when he was just 20," Mrs. Furrow explained. "The voyage on the Inman Line took 10 long days. Father settled in Illinois but became ill of ague and in October, 1871 came to Colorado to join his brother. He boarded the first Denver and Rio Grande train out of Denver and was put off after dark at Greenland. There was only one light in the whole place so he walked toward it, seeking directions to Gwillimville."

Mrs. Galley recalls her father telling them that a bachelor lived there. On hearing of Gwillim's destination he insisted he spend the night as Gwillimville was a long walk. "Father never got over the meals that man served," Mrs. Galley added, laughing. "Bacon and biscuits for supper and biscuits and bacon for breakfast!"

Brown - haired, hazel - eyed Richard Gwillim, who knew the hardware trade in Wales now took up farming on shares in Colorado. Later he joined some Scotchmen in the sheep shearing business and prospered further. In the fall of 1873, he purchased 120 acres of government land east. He called it Bryn Mawr or The Bryn.

Young Gwillim grew impatient, however, to see pretty blue-eyed, brown-haired Jeanette Cartwright of Denbigh, North Wales. He returned to Wales for his 23-year-old bride. The couple was married March 12, 1874, at Carmarthen, South Wales.

Mrs. Furrow, who has the enchanting name of Gwladys Gwalia, and is the third youngest of her family, opened a square walnut box inlaid with mother of pearl. "Mother kept her marriage certificate in this little red needle book in this keepsake box she brought from home."

Among Mrs. Gwillim's treasures are the marriage certificate written by hand on lined blue paper; two locks of hair belonging to little Claudia and Jeanette, who died a day apart of diphtheria at the very time the oldest boy, Gwillim, was born, as well as a silk handkerchief, a lace collar, black gloves and a pin containing photographs of King Edward V and Queen Alexandra of England.

The young Gwillims sailed from Livepool and after a long voyage and tiresome train ride from New York arrived in Gwillimville that April. Gwillim built a log house at The Bryn and purchased 374 acres more. After planting 60 acres, with $360 worth of seed, disaster struck with a plague of grasshoppers. That fall Richard Gwillim sold only two sacks of grain!

The Gwillims fought grasshoppers for three years then moved to Greenland where he became superintendent of the A. B. Daniels ranch for seven months. Mary Evelyn (Mrs. Galley) was born in Greenland.

The Gwillim Brothers bought a store and cheese factory in Monument in 1878 and the Richard Gwillims went there to live. That same year the post office was established in Gwillimville with Gwillim Rees Gwillim as Postmaster. Margaret Eleanore (now Mrs. Fred Humphrys of California) was born during the two yars the R. J. Gwillims lived in Monument.

A milk shortage caused Gwillim to sell out and go back to the farm and raise dairy cows, potatoes and other crops. He built a two story frame house about a half mile from The Bryn. Here on the home place Gwillim R., John Cartwright, Alice and Edward Cecil Cartwright were born.

The Gwillims sold 25 pounds of butter a week in Colorado Springs. Mrs. Gwillim's butter was so good she won first place with it at the state fair. Her prize was a beautiful brass lamp, now in Mrs. Furrow's home. Gwillim took first prize with his potatoes at the same state fair.

The children attended the Gwillimville school where at one time all the pupils were Gwillims and Millrights. School lasted 3 or 4 months at the most or as long as the teachers lasted. One or the other of the Gwillim families boarded the current teacher.

"Our parents were strict. Every one of us had a duty to perform on the farm. I can remember working in the fields along with Father," Mrs. Galley recalled. "For amusement we visited our uncle's and the neighbors homes, went to meetings at the church and to Christmas parties. We always had to be in by 9:30 or 10 o'clock. Church services were first held in the school until Mountain View Community Church was built at Gwillimville. When we were older there were the ladies aid doings and literarys. I took music lessons from Mrs. Clarissa Berry of Palmer Lake. She'd come to the Schwanbeck's home in Monument where she taught Margaret and me. Later I played the organ and sang in the church."

"Don't forget the potato bakes Father helped organize in Monument," Mrs. Furrow spoke up. "Special trains even ran from Denver and Colorado Springs for this event. Everyone from Gwillimville came. Long tables were set up on that rise between Monument Lake and the railroad and potatoes baked in pits. At that time the leading crop was potatoes. But the Fourth of July was even more fun! Our neighbors among them the Prings and other friends would have a picnic in the Glen at Palmer Lake. Fried chicken, ham, pies, cakes—just everything good! Afterwards here was dancing at the railroad pavilion by the lake. We looked forward all year to this day!"

At one time during these years at Gwillimville Richard Gwillim was justice of the peace and is said to have boasted that he never had a case appealed and that every marriage he performed turned out happy!

According to the sisters, Pat

Murphy was a neighbor hard to forget. He lived in a log cabin on his homestead a fourth of a mile south-east of their farm. Murphy would just as soon rock a new born baby (to the consternation of the mother) or sit up with a corpse as he would to help his neighbors shock grain or plant potatoes. He always baked birthday cakes for the boys. The girls only rated wedding cakes. He was a famous walker and in 1878 started out one evening from Gwillimville with 30 pounds of butter in a basket slung over his shoulder, walked to Denver, sold the butter and returned in time to milk the next evening. He thought nothing of walking to Pueblo and back the same day.

Mrs. Furrow's hazel eyes twinkled as she poured more coffee. "One time Pat made a 21 layer cake for one of our brothers and decorated it with red hots which he'd lick and stick on the frosting. He was so kind always doing something for people that we couldn't let him know that we never ate his cakes. Will you ever forget the time, Mary, when the Sisters of Charity drove out in their buggy from the Springs to make collections? A dreadful storm came up while they were at Pat's. He made them spend the night while he slept in the barn. But the poor sisters couldn't sleep because of bedbugs. Finding a can which in the dark they thought was kerosene, they doused themselves with it only to find to their horror it was molasses!"

The Gwillimville Post Office was discontinued in 1886 and the mail transferred to Monument. The next year it was re-established with Gwillim R. Gwillim's son, David as postmaster. Finally the post office was abandoned in 1890 and the mail transferred for good to Monument.

In 1894 the Gwillim Rees Gwillims moved to Denver to live because of better opportunities for the three sons.

The year 1895 will always be remembered by old timers as the great potato failure caused by an insect blight. The sisters recall that year, too, because the family home burned down. The Gwillims moved into the nearby Howell place. Altho the house was rebuilt, the Gwillims never lived there and in 1900 moved to Colorado Springs. Richard Gwillim was county assessor in 1913 - 1915. He died in the thirties aged 85 while his Jeanette passed away three years later.

Mrs. Furrow is the widow of Charles Furrow, a long time El Paso county clerk and recorder. After William Galley's death, Mrs. Galley worked for 20 years at the Court House. "Copying deeds and records by hand until those I B M machines came in!" she will tell you. A daughter, Mrs. Enid Myers lives with her and a son, Richard, resides in Colorado Springs. Galley Road is named for this family.

And what happened to Gwillimville? Different owners as well as renters lived in the big house at various time thru the years, raising cattle and growing crops. Gradually the abandoned buildings fell apart under sleet, wind and rain until nothing was left but a few foundations peeking thru snow in winter and spring wild flowers and summer grasses. Gwillimville has passed into history but not from the memory of those who once lived there.

Stewart Alsop To Speak at Art Center

The Town Hall morning series guest speaker March 2 will be Stewart Alsop, contributing editor of the Saturday Evening Post. The lecture will be held at 10:30 a.m. at the Fine Arts Center Theatre, and tickets for the lecture may be purchased by guests and husbands of Town Hall members.

Reservations may be made by calling Mrs. Lawrence Hecox at 635-5075. Complimentary coffee will be served at 9:45 a.m. in the lounge. Town Hall is sponsored locally by the Junior League of Colorado Springs.

Alsop is one of the most widely read writers in America. His syndicated column, with his brother Joseph, was considered among the most authoritative and best informed in the country, as are his Post articles today.

He graduated from Groton School and Yale University. His up to the minute talk is titled "What's Beyond Today's Headlines.'

D. E. Fashion Bar Days Set Thursday for High Schoolers

Don't be surprised if you think high school students are running the Fashion Bar Thursday afternoon.

They will be.

For the sixth consecutive year, Fashion Bar manager Ben Langella will turn over the store to teen-aged clerks so that they can get some first-hand retailing experience.

This year, almost 100 students from Palmer and Widefield High Schools will take part in the program thru their distribution education training classes.

That means retailing, according to Leon Giles, Palmer's distribution education training teacher. But Thursday's events aren't limited to these students — others who are interested will also participate.

Only the department managers will stay at the store Thursday afternoon — from noon to 9 p.m. The regular clerks will take the afternoon off as the high schoolers move in.

Students will be graded thru a performance evaluation sheet by Giles, and his counterpart at Widefield, Dale Johnson. Included in the evaluation will be scores on appearance, salesmanship, merchandise knowledge and an over-all evaluation.

Langella will vacate his manager's post in favor of Palmer High School's Charles Ellis, while the assistant managership will be filled by Gary Rude.

To add lustre to "D. E. Fashion Bar Days" will be four models and their escorts from each high school. These young women, who have been elected the "queens" of high school events this year, and their escorts, will model Fashion Bar styles.

A special event of this year's "D. E. Fashion Bar Days," will be the continuous entertainment program, replacing the organ music of past years.

There will be "The Groupe," an all-girl hootenanny chorus, consisting of Palmer High School's Ellen Matteson, Judy Jones, Ann Whitney, Linda Rodes and Gretchen Liddle; singer Don Breeding, accompanied by guitarist Dave Julian; "The Night Owls," dance band, whose members are Danny Hambley, Bruce Cameron, Dave Howard, Sandy Bilbrey, John Jamison, Jack Stone and Steve Hawk; and "The Clinch Mountain Boys," from Fountain Valley School for Boys.

Palmer High School's sales personnel members are: Bobbie Thein, Marcia Greeley, Kim Wellington, Frances Pirnat, Jack Murphy, Gary Zook, Norman Snyder, Richard Boyle, James Gilbert, Karen Reader, Shirley Archuleta, Sherry Bennett, Bebe Hammond, Janet Brown, Donna Withers, Sally Doris, Jane Shupp, Linda Stoddard;

Jean Glascow, Mary Ball, Monica Smallwood, Mary Ann Elliott, Georgia Zook, Shelia Cooper, Lucille Samsell, Kathy Watson, Marcia Greeley, Bud Lehmkuhl, Ruben Scott and Anita Cobb.

Widefield High School's sales personnel members are: Linda Scott, Linda Porter, Lana Henke, Betsy Elkin, Keith Rauterkos, Barbara Dotson, Chris Augst, Sharon Behrman, Larry Hart, Jerry Michaellis, Gary Frazee, Charlotte Wilburn, Cheryl Nicksich, Jean McCollum, Linda Ravert, Kathy Linker, Sue Heeney, Gwyn Douthit, Jeanne Merkle, Betsy Elkin, Sandy Murray;

Glendora Stoabs, Sonja Unruh, Betty Gomez, Linda Bain, Nancy Williams, Jan Johnston, Mary Murphy, Cheryl Nance, Sharon Sackhoff, Ron Wickham, Duane Adkins and Larry Scott.

SLIGHT OMISSION

CHESNEE, S.C. (AP) — Mrs. Lynn Watson Jr. sent out for a hamburger, and when it arrived it looked pretty tempting, complete with lettuce, onions, mustard and all the trimmings. The only trouble was, the restaurant owner had forgotten to put the meat inside the bun.

Local Girl's School Increases Its Activity

The Colorado Springs School for Girls, the new independent girls' school in our community, is stretching its scope, authorities report.

Opening in September of 1962 with an enrollment of 23 students, it now is teaching 40 girls and plans to expand to 60 next fall. The first Senior Class was to have graduated in 1966, but an earlier demand for an 11th grade advanced the date to June of 1965.

On its toes to offer a college preparatory curriculum unsurpassed in this region, the school will send two staff members to professional meetings within the next two weeks, authorities said.

Mrs. J. Randolph Campbell, headmistress, leaves on Tuesday to attend the annual meeting of the National Association of Principals of Schools for Girls in New Orleans. NAPSG, the purpose of which is to bring together heads of girls' schools and admissions deans of liberal arts colleges, has a memberhip of over 300. The annual meeting, which is devoted to problems of college preparation and guidance, is held in a different city each year for the convenience of varying segments of the national membership.

Its location in New Orleans this season is particularly appealing to Mrs. Campbell, altho she has been a member and attended the conferences over a 10 year period, because of the opportunity it gives her to become better acquainted with the southern colleges, which will be represented in larger numbers than usual. Mrs. Campbell was asked to co-chair a panel discussion on the topic "The Social, Moral and Ethical Preparation Necessary for College."

Miss Elizabeth Roorbach, administrative assistant, will represent the Colorado Springs School for Girls at the meetings of the National Association of Independent Schools to be held in New York City March 5th to 7th. Miss Roorbach is head of the Mathematics and Science Departments at the school. With teachers from such well known preparatory schools as Exeter, Andover, Ethel Walker and Shipley, she will be discussing new methods of teaching in both areas of study.

The Colorado Springs School is offering a science curriculum.

The school teaches elementary biology in grade six, geology in grade seven and physiology in grade 10. Next year PSSC (Physical Science Study Committee) physics will be offered for juniors and seniors. These courses are taught personally by Miss Roorbach who came to the school from a position at the Lovelace Foundation where she did research on space physiology and conducted tests on the first group of astronauts.

Teaching classes are limited to 14 students so that all may participate and each individual can develop her potential aptitudes as rapidly as she is able.

In addition to science and modern mathematics, the curriculum includes French, started at the 6th grade level, and Latin, commenced in grade 8, along with English, history and the arts.

Entrance tests are required for admission.

A number of applicants are now registered for a second test to be held on March 14th.

A permanent development fund has been set up by the trustees of the school to meet the needs of the institution over the next three years and to look towards its future growth, authorities announced.

Local Cadets Are Promoted At Institute

Two local cadets are among those listed on the Commandant's List for the 1963-64 fall semester at the New Mexico Military Institute.

Sgt. William R. Wilson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward R. Wilson, 1814 N. Tejon St. and Pvt. Walter R. Hieronymus, son Mr. and Mrs. Edward H. Hieronymus, 807 Hercules Pl., both attained this honor roster by not having one mark or report against them for disciplinary behavior thruout the semester.

Wilson is a second classman (college freshman) at NMMI, while Hieronymus is a Fifth Classman (high school sophomore.).

BETWEEN THE LINES

by Loy Holman

Search in Vain

As said in the cliche factory, they must have broken the mold after he was created . . .

The rare one in mind is the late Judge Kenesaw Mountain Landis, long the strong-armed commissioner of baseball. Men have searched vainly for his likeness since the silver-topped ruler of the rosin bag and spikes hung 'em up for good.

Others have tried to step into his footsteps, including Albert (Happy) Chandler and the current appeaser of the purse-grabbing owners, Ford Frick. But they have hardly had the hardy hand it takes to run the show with the good of all coming first, last and always.

With the gradual but inevitable demise of baseball by slow choking of the supply lines (minor leagues), most everyone is quite well aware of the tragedy taking place for the lack of a real leader. But our erstwhile "national pastime" isn't the only sport crying for another Judge Landis.

Most recent among these misled groups is the vagabonds of the golfing set. For a long time they have hung out the shingle "Have Putter, Will Travel," and at least a few have been finding the end of that elusive rainbow that promises the pot of golf.

But as in the case of any sport that starts depending too much on the video camera to multiply that dough, eventually they will squeeze the goose a little too hard and she'll start dropping eggs of lead instead of gold.

In the midst of this weeks' squabble over the announcement that Professional Golfers' Association (PGA) was going to control the purse strings as far as TV proceeds were concerned, taking it out of the hands of the promoters. This, of course, brought on a howl of protest from the guys who do all the work of setting up the tournaments as naturally they would like to be the ones dishing out the green since they are the ones who have to pay the bills.

So up pops the one golfer who probably is more respected for his opinion than any other right now, Arnold Palmer. The general of Arnie's Army proclaimed that it was time the PGA had a czar to oversee any and all disagreements such as this. He feels that one of the golfers, which is now the case, is not unbiased in his judgment.

The rub is that there is no one available — such as Judge Landis.

Even closer to home, right in the most powerful schoolboy hockey league in the country, the same need certainly exists for one central figure with the ability to step between factions when they fail to see eye-to-eye. This has been pretty obvious since the very birth of the Western Collegiate Hockey Association back in 1951.

JERRY CARLE
Changes His Mind

Nearly all the troubles — including those prevailing at present — stem from the fact that there is little or no control over the members by the league. The teams span three conferences and an independent and all have their own separate ideas of what's best for all.

Thus, most of the coaches have taken a big stick in hand and have tried to force their will on the rest. Because there is nobody to tell them where to head in when they get out of line, they have done just about as they pleased.

For instance, when some of the coaches claimed that Denver University's Murray Armstrong was bounding over the line of propriety in building a near unbeatable combination with his far-flung recruiting, his answer was brief but to the point:

"I've broken no league rules."

Which is true as can be when it's realized that rules and regulations for this mis-begotten league are either so scarce or covered with dust so that no one can find them.

With members scattered between the Big Ten, Rocky Mountain Conference, North Dakota's North Central Conference, and Denver's independent status, it's little wonder that they can seldom jibe on what's legal and what isn't.

So actually when complaints pile up over the use of older, more experienced players, the lack of compulsory scheduling, or interpretation of the game rules, the member schools have nobody to blame but themselves. The coaches are the ones who set up this loosely tied circuit, evidently all thinking that was the way to get their own way.

The main difficulty at present is the inequality of talent which has developed thru difference in recruiting philosophy between nearly all members of the WCHA, and the boycott by certain teams against the perennial bully of the league.

Because Denver has persisted in bringing in the best players from wherever Armstrong can find them (which usually happens to be Canada), others have decided it's better to not play them at all rather than risk the reputation of their own programs. To get beat by an

Denver Sweeps Series From CC

By LOY HOLMAN
Gazette Telegraph Sports Editor

The big question in the Western Collegiate Hockey Association is not why have three of the seven league members refused to play Denver University this season, or why is it probable that two others will follow suit next season. Rather, it's why does Colorado College administration persist with plans to continue the series against the grain of the majority.

It was more than obvious than the 6-3 final count in favor of the invading Red Shirts from Denver that CC was out-classed as if in a contest between men and boys. The Tigers scored two late goals in the final period to narrow the score and it might have given the impression that the play was closer than it actually was.

This, of course, will be a continuing humiliation of CC as long as the school attepts to play its American dominated squad against the far-flung recruiting of Denver's Coach Murray Armstrong. But from all indications there will be no immediate end to this — which hardly will pump up the enthusiasm for ice hockey in Colorado Springs.

For the record as far as this game was concerned, Denver's 22-year-old Emory Sampson, a senior from Calgary, Alberta, scored a three-goal hat trick which was enough to equal the entire output of the Tigers. From the other end of the Broadmoor World Arena, CC's 20-year-old senior wing Johnny Simus had two-thirds of the Tigers scoring and he assisted on another to maintain the team's scoring lead for the season.

Also for the record, it was the 44th time in 69 games between these two in which Denver has come out the victor. Most of this wide margin in victories has come in the last half-dozen years as DU climbed to the top of the hill in college hockey and at the same time CC slipped from national champion to a struggler to stay out of the WCHA cellar.

The one reason these two do continue to play each other was shown in the attendance at Saturday's game, which appeared to be a round-figured 3,800 as no official gate number is kept at the World Arena. This was by far the biggest crowd of the season, despite bucking icy roads and a steady snow storm to get there.

But most of these made the journey all the way from Denver to see another Pioneer massacre — and there's some question as to how many from the Springs will return after seeing the Tigers plastered over the entire ice sheet.

The win put Denver a little closer to the league lead, now sitting pretty with a 6-1-1 record and 14-5-3 overall. It was DU's 10th win in the last 11 games, with one ending in a tie. CC's record stands at 3-9 in the WCHA and 11-12 overall with four more to play.

To reach the league playoff now would be a small miracle for the Tigers, while Denver is virtually assured one of the host berths in the four-team playoffs.

From the middle of the second period it was quite plain that a rout was on hand and it was just a matter of margin as the fans waited for the final 20 minutes of play. As was the case in Friday's 3-0 win for the Pioneers in Denver, the Tigers were in a mis-match and there was little they could do about it except wait for the contest to end.

Actually, there was only a few minutes of anxiousness for the CC partisans after Simus scored his first period tally to draw the Bengals to within one of the visitors. And that ended four minutes later when Denver pushed in their fourth goal of the night and from then on the dam had broken.

Andy Herrebout, a monster 6-3, 200-pound center for the Pioneers, opened the scoring less than three minutes deep into the game by backhanding a shot while roaring across the goal mouth from the left. Then, at the 5:27 mark, veteran Emory Sampson got his first of the night on a sharpshooter's play from 20 feet with an open target which goalie Art Warwick was unable to stop despite a high kick.

Then Simus gave the local fans a brief time to cheer, embarrassing as it was as the Tigers were a man short at the time. Denver was on the power play at the time, but the CC senior intercepted a pass to the point and skated in free on DU's touted goalie. He fired point blank and Buddy Blom had no chance.

The fun for Colorado College didn't last long, tho, and in the last minute of the first period the Pioneers' leading scorer, Billy Staub, broke up what had been a tight game to that point with a fluke goal that was partially stopped by Art Warwick, but slide under the seat on his pants and just across the goal line. CC had been at full strength for only 31 seconds following another penalty.

The Tigers still felt they were not out of it yet, however, and came back after the intermission with even more fire than at the start and actually put slight pressure on the Denver goal — something that hadn't been seen too often in this series, at least.

Two goals in the span of only 13 seconds found the mark against the Tigers with Ron Livingstone first bouncing one in off the goalie's pads on a blue darters from 10 feet away, and at the 12:19 point Sampson got his second of the evening as he caught the Tigers still trying to recover from the first of these quickies. Warwick was attempting to switch sides in the goal when it zipped past his arm.

CSU Defeats Air Force In Cage Thriller, 69-66

BY TOM CUSHMAN
Gazette Telegraph Sports Writer

Colorado State University used furnace-hot shooting to overcome a 43 point contribution by an Air Force combo of Johnny Judd and Roger Head and hand the Falcons a 69-66 setback before 1,385 fans at the Cadet Gymnasium Saturday night.

The slick upstate quintet, with sophomore sensation Lonnie Wright at the throttle, scorched the nets with a 53 per cent performance from the field to avenge a defeat by the same Air Force quintet at Fort Collins earlier in the campaign.

Wright, who soared high above the Falcon defenses to deposit the key buckets in the telling stretch run by the Rams, topped a well-balanced team effort by Jim Williams' club with 19 points. Terry Matthews, a 5-10 guard, had another 14 and lanky Dave Sigafoos added 13, all during a first half burst which saw him toss in one towering jump shot after another.

The contest followed the same exciting pattern of the earlier edition when the Falcons came out on top 48-46. The lead changed hands frequently with a margin of five points the largest enjoyed by either team.

Judd, the jet-propelled Air Force guard, threaded 23 points thru the cords to pace the Falcon attack but it was the inspired play of Head that nearly fired the AFA to a second conquest of the Rams. Head, a principal figure in the earlier Falcon win, riddled CSU with fine overhead shooting and inspired work on the backboards where he yanked away 12 rebounds, tops for either club.

With mammoth Sonny Bustion towering above the Air Force front line on the backboards and Sigafoos launching an amazing run of outcourt shooting, CSU sprang to an early lead. Two buckets by Bustion and an arching jumper by Sigafoos around a layup off the shuffle by Rich Porter gave the Rams a 6-2 margin just over two minutes into the contest.

The Falcons forced ties at 10-10 and 12-12 before another CSU spurt carried the Rams to a 20-15 advantage, which was to prove the largest either team could command during the first 20 minutes.

At that point the AFA began to pick up the pace, moving down floor quickly and Judd, who had 13 first half points, started shaking loose for jump shots from the creases. The Falcons pulled even again at 24-24 with 6:40 left on a Judd free throw and finally came up with their first lead of the evening at 30-28 as Scott Etnyre slipped around Wright and took a quick pass for an easy layup.

The Air Force had a 32-29 margin with 1:40 to go when the Rams put together a closing rush. Wright lofted a long jump shot thru the net and eight seconds later Bill Ellis dropped a charity throw to pull the Fort Collins team even. Matthews then provided the two point halftime cushion of 34-32 with a short twisting jumper from the right side with only eight seconds showing.

Rich Porter provided the AFA with a brief deadlock at 34-34 over a minute into the second half but Wright quickly fired in two goals and a free shot and Matthews another charity toss as the Rams surged to a 40-36 advantage with 16:58 left. Just as it seemed that CSU might be getting things in hand, back zipped the Falcons behind Head's three points and a pair of free throws to even it up at 44-44.

From there the Air Force winged to a 52-47 advantage as Judd scooted past Wright for a pair of layups and followed with two from the free shot line. But with the Falcons apparently moving out, the Rams picked up a transfusion from junior Bill Westoby who came off the bench to drop two straight field goals.

Wright provided the tying point and after Judd gave the Falcons one last lead at 56-54, Westoby and Matthews shot the Rams back on top with four straight conversions at the line. Judd brought the AFA even again but Wright and Matthews countered quickly with short jumpers to send the Rams out front to stay. CSU had a five point margin at 65-60 with just 2:08 left and after the Air Force had pulled within a single point with 28 seconds showing, Matthews salted it away by dipping a final pair of free tosses.

The defeat left the Falcons with an 11-9 record heading into their final three games. The Air Force's next venture is against Wyoming at Laramie next Saturday night and the team then closes out with a pair of early March contests against Denver U. and Oregon.

Missouri Stuns Oklahoma State

STILLWATER, Okla. (AP)— Bob Price hit 25 points to pace Missouri to a 70-63 victory over Oklahoma State here Saturday night in a Big Eight conference basketball game.

The Tigers scored five straight points late in the first half to take a 33-31 lead at intermission. They never trailed again and owned leads ranging up to 12 points in the second half.

Price, a 6-2 guard, and 6-7 Ray Bob Carey were the big guns for Missouri. Price scored 15 points.

Oklahoma State had four players scoring in double figures with 6-7 Gene Johnson leading the way with 15.

The loss was the third straight in Big Eight play for the Cowboys and leaves them on the brink of elimination from the conference race with a 5-4 record.

Wasson Finishes Second In State Swim Meet

ADAMS CITY (AP) — George Washington of Denver was the appropriate winner Saturday of the Colorado High School swimming champions at Adams City High School.

The Patriots ended South Denver's two-year reign by scoring 78½ points to outduel Wasson High of Colorado Springs which ran second with 61. Defending champion South was a distant fourth with 21 points behind Thomas Jefferson's 32.

Bruce Teschner of Wasson won the 50- and 100-yard freestyle races. The only other double winner was Tom Chamberlain of South who captured the 200-yard freestyle and the 100-yard butterfly.

Other team scores were Colorado Springs Palmer 20, Abraham Lincoln 16, Cherry Creek 15½, East Denver 15, Englewood 10, Greeley College High 9, North Denver 6, Fort Collins 4, Air Force Academy High 3, Adams City 2, Aurora Central 2.

Bucs Storm Past Denver Lutheran

St. Mary's Pirates made a clean sweep in their last two outings when the Buccaneers destroyed visiting Denver Lutheran, 63-47, Saturday night in non-league play.

The Pirates host St. Francis today to conclude their three-game marathon this weekend. Today's contest is slated for the St. Mary's gymnasium beginning at 2:30.

Sam Zavatti led the Bucs in scoring as the junior forward dumped in 14 points for a winning cause. Ralph Layman and David Grantz contributed 11 and 10 points respectively.

The defending Denver Parochial League kingpins jumped out to take a 15-6 first period lead and the St. Mary's cagers continued that pace thruout the contest as Dan Wright utilized this non-league game to give experience to his bench.

With third place in final DPL standings and a berth in the State Parochial League in mind, the Pirates conclude their league slate next weekend with a pair of tilts. The Bucs host Mt. Carmel on Friday and Sunday the Colorado Springs' team swings north to battle lowly Cathedral.

Adams State Pounds Out Win Over CSC

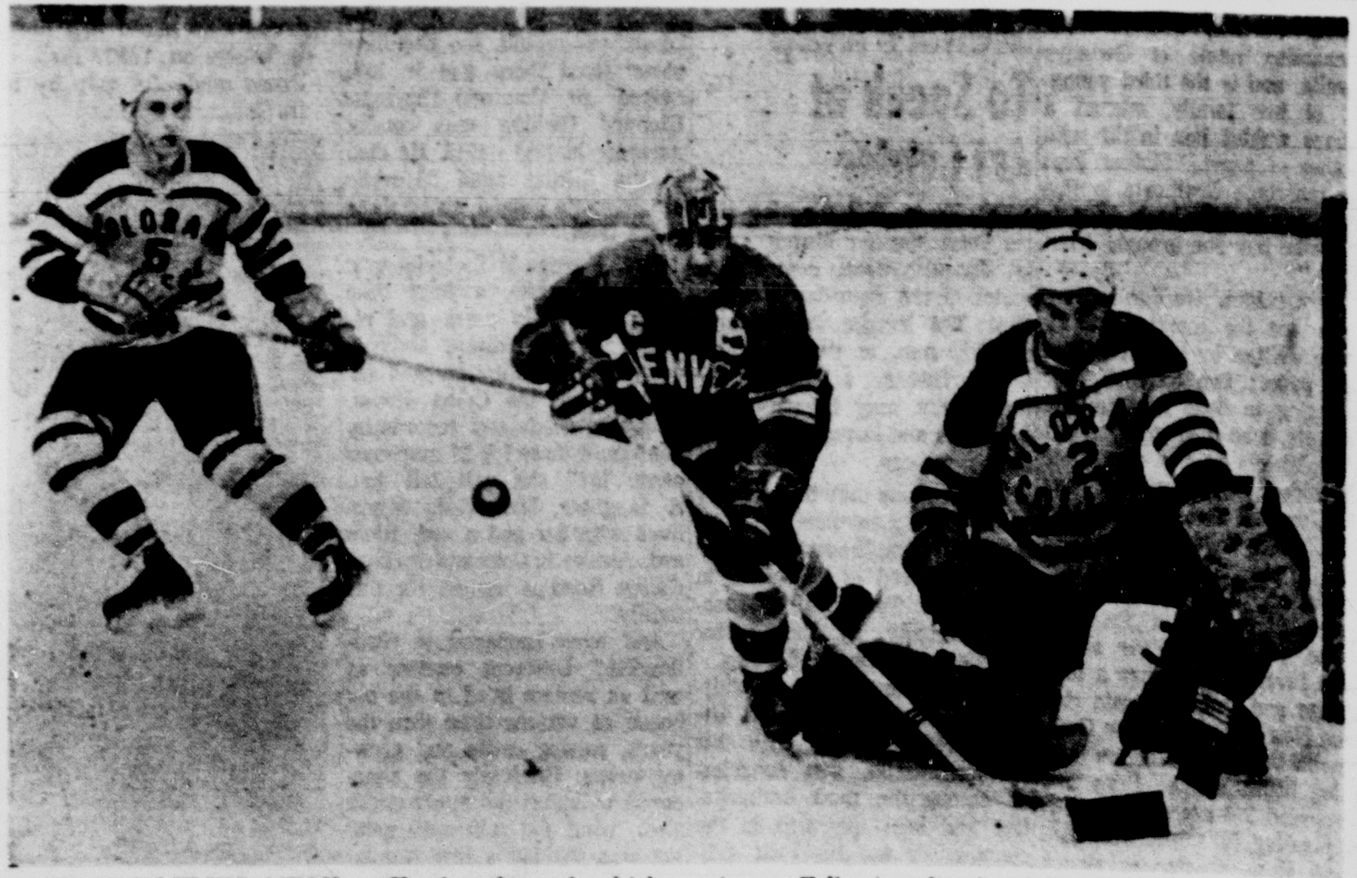
ALAMOSA (AP) — Adams State whipped Colorado State College 84-75 Saturday to snap their tie for the Rocky Mountain Conference basketball lead.

Adams is 9-1 and C-State is 8-2.

The Indians were in front by as much as 11 points before Colorado State pulled into a 57-57 tie with 11 minutes to play.

Successive baskets by Bob Kincaid and Lonnie Porter touched off an Adams State rally that sent the Indians rolling to victory.

Dick Buck of Adams took the scoring honors with 30. Porter contributed 26. Ed Briscoe led C-State with 24.



THE PUCK FLIES AWAY — Chasing the puck which is in mid-air after being turned aside by Colorado College goalie Art Warwick, is Denver University's Dominic Fragomeni (16) in this action during Saturday night's hockey game at the Broadmoor World Arena. Following the play for CC is winger Dave Palm (5). This one was saved by Warwick, but too many others got thru as the Pioneers swept the two-game series from the Tigers with a 6-3 victory before a large crowd. (Gazette Telegraph Photo)

TRINOVID BINOCULARS

Creators of the world-famous Leica camera have perfected a new prism system that dramatically reduces binocular size and weight. It's the first truly significant binocular advancement in fifty years. The Trinovid 6x24 panoramic 636-foot-wide viewing field at 1000 yards is an amazing 40% larger than conventional models. The 8x32 and even the 10x40 are more compact than conventional glasses of much lower power. And all Trinovid models have fast-action central focusing, are hermetically sealed, dustproof and absolutely waterproof.

BETWEEN THE LINES

outrageous margin certainly is not conducive to gate receipts in later games.

It's reported that next year both North Dakota and Michigan Tech will join the Big Ten schools, Minnesota, Michigan and Michigan State, in refusal to schedule Denver. That would mean that only Colorado College would continue to play the Pioneers — and it would the same as expel DU from the league and probably mean the end of hockey at the school since there is hardly anyone else to play.

CC Athletic Director Jerry Carle claims that this is the only way out. He feels that compulsory scheduling would be bad for the league in general, altho he intends to continue playing all members with which the Tigers are associated.

"I once thought it was bad not to have compulsory scheduling for all league teams," Carle said. "But now I'm convinced that it's the only thing that can keep other members in line. If they don't conform to what the majority wants then all we have to do is stop playing them.

"As for Denver and Murray Armstrong, all I can say is that he's done a great job of what he's been trying to do — win games. But that doesn't say that we have to play under his rules and if we don't like it we can stop playing his teams."

Carle pointed out that the Western Hockey Association isn't the only league which doesn't compel its members to play all others. Also in this category are the Big Ten in all sports and also the Southeastern Conference, which can't possibly schedule all of its 12 schools against each other in a short season like football.

In each of these cases, the only title awarded is a "newspaper championship" just for comparison of teams. The conferences do not designate a champion, officially.

This may be one answer to the need for a strong-armed commissioner who would rule with justice. But it hardly takes the place of Judge Landis.

Monument Nets 14th Cage Win

MONUMENT — The Lewis Palmer basketball team recorded its 14th straight victory this season with a 67-34 triumph over the visiting Colorado Deaf and Blind team Saturday night in non-league play.

Danny Pierce tossed in 18 points for the winning squad with Ronnie Slayter hitting nine for the D&B cagers.

AFA Tankers, Grapplers Post Wins

The Air Force Academy swim team bounced back from a loss Friday to Oklahoma when the Falcon tankers scored a triple dual meet victory Saturday at the Cadet pool.

The AFA swimmers toppled Colorado College 83-12 and dumped Texas Tech 63-33, while Texas Tech dropped CC, 80-15.

Meanwhile, the AFA wrestling team slipped past UCLA, 16-14. The Falcon's sophomore heavyweight, Frank Salat, pinned Greg McMillian in 55 seconds to highlight the match and record the AFA's fourth consecutive victory. Prior to the heavyweight match, the Falcons were down.

In the other two falls, Cadet Joe Smith pinned Jay Crenshaw in 3:31 and UCLA's Rahim Javanmard pinned Mark Mutchler in 2:27.

Paul Maxwell, 16 and one of the nation's youngest jockeys who has been riding at Hialeah this winter, has his father book his mounts.

Broadmoor's New Look

The Broadmoor Golf Club is such a superb blending of plush hostelry and eye-catching topography that even the worst of duffers cannot take his misfortunes on the course too seriously!

This combination of a scenic salve for erratic swingers plus a place to cry in comfort is not confined to the Broadmoor — but there are few sites where it is practiced more artistically. Here is the perfect accommodation for persons who prefer to lose golfs balls in style.

Consider the facts. Slicing a drive into Cheyenne Mountain can almost be a pleasant experience. The imaginative golfer, if properly equipped, can even get in some delightful camera work while hunting. Knocking a putt off one of those lush greens is less disturbing when one peers out across the plains and realizes he can see halfway to Kansas.

And there's definitely something soothing about standing up-to-your-shoelaces in carpeting while performing post-round rituals at the club bar.

With such assets it naturally follows that the Broadmoor attracts a fair representation of the nation's wealthier golf enthusiasts. Summertime tournaments have occasionally brought in some of the better amateurs but the Championship 18 has also played host to assortments of real amateurs, some of whom could hit a ball further with a ping-pong paddle than a golf club.

Since the primary function of the hotel is the entertainment of guests, well-heeled hackers will always be a frequent sight on Broadmoor fairways. But in recent months there has been a younger, more vital element moving in as well and if the trend continues this local spa could become a haven for the world's finest amateur tournaments.

If this sounds over-ambitious, consider the events of the past few months. Not necessarily in sequence, the announcement came of an international team championship preceding the World Senior Tournament. Its success, and indications are that it will attract an even larger field this summer, finally put the World Seniors on solid footing. With the team play bringing in foreign golfers who will remain for the second event, the tournament is headed toward becoming the finest of its type.

The Broadmoor Golf Club also picked up three nationally known women amateurs as members. Judy Bell, Barbara McIntire, and Jean Ashley are all on the roles and with their aid, plus a concerted committee effort, the Women's Invitational has suddenly acquired new stature. Natasha Fife, who won that tourney, is currently ranked 10th among lady amateurs by Golf Digest magazine, strictly on the basis of that victory.

In addition Golf Digest favored Miss Bell with a ranking of eighth and Miss McIntire with ninth. Overall, eight of the 10 top-ranked women, including the top two of Anne Welts and Nancy Roth, played their trade at the Broadmoor last summer.

Thayer Tutt, whose attention span somehow stretches around the majority of the globe, performed the behind-the-scenes manipulation to pump up the Women's Invitational and then, in another master stroke, landed Dow Finsterwald as his Club Professional following the untimely death of Ed Dudley.

Finsterwald, a dapper, glib member of the pro tour, has separated promoters from large quantities of their prize money in the past decade. In addition to collecting fat bankrolls, Finsterwald specializes in the particular type of charm which is certain to erect a new image for Broadmoor golf while not offending the paying customers who may have preferred the old.

Now, as a front line aide for this task, Finsterwald has enlisted another smooth symbol of the professional ranks. Roger Pedigo slipped into the top assistant's job at the Golf Club with a minimum of fanfare several weeks ago, and apparently is patroling the limited wintertime activities with a maximum of efficency. His suave mannerisms assure him of being a popular substitute for Finsterwald while Dow is out picking up large chucks of the money overlooked by Arnold Palmer and Jack Nicklaus on the pro tour.

* * *

Pedigo is an almost perfect image of a successful club professional. A refugee from the pro tour, he qualifies as a choice conversation companion for dues-paying members who are looking for something resembling golf in their swings. Pedigo's close association with the top names of the game has left him with a virtual reservoir of information concerning everything right down to the size of Arnie's socks. This type of convivial companionship has a near cathartic effect on hackers of all ages.

Pedigo does have an enviable background. He is a Class "A" member of the PGA and en route to the Broadmoor was at the Inwood Country Club in Long Island; then replaced Ed Furgol at the Westwood Country Club in St. Louis; and most recently was associated with Palmer at the Country Club of Miami, Fla.

Roger's conversation flows like a good swing. He has charter membership in both the Palmer and Nicklaus fan clubs and a wealth of choice tidbits concerning their rivalry. "There are several players on the tour who are better golfers than Arnie," Pedigo says. "But no one has more desire. Arnie really wants to be the best golfer in the world; he's one of the few who's actually rather have the win than the money."

As for recent talk that the saturation of cash may kill the incentive of the top two, Pedigo says "possibly" for Nicklaus, "definitely no" for Palmer. "Jack had everything come a little easier and he might accumulate too much, too fast. But Palmer will never quit giving it everything he has as long as he can swing a club."

That's the sort of talk that's available round the Broadmoor Golf Club these days, which leads me to believe that it will become an increasingly popular stopoff — both for visitors and touring amateurs.

Thayer Tutt, the quiet-unassuming force behind the operation, could probably successfully promote a match between Barry Goldwater and Fidel Castro if he was so inclined. At present, however, he appears to be satisfied with merely refurbishing Broadmoor gold.

The task would seem to be nearly complete.

THREE ATHLETIC TRANSFERS

GRAND FORKS, N. D. (AP)—The University of North Dakota has picked up three transfer students, all athletes, from major universities.

They are trackman Aaron Jermunsdor, who has attended the University of Arizona; hockey goalie Mike Curran, from the University of Minnesota, and Eddie Moore, a 6-foot-2 basketball player from Bradley University.

Terrors Score Decisive Win Over Cross-Town Rival, Wasson

By DICK FOSTER

Palmer's Terrors performed up to, if not above par Saturday night to smother their cross town rival, Wasson in every facet of basketball. The result was a convincing win by the Tribe, 51-41, and Coach Gerry Schroeder and his Terrors rest with gotten revenge.

It was strictly a team effort on Palmer's part. The Terrors, who have been troubled with inconsistency in their performances, especially in the form of second half breakdowns, had no worries Saturday, as they stormed over the Palmer gym floor with a calm, and very effective pattern offense and a defense that stuck to Wasson's fast-break efforts like a coat of paint. The T-Birds were completely outgunned, and most of Palmer's fire power came in the opening half.

The Palmer group has played their best ball in the first half thruout the season, and there was no exception Saturday. The Tribe bombed away to hold a 20 point margin at halftime, 30-10. In the opening half, the Terrors pumped in 10 of 25 field goal shots.

Wasson on the other hand has shooting troubles, and if those weren't enough, Palmer's net of defense was. The 'Birds got off 29 first half shots, most of which were from a distance outside of the key. If an occasional Wasson cager did manage to scale the four man defensive wall set up by Palmer, his shot was usually jammed right back at him by the Terrors' movable tower, Bobby Joe Williams. Wasson ended up with two field goals in the half, for 6.8 per cent.

The T-Bird's luck at the charity line was little better. They connected on four of 14 attempts, while their counterparts hit 10 of 12. In rebounding too, Palmer held the edge, 25-18.

The second half saw Wasson storm back, but for the first time in a long time, the Terrors remained completely level-headed, and played business-like, time consuming ball. That wasn't what Wasson had bargained for.

Along with Williams' superb defensive effort of 16 rebounds and a score of blocked shots, Walt Hylton, Mike Romero, and Alan Snyder put in laudable performances for the Tribe. Hylton's eye from the corner gave him top scoring honors with 16 points and Snyder was an 11 pointer. Romer's eight points, along with his ability to keep the tribe at a reasonable pace, was another vital contribution. John Wickham was the top T-Bird with 13 points, and he was followed by Jim Smith's 11. Charlie Steele lost the battle of the boards, grabbing 11 rebounds to Williams' 16 caroms for the Terrors.

Palmer's first quarter gave the cold shooting Wassonites little room to warm up. It took both squads time to warm up, but it was the Tribe that hit first and hardest. Palmer opened scoring at 4:43 in the quarter on two Walt Hylton free shots, and the margin grew from there with Hylton at the lead with a six point first quarter contribution. Wasson didn't dent the scorebooks until 1:50 remained in the period, when Smith sunk a free throw. That period ended up a lopsided 15-3.

It was the same variety of barrage in the second quarter that was dished out in the opening frame by the Palmer five. Wasson managed to warm up somewhat, but the hot-hitting Tribe was way ahead of them, and stormed to the second half horn with all guns blazing.

For awhile in the third period it looked like the Terrors were going to let Wasson slip out of grasp. The Thunderbirds were setting a blistering pace in a comeback attempt. Palmer slipped for a short while and the Wassoners chopped nine points of lead off the Terrors' 20 point halftime bulge. Six points by Smith and another four by Wickham contributed to the Birds best quarter, which saw 17 Wasson points scored. Palmer sputtered with their lowest quarter output, nine.

Jerry Schroeder managed to cool his Tribe off and their pace slowed down. Wasson saw comeback hopes coming into view, but then lost sight of them as they fouled away at stalling Palmer. Besides the fouls, Wasson's anxiety led to numerous floor mistakes which cost them the ball and several valuable chances.

Palmer's performance was proof that they do not belong one step out of the cellar.

In other South Central League action, Central clinched the loop trophy and a shot at State with an 84-72 victory over Pueblo Centennial, and Grand Junction peeped out of the SCL cellar only to be shoved back in by Pueblo East 52-42.

Widefield Tops Ranum To Highlight PPL

Tom Petersen's Gladiators scored a decisive 64-57 non-league victory over Class-AAA Iver Ranum Saturday night on their home court as the Widefield win highlighted the non-loop slate.

In other games Saturday, the Pikes Peak League champion from Cheyenne Mountain dropped visiting Pueblo Catholic 62-54; Salida posted a victory over Leadville, 83-66; and Florence eked out a decision over Walsenburg, 79-53.

Altho the Widefield aggregation fell short in the opening period 17-8, the Gladiators stormed from behind to write a 32-29 first half lead. The Gladiators wrapped up the contest with 13 and 19 points in the last two periods.

Dick Stevenson spearheaded the Widefield triumph with 17 points followed by Chuck Rushmer's 16 points. For the visiting Raiders, 6-8 Terry Wells and brother Kirby, hit for 16 and 18 points respectively.

Don O'Hare's Cheyenne cagers recorded their 13th victory this roundball campaign compared to only two losses as Bill Massarand launched the victory with 17 points. Gary Graham added a dozen points to the winning cause while Joe Folk dumped in 11. Cheyenne lead thruout the entire game as they dominated the scoring against the visiting Pueblo Catholic roundballers.

David Zamarripa collected 26 points to pace the way for Coach Tom Gribben's Huskies as Florence jumped out ahead 20-12 at the conclusion of the first period to thrash Walsenburg. Altho the Panthers came within a 46-43 margin late in the third period, the Florence squad poured on the power to clinch the win.

Salida's towering post, 6 - 7 John Lantz, tossed in 34 points to lead the Spartans past Leadville. Jack Hosley accumulated 21 points for the Panthers.

Kansas State Wallops Kansas, 70-46

LAWRENCE, Kan. (AP)—Willie Murrell led Kansas State in another important step toward the Big Eight basketball title as the Wildcats walloped Kansas 70-46 before 16,000 spectators Saturday night.

Murrell, outstanding in all departments, scored 26 points and speared 17 rebounds.

The 24-point spread was the worst defeat for Kansas in their series since Kansas State won 70-45 at Manhattan in 1962.

K-State led 25-20 at the half but with Murrell and Roger Suttner leading the way, the Wildcats outscored the Jayhawks 11-0 the first three minutes of the second half and coasted in.

George Unseld, pressing Murrell for the Big Eight scoring title, was high for Kansas with 20 points. He was the only Jayhawk to get more than nine points.

Suttner and Max Moss each made 10 for Kansas State. Coach Tex Winter used substitutes liberally.

The victory left Kansas State 8-2 in first place, while Kansas fell to 5-6. The crowd was the largest in the field house since the 17,000 K. U.-K-State sellout in 1961.

Colorado Mines Slips Past Western State

GOLDEN (AP) — Colorado Mines pulled into a third-place tie with Western State in the Rocky Mountain Conference basketball league by beating the Mountaineers 51 - 49 Saturday night.

Mines grabbed a 46-40 decision over Western the night before. Both teams now have 6-8 won-lost marks.

The score changed hands five times and was tied on nine occasions with the biggest point margin twice being four points.

Snead Maintains Lead In Seniors Tourney

By OSCAR FRALEY
UPI Sports Writer

PALM BEACH GARDENS, Fla. (UPI) — Slammin' Sammy Snead birdied the final hole with a four-foot putt Saturday for a one-over-par 36-37—73 and a 208 total which gave him a two-stroke lead at the end of the third round of the PGA Seniors golf championship.

Playing in an almost steady rain, Leland (Duke) Gibson of Kansas City, Mo., shot an even par 35-37—72 for 210 which left him two shots back with only Sunday's final round remaining in the chase for the Teachers' Trophy.

Meanwhile, veteran E. J. (Dutch) Harrison of St. Louis roared up out of the pack with a three-under-par 35-34—69 and a 211, which put him within three strokes of the lead. These three seemed the only ones with a chance for the championship, as after that there was a two-shot gap to where Dick Shoemaker of Cleveland with a 73 and John Barnum of Grand Rapids, Mich., with a 71 stood at 213.

Snead had more than his share of trouble in seeking the Seniors title for the first time and moaned bitterly about his putting after opening rounds of 67 and 78 over the 6,600-yard tough east course at the PGA national headquarters.

He matched par all the way out then bogeyed the 12th and 14th with erratic drives. But on the 395-yard par four 18th, he hit his eight iron approach four feet from the cup and holed it for his only birdie on the day.

But it did help him to stretch his lead to two strokes over Gibson.

Duluth Skier Wins Jumping Championship

By CHARLES CHAMBERLAIN
Associated Press Sports Writer

ISHPEMING, Mich. (AP) — Gene Kotlarek of Duluth, breaking the Suicide Hill distance record by two feet on his last attempt with 253 foot jump, won the Paul Bietila Memorial Campionship Saturday in a preview of the National Ski Jumping Championships.

Kotlarek, a 23-year-old accountant whose 24th finish topped the U.S. ski jumping team in the recent Winter Olympics, battled a stiff head wind in making two sensational jumps of 242 and 253 feet.

The tournament, drawing about 5,000 spectators, was held in honor of one of the famous six Bietila brothers. Paul died as a result of a ski jumping accident in St. Paul, Minn., in 1939.

But the climax of the weekend at this northern snow-bound village will be the national championships Sunday in which Kotlarek is defending champion.

Another U.S. Olympic team member, 34-year-old Ansten Samuelsteun of Steamboat Springs, Colo., who was 33rd at Innsbruck, finished second on the 75-meter Suicide Hill with leaps of 247 and 235.

One of the United States' main hopes in the Olympics who was a disappointing 41st, John Balfanz of Minneapolis, hauled down third place after a redeeming last jump of 248 feet.

In his first attempt, he went 206 feet after momentarily losing control in the crosswinds harrasing the riders.

Another surprise in the field, that included only these three U.S. Olympic team members who returned to this country while the rest of their buddies remained in Europe for competition, was Paul Johnson of Iron Mountain, Mich., who displayed fine form in soaring 225 and 232 feet for his two jumps.

Mongo Wins Race At Hialeah

HIALEAH, Fla. (UPI) — Mongo, Mrs. Marion DuPont Scott's 1963 grass champion, found Hialeah's mud to his liking Saturday and won the $130,000 Widener handicap in a stretch battle with Sunrise Flight and Admiral Vic.

Little M Farm's Sunrise Flight, a horse that is not supposed to like the sloppy conditions he found at rain-drenched Hialeah on this damp, chilly day, finished only a head behind Mongo.

Sunny Blue Farm's Admiral Vic, who beat both Mongo and Sunrise Flight in the $50,000 Seminole handicap two weeks ago, was third another two lengths back.

Despite the track conditions, Mongo ran the mile and one-quarter in 2:01 and 1-5, considered excellent time.

The big chestnut son of Royal Charger was favored by the crowd of 27,008 and paid $7.60, $4.80 and $3.40 for a $2 bet across the board. Sunrise Flight returned $4.60 and $3.20 for place and show while Admiral Vic, the runnerup choice, paid $3.00 for show.

Wyoming Topples Miners in Track

GOLDEN, Colo. (AP) — Herman Robinson, Jerry Sappell and Mike Gregoris scored double victories Saturday to lead Wyoming to a 91-31 victory over Colorado Mines in an indoor track meet.

Robinson won the 60 and 220 yard dashes. Sappell finished first in high and low hurdles. Gregoris copped the one and two mile runs.

Liston-Clay Bout Hailed Richest, Wackiest Fight

By JACK CUDDY

MIAMI BEACH (UPI) — Champion Sonny Liston, a burly, huge-fisted veteran with a devastating left hook, will defend his heavyweight crown Tuesday night against unbeaten but amateurish Cassius Clay, whose mouth seemed much mightier than his mitts in training.

When Clay finished his 151 rounds of sparring on Friday for this rich fight in the Miami Beach Convention Hall, his showings in training generally had been so poor — compared to those of the champion — that Liston was favored at 7-1.

This scheduled 15-round bout has been hailed as the richest and wackiest in ring history. Its gross receipts from all sources — live gate, theater, TV, radio, etc. — are expected to exceed an unprecedented $5 million.

Co-promoters Bill MacDonald and Chris Dundee of Miami beach may lose money because they "bought" the live fight for $625,000 and they must draw more than $800,000 at the 16,448-seat convention hall in order to break even. Their advance is only about $350,000. Tickets range from $20 to $250, the most expensive for a non-charity boxing show in ring history.

Closed circuit television to locations in the United States and Canada probably will approximate an unprecedented $4-million for the 1,103,451 seats available.

There has been a let-down in enthusiasm for this fight because of Clay's monotonous monologues about his being "the greatest" of all heavyweights, his poor showings in training and the unconfirmed reports that he belongs to the Black Muslims.

Although Cassius boasts 19 straight victories as a professional, including 15 knockouts, he is generally given little chance against 30-year-old Liston because of the champion's smashing left hook, his improved right and his bulldozer ruggedness.

Clay — despite his speed afoot — does not get his body into his punches like Sonny does. Nor does he have the champion's defensive bob and rampart of powerful arms and fists. Nor does he take a punch like Sonny, who never was floored.

This will be the champion's second defense of the title he wrested from Floyd Patterson on a first-round knockout at Chicago, Sept. 25, 1962, and retained on a repeat first-round kayo over Patterson in their return title fight at Las Vegas, Nev., last July 22. The times of those two title kayoes were 2:06 at Chicago and 2:10 at Las Vegas.

Just before his first title fight with Patterson, Sonny belted out Albert Westphal of Germany at Philadelphia in 1:58 of the first round. Thus his three latest victories required a total of only six minutes and 14 seconds.

Clay and trainer Angelo Dundee claim that only six minutes and 14 seconds of fighting in slightly more than two years will cause Sonny to lose his crown Tuesday night because "there's no substitute for competition to keep a fighter sharp."

The brash challenger says, "I'll knock out that big ugly bear in the eighth round."

Liston predicts a third-round kayo over the challenger. That would be his fourth straight knockout, his 29th consecutive victory and his 36th win in 37 bouts. He has scored 25 kayoes.

Tickets Available for City Auditorium Showing

A brand new 20-foot screen was installed in the City Auditorium Saturday afternoon for use in the closed-circuit telecast of Tuesday night's Heavyweight Championship fight from Miami Beach, Fla., between champion Sonny Liston and challenger Cassius Clay.

In addition to the new screen, there will also be a new projector used for the telecast, which should produce a fine, clear picture of the fight thruout the Auditorium.

There are still a few choice seats left for the viewing, altho orders have been coming in rapidly, according to the promoter. Colorado Springs is the only city in southern Colorado which will have the fight telecast, and many fans are expected from Pueblo and other cities to the south. Denver is the only other site in the state which will carry the fight.

Tickets are currently on sale at two locations in Colorado Springs: Blick's Sporting Goods Store, 119 N. Tejon St., and Ring Military Store, 122½ E. Pikes Peak Ave.

Hayes Sets Indoor Track Meet Record at N.Y.

By BOB GREEN
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Bulky Bob Hayes, big enough to play fullback at Florida A&M, bolted to an indoor record of 5.9 seconds Saturday night in winning the 60-yard dash at the National AAU Indoor Track and Field Championships.

The Florida flash, billed as the "World's Fastest Human," pulled away in the final strides and beat Charles Green, Lincoln, Neb., by about two feet.

Two officials caught him in 5.9 the third in 6 flat.

Hayes, who has a time of 9.1 pending recognition for the 100-yard dash outdoors, had equalled the indoor 60 mark of six seconds flat four times this season. He won his semifinal in 6.1 Saturday.

Just moments before his big run, veteran Hayes Jones of Detroit scored his 53rd consecutive indoor hurdles victory, taking the 60-yard highs in 7 seconds flat.

Charlie Mays of New York's Grand Street Boys Club upset Ralph Boston and won the broad jump with a leap of 26 feet, 1½ inches.

Tammy Davis of Frederick, Md., equalled the women's indoor record with a time of 6.7 seconds in the women's 50-yard hurdles.

Texas Tech Slips Past SMU, 94-83

LUBBOCK, Tex. (UPI)—Texas Tech, led by the late first half sharpshooting of Harold Denney, overtook Southern Methodist Saturday after a first half dominated by the Mustangs and whipped SMU 94-83.

The win left the Red Raiders in second place in the hot Southwest Conference race, one game behind Texas A&M.

Denney, started hitting just before the half and ended up with 27 points, 18 of them before the intermission.

Dub Malaise added 18 points for the Raiders, who played the same five men the entire game with never a substitute.

For the Mustangs, Jim Brockman led with 21 points, followed by Bill Ward and Gene Elmore, both of whom hit 18.

Seven Men Attempt To Buy KC Franchise

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (UPI)—A group of seven financial and business executives, seeking home ownership of the Kansas City Athletics, announced plans to incorporate Saturday and negotiate for the purchase of the American League club.

If they win the right to buy it, they said they would finance the transaction by a public offer of stock in the franchise.

Their action came less than 24 hours after the American League voted to take steps to expel Athletics owner Charles O. Finley from baseball. If the league expelled Finley, it would put the Athletics franchise up for sale.

The seven incorporators said their primary goal was to assure home ownership of the embattled Athletics franchise, which Finley has been threatening to move for the past three years. The Athletics have had two out-of-town owners, both from Chicago, since they were brought here in 1955 from Philadelphia. The club has been operated here under the cloud of possible transfer by both Finley and its previous owner, the late Arnold Johnson.

"The grounds well of interest by many people in Kansas City and the surrounding area prompted the idea of a public stock sale to insure once and for all local ownership" the incorporators said in a statement announcing their intentions.

They noted that stock also has been sold publicly in the Baltimore Orioles of the American League and the Milwaukee Braves of the National League.

Bernard D. Craig, attorney and one of the seven incorporators, said the articles of incorporation would be filed early next week with Secretary of State Warren E. Hearnes.

"After we receive our charter of corporation," said Craig, "we then will be in a position to begin negotiations with the American League for purchasing the club."

Fourth-Ranked Duke Romps Over Maryland

DURHAM, N. C. (AP) — Duke's fourth - ranked basketball team romped to an 84-63 victory over Maryland Saturday afternoon to clinch first place in the regular season Atlantic Coast Conference race.

By scoring their 11th victory in 12 ACC starts the Blue Devils clinched top seeding in the championship tournament opening March 5 at Raleigh.

Jeff Mullins got 27 points and Jay Buckley added 24 to lead the Duke rout of the Terrapins, who slumped to sixth place with a 5-7 league record. Buckley grabbed 19 rebounds and Mullins 18 as Duke held a 52-27 edge off the boards.

Schaeffler Blames Coaches for Poor Showing

WINTER PARK, Colo. (UPI) —University of Denver Ski Coach Willy Schaeffler criticized the coaching of the U.S. Alpine ski team at the Winter Olympic games Saturday, charging skiers were subjected to "too much pressure."

Marvin Melville of Salt Lake City, Utah University ski coach who assisted U.S. Alpine Coach Bob Beattie in the Olympics, retorted that Schaeffler's remarks were "sour grapes."

Beattie is University of Colorado ski coach, and Schaeffler's long-standing rival in the field of collegiate competition.

Schaeffler said the pressure to win was "bad for the team."

"The men made a miserable showing in the downhill and giant slalom, and if it hadn't been for the slalom, the entire affair would have been disastrous," he said.

He also blamed coaches for Jean Saubert's 26th place showing in the downhill. He said Miss Saubert, who won two medals in the slalom races, finished poorly in the downhill because of poor waxing and blamed it on misjudgment of the snow conditions by Beattie and Melville.

Melville retorted:

"It's common knowledge that Schaeffler wanted the Olympic coaching job and when he didn't get it he found fault with everything connected with the team."

Du's Valkama Captures Ski Jumping Crown

WINTER PARK, Colo. (UPI) — Aarne Valkama of Denver edged Frithjof Prydz of Utah for the jumping title in the Rocky Mountain Intercollegiate Ski Association championships Saturday to keep Denver firmly in the lead in the combined standings.

Valkama chalked up 220.2 points in the best two of his three jumps, compared to Prydz's 218.5. The Utah skier had the longest jump of the day, however, a 156-foot flight. Valkama's longest jump was 153 feet.

Prydz was pressed hard by Wyoming's Doug Dion, who scored 218.1 for third place.

With three of four events completed in the NCAA qualifying meet, defending NCAA champion Denver led with 284.40 points. Western State (Colo.) was second with 278.56, Colorado had 268.42, Wyoming 268.31, Utah 257.33, Air Force 233.46 and Colorado School of Mines 167.40.

The meet ends Sunday with the slalom. The cross - country and downhill races were held Friday. Valkama's showing in the jumping and the cross-country won him the Nordic combined title with 192.7 points to 181.8 to runnerup Prydz.

Jumping: 1. Aarne Valkama, Denver, 220.2; 2. Frithjof Prydz, Utah, 218.5; 3. Doug Dion, Wyoming, 218.1; 4. Tom Upham, Colorado, 202.3; 5. Loris Werner, Western State, 197; 6. Elliott, Wyoming, 189.1; 7. Erick Jansen, Denver, 184.6; 8. Dave Engen, Utah, 182.7; 9. Jim Bajari, Colorado, 180.2; 10. Jim Balfanz, Western State, 180.1.

Junior Ski Races Set For Next Sunday

The annual Kiwanis-Pikes Peak junior ski races will be held next Sunday, March 8, it was announced today by Pete Tyree, project chairman for the Colorado Springs Kiwanis club.

Any student, boy or girl, thru the 12th grade, is eligible to enter in the traditional spring event at the Pikes Peak ski area. Co-sponsor of the program is the Sno-Jet ski club.

First, second, and third prize trophies will be awarded in the several standard junior classifications. Previous racing experience is not necessary, Tyree emphasized.

Entry blanks should be submitted prior to the race and may be picked up at Blick's, Lucas, or Sport, Inc. The entry fee is $2.50 for a classified racer, and $1 for all others.

Planned to encourage interest in winter sports, the competition each year attracts youthful skiers from thru-out the Rocky Mountain area. The Pikes Peak ski area, site of the event, is at Mile Post 11 on the famous Pikes Peak highway, and is open to the public for skiing every Saturday and Sunday. There will be no charge for spectators at the junior races.

Johnson Wins Berth On U.S. Team

Steve Johnson went to a gymnastics meet as a spectator last December and won a place on the United States trampoline team that will tour South Africa.

Johnson, a physical education teacher and gymnastics coach at Palmer High School, spent part of his Christmas holiday attending the Western States Gymnastics Clinic in Tucson. When he went, he had no intention of competing, but once in Tuscon, he changed his mind, entered the trampoline event, and won second place.

The former Michigan State athlete, however, was far from being a novice on the trampoline. During his student days he was named to the All-American gymnastics team and in the National Collegiate Athletic Association meet.

As a result of his Tucson showing, the United States Gymnastics Federation named Johnson, along with Frank Schmitz of Southern Illinois University and Nancy Smith of the University of Illinois to the U. S. team. After a week of training in Chicago, the gymnasts and their manager leave March 9 for South Africa.

Their first match is scheduled for March 12 and 13 in Durban, followed by the South African Games, March 14, in Johannesburg. Other exhibitions and meets will take the team to Grahamstown, Cape Town, Pretoria, and other major cities.

One puprose of the tour, Johnsons says, is to gain wider acceptance for trampoline competition. At present trampoline events are not included in international meets. USGF officials and American gymnasts hope a trampoline event will eventually become a part of the Olympic program.

Ralston Qualifies For Finals

SALISBURY, Md. (UPI) — Defending champion Dennis Ralston of Bakersfield, Calif., gained the final round of the National Indoor tennis championships Saturday by beating Tom Edlefsen of Berkeley, Calif., 6-3, 6-2, 6-4.

Top-seeded Chuck McKinley of San Antonio, Calif., met Manuel Santana of Spain in the other semi-final match Saturday night. The winner of this match was to face Ralston Sunday for the title.

Ralston, one of the heroes of the United States' Davis Cup victory last year, had little trouble with Edlefsen, who had scored back-to-back upsets to gain the semi-finals. Edlefsen, ranked ninth in the U.S., first beat Australia's Roy Emerson and then Friday eliminated sixth-ranked Arthur Ashe of Arlington, Va.

But Edlefsen was unable to control his shots in the first set against Ralston, and even when he mastered his game he was unable to do much damage. Ralston broke Edlefsen's serve in the fourth game of the first set and in the first and third games of the second set.

Edlefsen rallied slightly in the final set when he broke Ralston's serve in the eighth game for the only time in the match, but Ralston wrapped it up on his next service.

Julius Heldman of New York defeated Chauncey Steele Jr., of Cambridge, Mass., 6-3, 6-2, for the indoor senior championship and the senior doubles title went to George MacCall, Los Angeles, and Alan Martini, Beverley Hills, Calif., when they beat Steele and Donald Manchester, Auburndale, Mass., 9-7, 5-7, 7-5.

In the men's doubles semi-finals Saturday, Ashe and Edlefsen met the Mexican duo of Rafael Osuna and Antonio Palafox and McKinley and Ralston were paired against Santana and Jose Arilla of Spain.

Wichita Downs St. Louis

WICHITA, Kan. (AP) — Four Wichita players scored heavily as the second-place Shockers defeated third-place St. Louis 86-71 in a Missouri Valley Conference basketball game Saturday afternoon.

Dave Stallworth of Wichita hit 30 points to boost his 26-point average while teammates Nate Bowman scored 16, Ernie Moore 13 and Dave Leach 10.

Gil Beackemeier led the Billikens with 15 points, 12 of them in the first half. Rick Rineberg contributed 13.

After tying the game twice in the early minutes, Wichita pushed to a 40-34 halftime lead and kept well ahead through the last half.

The victory gives Wichita an 8-2 conference record and a 19-5 season mark. St. Louis stands 5-4 and 11-9.

PLAYFUL VETERAN

BOSTON (AP) — When the old timers lined up for the opening tap prior to the National Basketball Association All-Star game here, Paul Hoffman, general manager of the Baltimore Bullets, slammed a playful elbow into Jim Pollard's stomach.

"The game hasn't started yet," said Pollard.

"I know," replied Hoffman, "but your head was turned and I just couldn't resist the temptation."

Baseball Spring Training Officially Opens Today

By MILTON RICHMAN
UPI Sports Writer

MIAMI, Fla. (UPI) — Spring training officially opens Sunday and not even the Charlie Finley furore or all the hoopla over the heavyweight "fight of the century" can dispel that warm, wonderful spring feeling that it's baseball time again.

Naturally, most of the local people are speculating how long Tuesday night's world title bout between Sonny Liston and Cassius Clay at Nearby Miami Beach will last, but many also are aware the Baltimore Orioles open spring training here Sunday.

The Houston Colts, who did their spring training chores at Apache Junction, Ariz., last year, have switched to Cocoa, Fla., near Cape Kennedy, and will report to Manager Harry Craft there Sunday.

Likewise, the Chicago Cubs, still shocked by the tragic death of second baseman Ken Hubbs, will begin training at Mesa, Ariz., and the San Francisco Giants at Cas Grande, Ariz.

The Los Angeles Angels beat everyone to the punch by beginning their conditioning last Monday at Palm Springs, Calif. and the New York Yankees, Detroit Tigers and New York Mets also have launched advance camps primarily for rookies and farm-hands.

By the end of the week all but three of the 20 major league clubs will be busy at work.

Here are the reporting dates for the first squads:

Monday—Red Sox at Scottsdale, Ariz., and Mets at St. Petersburg.

Tuesday—White Sox at Sarasota and Twins at Orlando.

Wednesday — Pirates at Fort Myers and Indians at Tucson, Ariz.

Thursday—Yankees at Fort Lauderdale; Phillies at Clearwater, and Athletics at Bradenton.

Saturday — Tigers at Lakeland; Dodgers at Vero Beach and Senators at Pompano Beach.

The three remaining clubs, the Reds, Braves and Cardinals, open on March 1 with Cincinnati at Tampa, Milwaukee at West Palm Beach and St. Louis at St. Petersburg.

Most attention on that day will be centered around Tampa's Al Lopez Field where Manager Fred Hutchinson is due to take charge of the Reds. Hutch still is undergoing treatment for cancer but has said he will be there on time.

Among the missing during spring training, however, could be Finley, who spent most of the winter in a wrangle over a ball park lease, first with Kansas City officials and then with his fellow American League owners.

"I missed spring training last year because of all the work I had to do and I might have to miss it again this year," Finley said.

Too bad in a way because Charlie usually manages to provide some fireworks, one way or another, wherever he is.

The Yankees' camp at Fort Lauderdale probably will draw the most visitors as usual. As a matter of fact, new Manager Yogi Berra, already on the scene as major domo of the advance camp, has been attracting more curiosity than the Beatles did on their recent visit here.

"I was a little nervous at first," Yogi confesses about his new managerial post, "but I'm getting used to it better and better every day."

Among the interested onlookers are Ralph Houk, last year's manager and this year's general manager, and Hall of Famer Joe DiMaggio, who provides batting pointers for players as a special instructor.

When he reports, Mickey Mantle will answer the biggest question in the Yankees' camp, that question being: How well has his left knee healed after last November's surgery?

CC Cager, Bob Heiny, 'A' Student

The leading scorer for the Colorado College basketball team this year has maintained a straight "A" average for the past eight years.

Bob Heiny, senior forward for the Tiger hoopsters this season, has not made any grade except "A" since he was in junior high school in Grand Junction. Heiny recently was honored by being named to Phi Beta Kappa, the oldest and most prestigious of the national honorary fraternities.

Heiny became interested in basktball at the age of six when he helped his father take tickets for the Mesa Junior College games and said he had been playing ever since he could remember.

Altho Heiny played all sports at Grand Junction High School, he concentrated on basketball and golf when he entered Mesa Junior College. He is the number one player on the Tiger golf team in addition to his basketball feats.

Heiny said he became interested in the independent liberal arts college in Colorado Springs because of its high academic standards.

"I wasn't sure whether I would even play basketball or golf and I was looking for the college where I thought I would get the best education," said Heiny.

"I'm really glad I decided to play basketball at Colorado College," he said. "We don't win all our games but the one last week made up for the whole season."

Colorado College defeated Western State, 74-72 for its only win in 16 starts this season.

Monarchs Win YAL Contest

Scott Newson and Mark Williams each tallied a pair of goals to lead the Monarchs to a 6-0 shutout over the Pirates in Lightweight Division play Saturday during Young America Hockey competition at the Broadmoor World Arena.

In other YAL action Saturday, the Chiefs slipped past the Rovers, 2-1, in Heavyweight play and the Barons scored a 2-1 decision over the Flyers in Middleweight Division competition.

The Monarchs gave goalie Greg Janorski a workout as the Pirate icer make 17 stops in a losing cause. In addition to Newson and Williams' scoring a total of four goals, Randy Barton and Mike Mucini added the remaining two goals for the 6-0 victory.

Ray Bruce and Mark Hays scored the winning goals for the Chiefs and Rick Mueller scored the Rovers' lone tally in the Heavyweight game.

Wheel Chair Basketballers To Appear at City Aud

One of the top sporting attractions of the season is slated for the City Auditorium, Sunday, March 8 at 8 p.m.

The Denver Rolling Cowboys-players who perform on the basketball court strictly in wheel chairs - will compete with the ENT Air Force Base Sabres in what promises to be a basketball thriller.

This is the second appearance in Colorado Springs for the Cowboys, who also play in national competition against other such teams.

One of the requirements for wheelchair basketball is that players have no use of their legs. The opponents in exhibition games such as this one with the Ent Sabres, of course, are not handicapped, but spectators will readily see that being able bodied is not necessarily all the talent needed to play wheelchair basketball.

The Rolling Cowboys are composed of 18 players, ranging in age from 12 to 30, all active as students, office managers, commercial artists, draftsmen, and other occupations.

The Cowboys play under the sponsorship and direction of the Colorado Society for Crippled Children and Adults, Inc. They take no pay for their services as players, only travel expenses. In the past three years they have raised over $17,000 for charity including local Easter Seal Societies in Colorado and Wyoming. Their record for the last three seasons is 37 won, 15 lost.

The game is always governed by NCAA rules, with only a few minor changes.

"It's a game to see and a game to remember", according to Meryl Branda, who represents the Civitan Club as special events chairman for the Easter Seal Program this year. "They are amazing to watch," he said, "whizzing about the floor and controlling the ball as if it were the easiest thing in the world."

Hopes are to organize a wheelchair basketball team in Colorado Springs. How did wheelchair basketball get its start?

After World War II there were a lot of young men who came home paralyzed and confined to wheelchairs for the rest of their lives. They were in the same age bracket, had the same problems and frustrations, and had the same unbridled energy as other young men not handicapped physically. This energy and enthusiasm had to find an outlet somewhere, and where better than in sports?

The rest came naturally.

Tickets to the game here will include a chance to win an 11-inch portable GE TV set compliments of Halles Inc., and the winner does not have to be present at the City Auditorium to win.

All the funds will go to the Easter Seal Drive. Tickets are $1 for adults and 50 cents for all military and students. Tickets may be purchased at the Continental Trailways restaurant, Meryl E. Branda & Associates, Dotts Chicken Shack, Ring Sportswear, and several other locations around Colorado Springs. Tickets may also be purchased at the City Auditorium the night of the event.

James W. Lewis Finishes Training

Marine Private James W. Lewis, son of Mrs. J. W. Lewis of 924 East St. Vrain St. completed individual combat training Feb. 7 at the Second Infantry Training Regiment, Marine Corps Base, Camp Pendleton, Calif.

Individual combat training enables Marines to study tactical field problems and develop individual fighting skills.

He will now be assigned to a smaller unit such as the four-man rifle team and the 14-man squad.

Civilian Leaders To Evaluate Air Academy

Colorado Representatives J. Edgar Chenoweth and Byron C. Rogers are among civilian leaders in education, industry, and government scheduled to evaluate Air Force Academy operations as members of the Board of Visitors.

The board, during its annual meeting March 3-6, will inquire into morale and discipline, curriculum, instruction, physical equipment, fiscal affairs, academic methods, and other allied matters.

During the first business session on March 4, Maj. Gen. Robert H. Warren, the Superintendent, will welcome the board and review the past year's activities.

Brig. Gen. Robert F. McDermott, the Dean of Faculty, will present a briefing on the academic program, and Commandant of Cadets Brig. Gen. Robert W. Strong will discuss military training.

Other briefings will be given by Col. Edmund Rafalko, director of Athletics and Col. V. J. O'Connor, Cadet Registrar.

Members of the Board include: Dr. Fred H. Harrington, President of the University of Wisconsin; Dr. Payson S. Wild, Dean of Faculties, Northwestern; John Lawrence, Chairman of the Board of Dresser Industries, Inc., of Dallas; and Gen. Thomas D. White (Ret.) former AF Chief of Staff; all appointed by the President; Senators Stuart W. Symington of Missouri; Gale McGee of Wyoming; and Roman L. Hruska of Nebraska, appointed by the Vice President; the Colorado Representatives and Reps. John J. Flynn, Georgia, and Melvin R. Laird, Wisconsin, named by the Speaker of the House; Sen. Daniel K. Inouye, Hawaii, representing the chairman of the Senate Armed Forces Committee and Rep. Edward F. Hebert, First District of Louisiana representing the chairman of the House Armed Services Committee.

Robert W. Phelps Assigned to Chanute

Airman Robert W. Phelps II, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert W. Phelps of 228 E. Fontanero St., is being reassigned to Chanute AFB, Ill., for technical training as a United States Air Force aircraft equipment repairman.

Airman Phelps, who enlisted in the Air Force a short time ago, has completed his initial basic military training here.

The airman is a graduate of Colorado Springs High School and is a former student at Southern Colorado State College, Pueblo, Colo.

U.S., Britain Work With USSR

MOSCOW (UI) — The United States, Britain and the Soviet Union have successfully completed their first combined research in space communication.

The Soviet news agency Tass said that at 2 a.m. (6 p.m. Friday EST) Soviet astronomers received a "radio beam" aimed at the American Echo II satellite by the Jodrell Bank Observatory in Britain.

The experiment was the first in super long-distance international cosmic radio communications on ultra short waves.

Tass said the beam sent by Jodrell, near Manchester, England, "hit the surface of the American Echo II satellite and, having bounced off this "cosmic mirror' was received by a radio telescope at the Soviet observatory at Simenki, near the town of Gorky. . .

"At that time the Echo II was in the direct visibility zone of the British and Soviet observatories."

The experiment marks the beginning of an exchange of earth-space-earth radiograms under a program agreed upon by the U.S.S.R. Academy of Sciences and the U. S. National Aeronautics and Space Administration in June, 1962.

Faith for Our Time

And Jesus, walking by the sea of Galilee, saw two brethren, Simon called Peter, and Andrew his brother, casting a net into the sea: for they were fishers. And he saith unto them, Follow me, and I will make you fishers of men. And they straightway left their nets, and followed him . . . And Jesus went about all Galilee, teaching in their synagogues, and preached the gospel of the kingdom, and healing all manner of sickness and all manner of disease among the people.

Matthew 4:18-20, 23

What Christ is saying always, what he never swerves from saying, what he says a thousand times and in a thousand different ways, but always with a central unity of belief, is this: "I am my father's son, and you are my brothers."

Palmer High School News

By DIANE BORDEN

On Feb. 15, the Palmer High School Forensics (Debate) Club traveled to Pueblo for the District Debate Meet. Of the thirteen who attended this meet eleven were chosen to participate in the state meet which will be held in Boulder on March 20 and 21. The results of the district meet were as follows:

Debate: Bob Mohl and Bill Gemmill won superior ratings, while Pam Stephenson and Norm Peterson achieved excellent ratings.

Discussion: Cheryl Hoover and Jim Michel received superior and Vicki Saunders won an excellent rating.

Interpretation of Poetry: Lee Williams won a superior rating.

Interpretation of Humor: Jim Michel and Ann Gillespie received an excellent and a superior rating respectively.

Drama: Lee Huffman won a superior rating.

Extemporaneous Speaking: Pam Stephenson achieved a superior and Norm Peterson an excellent rating.

Sema Ege, Palmer's foreign exchange student from Turkey, was the speaker at the two assemblies on Friday, February 1 Dressed in her Turkish clothing, she spoke about her country in general and about her religion. She also showed some slides of her country and some of its famous landmarks. After her speech, she and a few other Palmer students sang and danced a Turkish song.

Last Tuesday in the General Palmer Room the Palmer International Relations Club met and heard Judy Pratt and Diane Borden speak on Thailand. This Tuesday an emergency meeting will be held for the purpose of electing new officers, and March 3, at 7 in the General Palmer Room, Lisa Cross and Janet Howard will speak on Trinidad-Tobago. These speeches are part of a preparatory program for the Model United Nations Conference which will be held in Greeley on April 10 and 11.

Along with being "Beat Wasson Week," last week at Palmer was United Fund Drive Week. The winner of the contest between the girls and the boys to determine who could contribute the most money for the drive was announced at the pep assembly held in the boys' gymnasium on Friday.

After the Palmer-Wasson basketball game Saturday night the Future Teachers of America Club sponsored a dance — "The Cherry Tree Stomp" — in honor of George Washington's birthday.

Foreign Student Training Vital To U.S. Policy

By LYNN POOLE

The Johns Hopkins University

The international student exchange program has been called one of the major elements of American foreign policy. In that perspective, the training of foreign students in the United States is coming to be seen as a significant part of the work of the nation's educators.

The progress of foreign students at American colleges and universities is reviewed in a recent "Vital Issues" report from the Center for Information on American by Miss Chase Going Woodhouse of the National Council for Community Service to International Visitors. There are at present 64,000 foreign students in the U.S., representing 1½ per cent of the total enrollment at all colleges and universities.

If the present trend continues, by 1970 there will be more than twice that number. As Miss Woodhouse points out, participants in the program are confronted with a variety of problems, some of them unique, some comparable to those faced by American college students.

First is the problem of selection. The majority of foreign students are fully or partially screened while still in their home countries to determine their academic qualifications for study in the U.S., their ability to adapt to life here, and their proficiency in the English language.

Students are eliminated if they are not qualified, or if the training they seek in this country will not contribute to their own countries' social, educational and technical needs. All the same, many cases exist of students coming to the U.S. without sufficient background for study in this country, and of their choosing inappropriate fields of study in preparation for careers in their home countries.

Financial support of foreign students is another problem, though a limited number of grants and fellowships are available from government and private sources. Many foreign students come to the U.S. without financial resources adequate to finish study here, and too often the scholarship they have been promised means tuition only, while the students interpret it as the promise to pay all their expenses.

Altho the orientation courses that are sometimes available are helpful, when the foreign student becomes a part of American campus life, he still has the problem of adjusting to U.S. teaching methods, examination procedures and social customs. He confronts problems ranging from diet and telling time to those involving different cultural concepts of morality.

And orientation, once accomplished, can go too far in the other direction. Miss Woodhouse notes that the problem of over-adaptation is not uncommon. In the past, some students have become so used to American life during their stay that they have suffered cultural alienation after returning to their own, less developed societies. To solve this problem, Miss Woodhouse suggests that long stays in the U.S., such as those necessary for foreign medical students and four-year college students, be broken by at least one trip home to permit the students to readjust to their home environments.

But the problems facing educators in giving worthwhile training to foreign students are more complex than the matters of selection, financial support and orientation; there is finally the matter of the knowledge itself.

In addition to the theoretical knowledge which must be learned by foreign students here, knowledge of applying the theory to the home country, whatever its stage of technical development, must also be learned. Urban planning in Scandinavia, for example, is confronted with vastly different problems than urban planning in Kenya — yet the fundamental theory of urban planning is the same for both. To allow for this difference, Miss Woodhouse suggests that U.S. colleges and universities, especially the smaller ones, cooperate with one another by specializing in the training of students from a particular area.

At least one problem — that of making foreign students feel welcome in the U.S., and giving them an insight into American family and community life — has become less troublesome. According to one university registrar, foreign students are in such demand by families, U.N. groups, and other community service organizations that the students are often not able to devote as much time as they should to their studies.

To remedy this, some registrars have stopped giving the names of foreign students to eager groups and individuals within the community. "If we let them know who the foreign students were," says one registrar, "they would pester the life out of them."

DRIFT PLOWER — The El Paso County Highway Department plowed drifts in the northern part of the Black Forest between Monument and Eastonville during the past two weeks, officials announced. The drifts ranged up to seven feet and were encountered on 300 miles of the county road system. Eleven plows were used each day, beginning at 5 o'clock a.m. and working one night until midnight. None of the roads were closed for more than a four-hour period though in some instances the same section of highway had to be plowed five times in one day to keep it passable. The snow fall in the area has been approximately five inches. The drifting was due to ground blizzards. Several stranded motorists were released from drifts, including two school buses. This is the first time in three years that the County's rotary plows have been used. At times the snow plows have been working in visibility which was limited to 15 or 20 feet. The snow plow crews are under the control of four radio cars.

Panel Picked To Discuss PTA Issues

Panel members who will discuss the pros and cons of various issues of the National Parent Teachers Association legislative program at Wasson High School on March 5 were announced Saturday by B. F. Cogburn, co-chairman of the Wasson PTA.

The panelists will speak before a countywide Legislative Symposium open to all PTA members which precedes the regular Wasson PTA meeting of March 17. Delegates to the Colorado PTA convention in April, instructed at the March 17 meeting, will vote on the proposed national PTA program.

At the March 5 session, Dr. Bentley Gilbert, professor of history, Colorado College, will speak in favor of Federal aid to education, including use of Federal funds for teachers salaries. In opposition will be Mrs. Shirley Fryell, Arapahoe County Council Parent Education chairman.

The proposal to expand public health services will be discussed by Dr. M. F. Schafer, M.D., City-County Health Director, speaking on the pro side, and Dr. Edward H. Vincent, M.D., speaking against such exposition.

Programs of the United Nations, as supported by the National PTA, including UNICEF, UNESCO, WHO, FAO, and TAO, will be discussed by John Gallagher, attorney, speaking on the pro side, and Roger M. Coffin, general agent for Independent Life and Accident Insurance Company, speaking in opposition.

Cogburn pointed out that Wasson High School has a 1224 member PTA group and will name some 15 delegates to the state convention. The Wasson Board of Managers, however, issued an invitation to all PTA members in El Paso County to attend the Symposium to hear both sides of the proposed national legislative program. A minimum of 31 state congresses of the PTA must approve the proposed program before it can be adopted by the National organization.

Cogburn said that the panelist at the countywide Symposium could be questioned about other phases of the proposed national policy. The three issues to be discussed are part of a national policy revision which would include lobbying for federalizing of library services, extension of food and drug controls, and strengthening of the federal Office of Education.

Car Upsets Near Curb; Two Girls Injured

A one-car accident at 1900 Chelton Rd. resulted in $1000 damage Friday night when a car with two passengers driven by Peter James Sorce, 17, Ft. Carson, struck a curb and rolled over one and one-quarter times.

Passengers Patricia Ann Dewar, 2704 Wren Dr., and Linda Charline Malone, 2448 Lark Dr., received minor abrasions and cuts. Sorce was cited for careless driving by Patrolman R. E. Hapke, city police.

Between 1871 and 1914, the Kimberley Mine yielded 14,504,375 carets of diamonds.

Mother of Miss America Wants Own Crown, Too

By LEE LINDER

CHERRY HILL, N.J. (AP)—The mother of a recent Miss America contestant wants to become this year's Mrs. America.

Jewell Malick, 43, a blonde, said she entered the Mrs. America competition "because I'm sure it will be lots of fun, and I'm a pretty good homemaker."

The New Jersey judging, with eight contestants, will be held March 5 and 6 in this Camden County community not far from metropolitan Philadelphia.

"I'm really excited about it," she said. "And so is my family"—husband, Gordon, and four children.

Her eldest daughter, Georgia, 19, was Miss New Jersey in the 1962 Miss America pageant and won a $1,000 talent scholarship as a pianist. She now is a freshman at Rutgers University.

"Georgia thinks it is hilarious," Mrs. Malick admitted. "She says I'll know now how it feels to be on public view, and to smile prettily all the time."

The other children are Kip 14, James 8 and Heida 2.

What does her husband, an insurance supervising adjuster say?

"He thinks it's kinda cute," Mrs. Malick laughed. "Anyway he always called me his Mrs. America. I guess all husbands call their wives that."

The Mrs. America competition is not a beauty contest, nor do entrants parade in bathing suits.

"It's homemaking and baking and knowing how to do the right things a wife and mother should do," she said. "If it were a beauty contest I wouldn't be in it. I am not afraid of my figure but, after all, age — and four kids!"

Mrs. Malick says she's 5-foot-6, 123 pounds and wears her hair medium short to show off her blue-green eyes.

Other measurements? "Not important," she blushingly responded.

Income Tax Cut Almost Reality During the Week

By JACK LEFLER
AP Business News Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—The economy-priming income tax cut all but became a reality during the week.

House and Senate conference committees agreed on its provisions.

The legislation's year-long journey through Congress is expected to end next week with adoption by both houses. Then it will be sent to the White House for President Johnson's signature.

Within three weeks, it is anticipated, an $800-million-a-month transfusion will begin flowing into the business bloodstream.

When the reduction becomes fully effective in 1965, it will mean an annual savings of $11.5 billion for 80 million Americans and 575,000 business firms.

Two-thirds of the cut, or $7.7 billion, is retroactive to last Jan. 1 The balance takes effect Jan. 1, 1965.

Personal income taxes will be reduced by an average of about 20 per cent. The tax relief for individuals will total $9.1 billion and business firms will share $2.4 billion in benefits.

The Kennedy administration introduced the legislation as a means of keeping the economy on the upgrade, and the Johnson administration gave it top priority.

Some Wall Street sources say the stock market's rise in the last year has been due in part to anticipation of a tax cut and that the benefits have been largely discounted. Others contend the market will react favorably when the tax savings start flowing into the economy.

Here are some statistics that help paint the business picture:

Personal income climbed in January to an annual rate of $478.7 billion, up $2.7 billion from December and $14.7 billion above January 1963.

Housing starts in January reached an annual rate of 1.7 million units, a gain of 9 per cent over December and of 26 per cent over January 1963.

Durable goods manufacturers received in January new orders totaling 19.1 billion, up 8 per cent from December. About two-thirds of the increase was due to increased activity in the transportation industry.

Industrial production in January attained a record rate for the fourth straight month. However, the margin was slim. The Federal Reserve Board's index advanced to 127.1 per cent of the 1957-59 average from 127 in December.

Cash dividend payments by corporations in January amounted to about $1.2 billion, a gain of 8 per cent over January 1962.

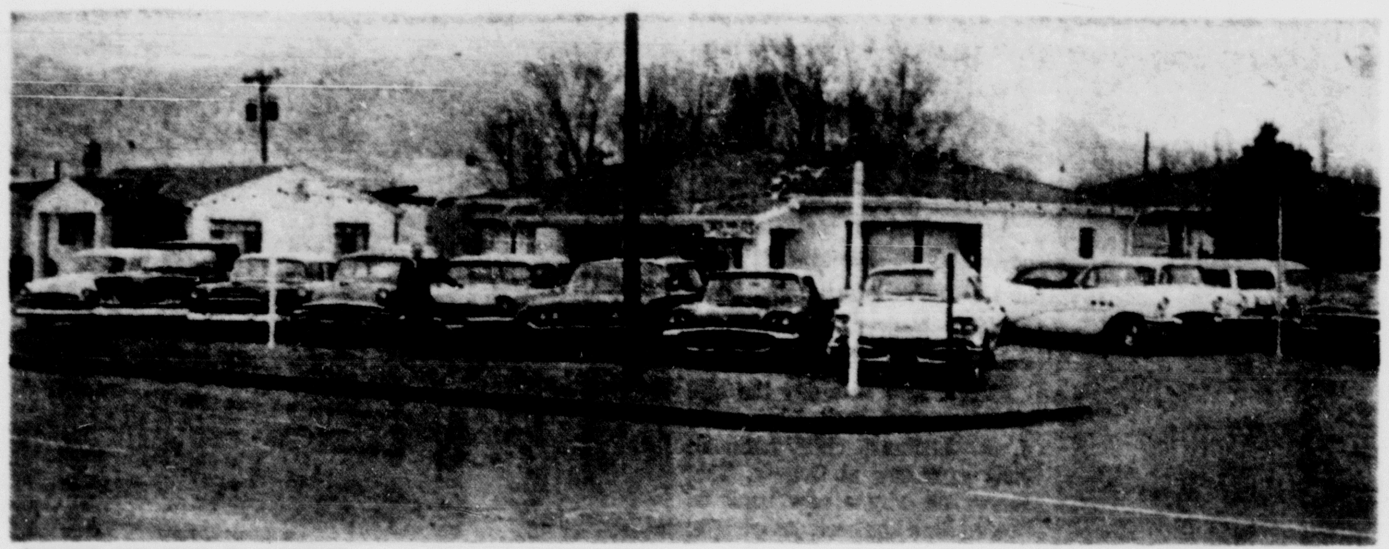
The steel industry during the week racked up its seventh consecutive weekly production gain. Output rose 2.6 per cent 2,277,000 tons. For the first seven weeks of the year production totaled 15,213,000 tons against 13,472,000 for the same period a year earlier.

Steel's biggest customer, the automobile industry, was ordering at a strong clip and demand from construction, its No. 2 buyer, also was good.

Automakers stepped up production during the week to an estimated 170,200 passenger cars from 164,364 the previous week and 144,701 a year earlier.

Secretary of Labor W. Willard Wirtz continued pressing for the Johnson administration proposal to raise overtime pay rates in certain industries to promote more employment. He said it would add little if anything to employer costs and would create more jobs.

David Rockefeller, president of Chase Manhattan Bank of New York and a spokesman for business, called the proposal a "defeatist" approach to the unemployment problem.



LINED UP FOR BUSINESS — A new business in used cars is Jack Daniels Motors, 810 E. Fillmore St., which opened Jan. 1. The lot is operated by owner Jack Daniels, former owner and operator of a used car lot and service station at 729 E. Fillmore St. Daniels was previously employed by the Doenges-Long Ford Co. as a line mechanic and service salesman. He has lived here since 1949. (Gazette Telegraph Photo)

Stock Market Averages Nudged to Record Highs

By ED MORSE
AP BUSINESS NEWS WRITER

NEW YORK (AP)—A cautious stock market this week nudged the averages to record highs again and ran its series of weekly gains to three straight.

The market had the advantage of continued good news from business and the economic front as a whole. While the record highs in the averages prompted some analysts to say that a "correction" was at hand, otthers said that the averages were deceptive—that a great many issues were far below their peaks.

Agreement of House and Senate conferees on a final draft of the long - anticipated tax-cut bill was seen in Wall Street as both encouraging and the reverse. While it will pour extra dollars into the pockets of the stock-buying public, the tax-cut bill has been long - anticipated, some analysists note. These analysts think it likely that stocks will "sell off on the news." Others think this theory may be too pat.

In the four-day trading week just ended—shortened by a market holiday on Friday in advance of Washington's Birthday —stocks put on a dawdling performance much of the time. But underneath the surface interest rotated from group to group while the averages did little.

The Dow Jones Industrial Average made a small gain of 2.43 to close at an historic high of 796.99—still shy of the Significant 800 level which it has been approaching very gingerly.

The Assoicated Press average of 60 stocks made a trifling rise of .9 to 295.6, also a record peak.

While the averages fluctuated by tiny amounts every day, however, there were more gainers than losers each of the four sessions. For the week as a whole, advances outnumbered declines by 745 to 556 of the 1,492 issues traded.

The market put on its strongest performance on Thursday, despite the tradition of caution in advance of a three-day weekend.

Volume for the shortened week totaled 18,454,510 shares compared with 22,026,010 for the previous week, of five trading days.

The five most active issues this week on the New York Stock Exchange were:

Continental Airlines, up 1¼ at 19½ on 273,600 shares; Helene Curtis, off 6 at 31¼; General Motors, up 1⅝ at 79⅞; Chrysler, off ¾ at 18⅝; and Sperry Rand, off ½ at 40¼.

The five most active issues this week on the American Stock Exchange were:

Seaboard World Airlines, up 1¼ at 7⅜ on 483,300 shares; Syntex, off 11 at 110; Stanrock Uranium, up 1-16 at 1 7-16; TWA warrants, up ¾ at 17⅝; and Canada Southern Petroleum, off ¼ at 3½.

Collection of Patient Charges Is Attempted

BOULDER (AP) — University of Colorado regents took action Friday to try to collect $605,976 in patient charges owed to the Medical Center in Denver.

Raphael J. Moses, newly-appointed resident counsel, was directed to take charge of the collection effort.

Medical Center officials reported uncollectible bills total $501,087 at Colorado General Hospital and $104,889 at Colorado Psychopathic Hospital. They have been accumulating for four years, officials said.

The regents also approved an increase of $2 a day in regular patient charges at both hospitals. The new rate at Colorado General will be $26 a day and at Colorado Psychopathic $32 a day.

Near-Million Will Be Laboriously Counted

CHICAGO (AP) — Bank employes will laboriously recount the $763,233.30 found in the home of Lawrence Wakefield, a smalltime South Side policy wheel operator who died Wednesday.

The money, ranging from pennies to $100 bills, was transferred to the Continental Illinois Bank and Trust Co. after police spent nearly 12 hours Wednesday and Thursday counting it.

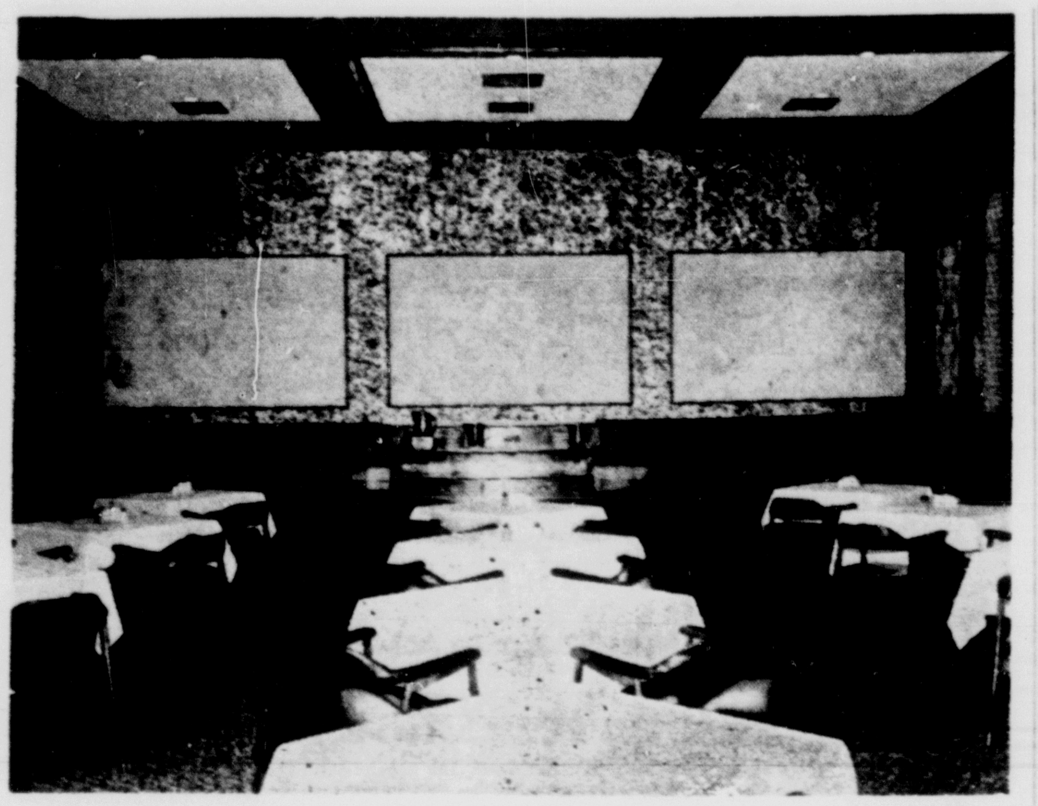
New Springs Bank Application Filed in Denver

An application for the proposed U. S. National Bank of Colorado Springs has been filed in Denver by attorney Paul Barber.

Barber said Saturday the application had been filed with J. R. Thomas, chief national bank examiner at Denver. The survey on why a new bank is needed here has been completed, the attorney said, and preliminary approval is expected within four to six weeks.

If approval is received, the new bank will be constructed in the Circle Drive Shopping Center in the northeast section of the city. It will be capitalized at $500,000, to start according to Barber who is one of the organizers.

Other organizers are William E. Noble, post card distributor; Finus E. Wandell, real estate developer; George H. Brosius Jr., wholesale distributor, and Carlton C. Finney, insurance man.



NEW ROOM AT THE INN — The Village Inn has remodeled its dining room known as the Anchor Room and renamed it the Coat of Arms Room. Changes include a lowered ceiling, walls and panels done in walnut and golden amber, and indirect lighting between double-paned Gothic windows. Owned by the Village Inn Co., the Pikes Peak Avenue restaurant will seat 350 persons. It is operated by Frank Rolla, president; his father Joseph Rolla, vice president, and a sister Mrs. Ann Atwell, secretary-treasurer. (Gazett Telegraph Photo)

Grain and Feed Convention Opens At Broadmoor

The 39th annual convention of the Colorado Grain and Feed Dealers Association will open at the Broadmoor Hotel today, to continue thru Monday and Tuesday. An attendance of more than 500 is expected. Robert S. Davis, of Colorado Springs, is convention chairman.

The convention will open with a panel discussion on relationship between the association and the U.S. Pure Food and Drug Administration. Samuel Alsend, district director of the FDA, will present to the feed dealers attending the department's rules and regulations affecting feed dealers. Also on the panel are Pete Koontz of Amherst, Colo.; Alf Owens, Colorado Springs, and Don Taylor, of Longmont.

This hour-long panel discussion, which will be held Monday morning will probe in the requirements of the FDA.

The keynote speaker of the convention, Davis said Saturday, will be Congressman Albert Quie (R) of Minnesota.

AFA Engineers Will Discuss General Problems

Base engineers from the Air Force Academy, West Point, and Annapolis will discuss porblems common to their institutions Wednesday and Friday.

Col. James O. Bower, Academy deputy chief of staff-Engineering, will be host for his Annapolis counterpart, Capt. G. L. Moeller, and the West Point engineer, Col. R. S. Crandall.

The meeting is first of a projected series of annual get-togethers.

In addition to an exchange of general information, the meeting will cover subjects such as costs and cost trends, current and potential improvement in academy engineering activities, and cost reduction.

The Annapolis and West Point representatives will tour Academy facilities Wednesday and will be briefed on the automatically controlled mechanical systems such as heating, ventilating, and air conditioning.

Maj. Gen. Robert H. Warren, the Superintendent, will welcome delegates Thursday morning.

Veterans Cushion Insurance Loss With Dividends

Almost a million veterans who hold GI life insurance policies are using their regular annual dividends to guard against loss of their insurance, the Veterans Administration said today.

The VA has paid nearly $230-million in dividends for 1964 to more than 4.7 million veterans and servicemen who hold participating GI insurance.

A policyholder who wishes to to leave future annual dividends with the VA at interest as a credit to meet monthly premiums should the policyholders fail to pay them before the end of the 31-day grace period.

These dividends are subject to withdrawal by the policyholder on request.

A policyholder who sieshes to join those veterans who leave their dividends on deposit with VA for this purpose should write to the VA office which serves his policy, making sure to include his insurance number.

Security Man Is Booster for Heart Fund

A firm believer in heart research and a booster for the El Paso County Heart Fund Campaign is Vernon R. Holley, 313 Grand Blvd., Security.

Holley underwent heart surgery at Penrose Hospital on Aug. 7, 1963 because he had a heart block which resulted in a low pulse and heart failure.

An implanted pacemaker was installed under the sub-cutaneous tissue in the left armpit. Ever since that date Holley continues to enjoy life with his artificial ticker.

Interviewed today by Thomas H. Martinez, Publicity Chairman for the Heart Fund, Holley stated: "Iam feeling quite well, have regained my normal weight, eat well and have great confidence in my battery — operated implanted pacemaker."

The pacemaker is a little plastic container holding small batteries that last over a period of five years. Two wires from the pacemaker lead to the heart itself and the batteries put out a charge to stimulate the heart to beat. It beats 66 times a minute.

"The implanted pacemaker is one of the greatest developments in the battle against heart disease, the No. 1 killer of man," stated Lt. Col. Martinez, "and that is why over 1,800 Heart Fund volunteers will be out this Heart Sunday, soliciting your support in the parade of dollars for the El Paso County Heart Fund campaign."

PACEMAKER KEEPS HEART BEATING — Vernon R. Holley, 313 Grand Blvd., Security, the first person to have an implanted pacemaker installed by local heart doctors in the Colorado Springs area watches the technician from St. Joseph's Hospital in Denver, point to the heart area where the pacemaker battery wires connect to the heart to keep it beating. Hundreds of lives are being saved thru the nation by the use of this valuable small device which was developed with Heart Association Research Funds. Holley endorses the Heart Fund Drive wholeheartedly and has volunteered his services to the local El Paso County Heart Unit in whatever capacity he can assist.

COFFEE CAN FLOWER POT

For an unusual planter make a hole in the bottom of a coffee can, run a wick through the hole, leaving the end inside the can and fill the can with vermiculite. Plant flower seedlings or cuttings in this and set the coffee can over a pint jar filled with water near a window. The wick will feed water into the vermiculite and all you will have to do is give the seedlings an occasional dose of liquid plant food. Repot as soon as the plant is large enough.

Fever Important Sign; Basic Mechanism Unknown

By The Colorado Medical Society

Why does a person sometimes "run a fever"?

Nearly everyone these days knows that fevers are signs of illness, and in most homes there's a thermometer on hand for the detection of them and to aid in deciding what's to be done.

One of the first questions asked by the family doctor is likely to be: "Is he running a fever?"

The presence and extent of a fever are important medical signs and have been for several centuries. Much is known about body temperatures, what they indicate, when and how to contool them, and it would be difficult, in fact, to visualize modern medicine in action without precise measurements of elevations in temperature.

But medical science has yet to solve the riddle of the exact mechanism which produces the response of fever. One theory is that there is a control center in the brain, probably in the hypothalamus, which toiggers the mechanism and keeps the body's heat control system in balance.

Whatever the basic control system, the mechanism for temperature regulation within the body is remarkable for its efficiency and stability and is of utmost biological importance to man.

Only warm-blooded animals such as man are independent of their environment. Cold-blooded creatures can continue to function only in an environment with an arrow range of temperatures.

A man's temperature at a given time represents a balance between heat production and heat loss, and a fever is the result of a functional disturbance in the heat cotnrol mechanism.

By medical definition, a fever is a temperature elevated above 98.6 degrees F (37 C). Individual variations from this norm can be as much as 1 or 2 degrees in either direction, and there is some indication that the traditional 98.6 balance-point may be slightly high. One study of 276 healthy persons who had their temperatures taken at the same time showed a mean of 98.1, and the total variation was on .4 of a degree plus or minus.

There is also a normal temperature variation of 1 or 2 degrees over the day in a normal person. His temperature will be lowest early in the morning and highest in the afternoon.

The span of temperature in man ranges from a low of about 89-90 degrees, the point at which the "hibernation" of hypothermia begins, to fevers as high as 110 and 112 degrees. The lethal low body temperature for man is between 77 and 80 degrees, he suffers from hpyerpyrexia (heat stroke) at 106 degrees and become comatose at fevers above 110. Although men have been known to survive fevers as high as 112, brain damage usually has occurred.

The commonest causes of fever are: infection by bacteria or viruses; infestation by parasites, protozoa, fungi, worms; and tissue damage resulting from such causes as obstruction of an artery, malignant rumors, gout, injury in the central nervous system or bleeding, especially gastrointestinal bleeding.

De-hydration also can cause fever, and women experience a slight elevation in temperature at the time of ovulation. Vigorous exercise can send the temperature up because it changes the body's balance between heat production and heat loss. Even so simple a thing as over-clothing the baby can produce a temperature elevation because it interferes with normal heat loss.

Some drugs can produce fevers in certain people, probably because of allergic reactions. The extremes of age show different effects in the heat balance system. Premature babies, for example, may show a drop in temperature with infection, and in elderly people the temperature can be lower normally.

Old Doc Experience advises:

1. Fever is a danger sign. Your doctor should know about it if any member of your family shows a fever, particularly one which is persistent or recurrent.

2. One of the commonest of drugs, aspirin, also is one of the best for controlling a fever. It does the job by increasing the body's capacity to lose heat.

3. Under normal conditions, body heat is produced in the muscles, liver and heart. Factors and organs involved in normal head dissipation or loss include the temperature of the environment, the respiratory tract and the skin.

4. The curve of a temperature, as plotted on a graph, can help identify the disease which is causing it. A "spike" fever — one which shoots up suddenly and drops off just as rapidly — is characteristic of typhoid strep and pneumonococcic infections.

A gentle elevation of fever over a period of time may indicate a hidden abscess. Fever in the afternoon is common in tuberculosis, brucellosis and many malignancies. A "camelback fever" — one which climbs to a rounded peak, declines slightly, then climbs again — is noted in Colorado tick fever, dengue fever and brucellosis.

Clain All Exemptions: Here is how to compute your exemptions: (each one reduces your taxable income by $600). One exemption for yourself, two if you are 65 or over, two if you are blind, three if you are both 65 and blind. The same rules to your husband or wife. exemptions [illegible] and or wife dies age or blindness, for [illegible] can still deceased would have been [illegible] titled at the time of death.

WHO QUALIFIES AS A DEPENDENT?: The dependent must (1) have less than $600 gross income (except this does not apply to a child if he is under 19 or he is a full time student) (2) have received more than half of his support from you (3) have not filed a joint return with his spouse (4) have been a citizen of the United States, Canada, Mexico, Panama or the Canal Zone (5) have been living with you thruout the year or be a close relative or be a cousin receiving institutional care.

MULTIPLE SUPPORT AGREEMENTS: If you shared with others in the support of a a dependent, but none of you provided more than half of the support, you may still arrange among yourselves for one of the group to claim $600 exemption. The one who claims the exemption must have contributed more that 10 per cent of the support and he must be a member of the group who altogether provided more than half of the support.

In order for one of the group to have this exemption all of the other members of the group must sign a statement that they will not claim the dependent in that particular year. IRS provides Form 2120 (Multiple Support Agreement) for this purpose.

CATCHER'S (BATH) MITT

Here's a clever gift for a little boy. Take two wash cloths and draw the pattern of a mitt on them. Cut out the pattern, sew on the wrong side and turn. Using a blanket stitch, hand hem the edge with colored embroidery thread and the stitching will make the bath mitt look like a catcher's glove.

Donald Cronkite Made Airman First Class

Donald L. Cronkite, 3212 W. Colorado Ave. is among 210 Air Force R. O. T. C. cadets promoted for the second semester at Indiana University.

The cadets are selected for promotion on the basis of grades, field drill performance, and correctness of military dress.

Cronkite has been promoted to cadets airman first class.

Bircher Professor Is Asked to Resign

CHAMPAIGN, Ill. (AP) — Prof. Revilo P. Oliver, who attacked President Kennedy in a John Birch Society magazine, has been asked to resign from the University of Illinois by the president of the university alumni association.

In a letter to Oliver Friday, Robert B. Pogue of Decatur said he was speaking only for himself, but added he had "considerable confidence that the vast majority of those who loved the University of Illinois agree with me."

Oliver, a member of the classics department, said in the "American Opinion" magazine that President Kennedy was assassinated because he had ceased to be useful to a Communist attempt to overthrow the United States.

Widefield High Windup

By CINDY HUTTER

Miss Patricia Johnson was crowned queen of the 1964 Sweetheart Dance Feb. 15. She was presented with a tierra and 18 long-stemmed red roses. Linda Porter was senior attendant, Cande Korbelik was junior attendant, and Twila Wilson was sophomore attendant.

The WHS Art Club sponsored by Mr. Richard Greenley has done many things for the school in the past. Art Club made the scenery for the band concert, Christmas Pageant, and the Homecoming Dance. Art students Don Thompson, Linda Scott, and John Read designed and prepared the backdrop settings for a "Night on Broadway." These four also designed the manger and scenery for the Christmas Pageant. Joanne Boucher designed the programs. John Read made the large cartoon caricature of the football queen candidates and their dates at the Homecoming Dance. In the future the Art Club will take a trip to Denver to visit the Denver museum. In the spring an Artist's Ball and Banquet will be held for Art Club members and their dates.

Cindy Hutter, senior, was chosen DAR Good Citizen from Widefield High School. She attended a luncheon along with the other DAR Good Citizens from the Pikes Peak region at the Palmer House on Monday, February 17. While at the luncheon the girls were presented with a certificate and pin.

The date for the second Drama Club play, "House Without Windows" has been changed to April 3 and 4. The date was changed because of scheduling conflicts with the athletic program.

All seniors who did not order announcements at the first of the year were given an opportunity to do so by turning in their names at the couseling office last week.

The menu for this week is as follows:

MONDAY
Hamburgers
Buttered Potatoes
Cold Tomatoes
Peaches

TUESDAY
Cheese Meat Loaf
Baked Potatoes
Green Beans
Wheat Rolls
Fruit Cup

WEDNESDAY
Beef and Noodles
Harvard Beets
Sliced Pineapple
Hot Rolls with Apple Butter

THURSDAY
Sausage Links
Buttered Potatoes
Spinach
Hot Rolls
Peaches

FRIDAY
Chili or Beans
Crackers
Cabbage and Apple Salad

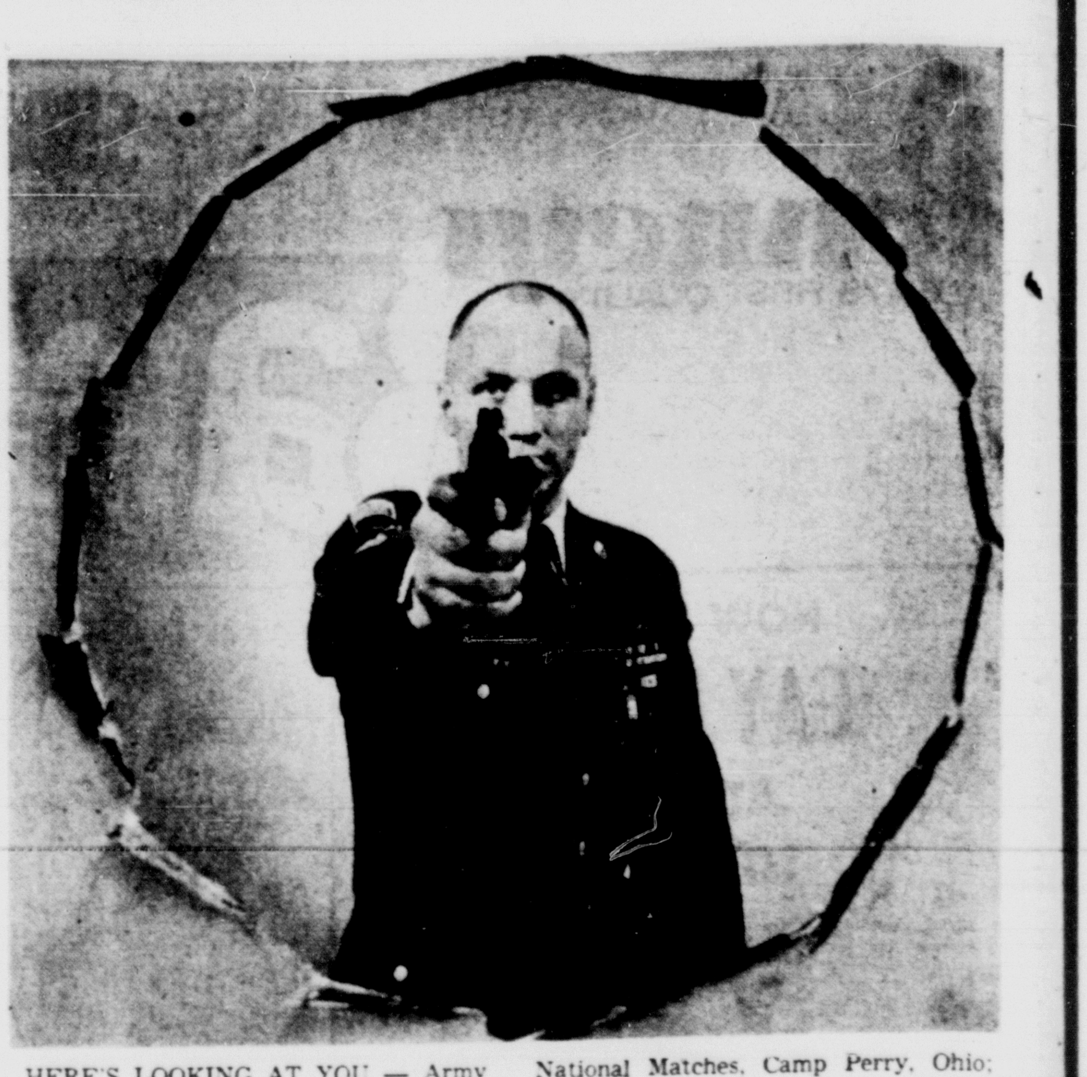
BELT WITH BAG

BLOOMINGTON, Ill. (AP) — Men may laugh at the big, heavy purses women carry but sometimes they come in handy, Mrs. J. C. Harvey found out. She told police she hit a youth with her pocketbook when he attempted to grab it, and the hefty weapon knocked him off his feet.



HERE'S LOOKING AT YOU — Army Sgt. Donald O. Koslowsky, 34, of Clawson, Mich., puts the bead on another bull's-eye. The straight-shooting soldier wears his newly-earned Distinguished Pistol Shot Badge — the Army's highest award for pistol marksmanship. He earned two more than the required 30 points in top pistol competitive events, placing in the top 10 per cent among Army shooters, to qualify for the badge. Some of these competitions were the all Army Matches at Ft. Benning, Ga.; the National Matches, Camp Perry, Ohio; the Interservice Tournament at Lackland Air Force Base, Tex.; and the Army Air Defense Command (ARADCOM) Tournament at Ft. Carson, where he is stationed as a member of the ARADCOM Advanced Marksmanship Team. Lt. Gen. Charles B. Duff, commanding general of ARADCOM, presented the badge to Koslowsky, who is a former paratrooper and military policeman. (U. S. Army Photo)

Counseling Institute Set At CSU

Colorado State University has just completed negotiations with the U.S. Office of Education to conduct a National Defense Counseling and Guidance Training Institute on the CSU campus next June 15 to Aug. 7. This is the fourth summer that CSU has received such a contract.

The institute this summer is designed to give advanced training to school personnel in the counseling field.

The institute will only accept those who have completed approximately 45 quarter credits of graduate study in the field with no more than six hours in sociology or economics and six hours in abnormal psychology, theories of personality and social psychology.

Applicants also must:

Have a minimum of two years teaching experience, be accepted by the CSU graduate school, be presently employed in a secondary school and furnish proof that the individual will be assigned as a counselor one-half time or more during the coming school year.

Participants will be eligible for a stipend of $75 a week and $15 a week for each qualified dependent. Only public school personnel are eligible for the stipends, although private school personnel may attend the institute.

Under a new ruling from the Office of Education, school personnel from grades seven and eight are now eligible, even though this may not be considered part of the secondary school in their situation. Previously, only secondary school persons were eligible for the institute.

In selecting individuals for attendance at the institute, and in otherwise conducting the institute, CSU does not discriminate on account of sex, race, creed, color or national origin of the applicant.

Persons interested in this program may obtain additional information by writing Dr. D. L. Frick, institute director, CSU department of education, Fort Collins, Colo.

Mayor Ann Wants Another Divorce

ARVADA (UPI) — Arvada Mayor Ann Jackson is seeking a divorce from her third husband, substitute school teacher John Conway.

Mayor Jackson, a real estate broker, uses the name of her first husband, A. S. Jackson. She became the first lady mayor of Arvada in 1963.

Dist. Judge Jean J. Jacobucci has taken under advisement until March 30 a motion by Conway to dismiss the action. Conway said he is seeking a reconciliation.

Both Conway and the mayor have been married twice before and have married each other twice.

Cuba's flag first flew from a New York building on May 11, 1850.

Manitou High School News

By JOY BORMANN

The Manitou Springs High School Student Council, in cooperation with the Save The Children Federation, has started a drive to collect clothes for the needy families in the Southern Appalachian Mountains. Heading the committee are president, Lance Huffman and senior member, Bill Brooks. Anyone desiring to donate clothes are asked to put them in the box at the high school or at Buck's Market on Canon Ave. Those deising pick-up service are asked to contact Bob Nakai at 685-9208 and leave their name and address.

On Feb. 14 the Student Council sold suckers for a money making project. The council met Thursday, during fifth period to discuss, further, the dance held after the Air Academy vs Manitou game on Friday.

The three one-act plays entitled "The Lottery," "Judgment Morning," and "Turtle Dove" will be presented for the public at 7:30 on Monday at the Manitou Springs Junior High School Auditorium. The Manitou High School Student Council is sponsoring this public showing and admission price will be $.50 for students and $.75 for adults. Tickets went on sale Wednesday. After the presentation to the public one of the three plays will be chosen to represent Manitou Springs at the speech and drama contest held at Leadville.

Annette Whaley was announced winner of the free pass to the Harrison vs Manitou Springs game at the pep assembly Feb. 14. She won because the cheerleaders voted her "most solemn" on Doomsday for Harrison.

The semester honor roll has been announced — Those receiving all A's are seniors — Jody Gayler, Jeanine Lanning, and Ann Nichols and juniors — Mark Miller. Those receiving four A's and one B are seniors — Joy Bormann and Kay Morey, juniors — Donna Davis and Phyllis Shipp, and sophomores — Linda Mulnix, Betsy Norris, and Carla Sallee.

Those receiving four A's and two B's are sophomores — George Johnson and Layne VanArsdale. Those receiving three A's and two B's are seniors — Sharon Whitt, Cathy Travis, Rocky Arnott, Judy Bonke, Mary Kaskalavich, Sharon Ketner, and Gary Schekel, juniors — Caryn Amick, Julie Jones, Laura Studebaker and Zoe Green, sopohomores — Joyce Bledsoe, Carlo Cimino, Pat Sullivan, Kathy Thomas, freshmen — Mike Christopher Paulette Stanton, Leslie Studebaker, Annette Whaley and Judy Wilson.

Bill Phelps' American government, American history and senior social studies classes saw a movie about oil and its uses on Tuesday. It was especially interesting to the classes because of its geographical aspects.

Jody Gayler, Manitou DAR good citizen attended a luncheon at the Palmer House on Monday.

On Feb. 15 the new members of the Future Secretary's of America was installed at the league meeting held in the Garden Room of Ruth's Oven. The new members are Sharon Behm, Sherry Bixler, Donna Grenrich, and Barbara Pepperl. Cathy Travis, secretary, also attended.

Measurements for the seniors' caps and gowns were taken on Monday, and Tuesday.

The "C" squad played St. Mary's "C" squad Tuesday at the Mustang gym. The St. Mary's team won. This year the "C" squad tournament will be held at M.H.S. on Wednesday, Thursday and Saturday. The following schools will enter the tournament: Ft. Carson, Florence, Fountain, Cheyenne, Air Force Academy, Harrison, Watson, Sproul, and Manitou Springs. Admission will be 25 cents for students and 50 cents for adults.

The Aristonian Club for freshmen and sophomore girls met on Wednesday to discuss the Heart Fund. The club has voted to donate their help to this worthy cause and met to set up the schedule and location for the collection of money.

The Lettermen's Club will be in charge of all activities concerning the "C" squad tournament and the members met on Wednesday to set up committees to be in charge of operations, concession stand, admission, etc.

Troop 19 Scouts Now in Activity Flurry

Boy Scouts of Troop 19 are in the midst of a flurry of activities that began Friday night with a tenting campout in Black Forest and will be climaxed Tuesday night by a Court of Honor.

More than 35 boys, accompanied by about seven fathers, will end the three-day campout today. Activities at the Black Forest Recreation Area are geared to prepare the youths scouting skills that include first map reading, outdoor cooking, knot-tying and physical fitness.

Monday night, a troop team will compete in the Pikes Peak Council first Aid-O-Ree, scheduled to be held at Lincoln School. The Team took third place in district competition Jan. 23.

The court of Honor, to be held at 7:30 p.m. Monday, in Will Rogers School, will give recognition to a number of the boys for Scouting work completed. Maj. David H. Tinius, scoutmaster, will present the awards.

COLOGNE—A German skier who will compete in the Olympics says that his job as a painter and carpenter are good training for his athletic career.

Mary E. Shoemaker Dies at Her Home

Mrs. Mary Estelle Shoemaker, 218 E. St. Vrain St., died at her home Friday. She was 91 and had been a resident of Colorado Springs since 1951. She was a member of the First Methodist Church. She formerly resided in Drexel Hill, Pa. For many years she was a member of the Philadelphia Hard of Hearing Society and was president of the organization's Bible class.

Mrs. Shoemaker was born in Frankford, Del., Feb. 14, 1873, the daughter of Charles and Mary Mumford. She is survived by a daughter, Mrs. Elsie A. Bennett, of Colorado Springs; with whom she made her home; four grandchildren, Charles A. Shoemaker Jr., Ridley Park, Pa.; Capt. Tom S. Sinton, Petaluma, Calif.; Mrs. Mary Jo Skeels, Littleton, Colo., and Mrs. Margot Peterson, Anaheim, Calif., and 16 great-grandchildren.

Funeral services will be held at 2 p.m. Monday at the Law Drawing Room. Dr. Ben F. Lehmberg will officiate. Burial will be in Memorial Gardens.

Ranch owner Edna Skinner, co-star of "Mister Ed," once drove her cattle alone from Montana to the railroad in Idaho.

Chamber Urges $6.5 Billion Spending Cut

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States Chamber of Commerce recommended Friday a $6.5-billion cut in the requests for new spending authority in fiscal 1964 and 1965 made in President Johnson's budget message to Congress last month.

The chambers board of directors asked the carving of $1.4 billion from Johnson's proposals for urban renewal and public housing and $700 million from the appropriation asked for national defense. It urged also the elimination of $718 million earmarked for federal aid to education, on ground that education is "a state and local responsibility."

Presenting the budget recommendations to reporters, the chamber President, Edwin P. Neilan, charged that Johnson had shifted billions of dollars in appropriation requests from the budget for fiscal 1965, which starts July 1, to the current year's budget in the form of $4.2 billion in supplemental spending authority for this year.

The effect, Neilan said, is to make Johnson's new budget look better and the 1964 budget of President John F. Kennedy look worse.

150 PEOPLE FOR NEARLY FOUR YEARS

NEW YORK (AP)—How much money can a show gross in a theater seating only 150 people? For "The Fantasticks," the answer is: over one million dollars.

Producer Lore Noto reports that the musical, which has been running since May 3, 1960, at the Sullivan Street Playhouse, has earned a 1,200 per cent profit out of the boxoffice gross. The entertainment was written by Tom Jones and Harvey Schmidt, who are now also represented on Broadway by "110 in the Shade."

MISS PATRICIA O'REILLY

* * *

X-Ray Society President To Greet State Group

The president of the American Society of X-Ray Technicians will be in Colorado Springs April 10-11 when the Colorado Society of X-Ray Technicians holds its annual meeting at the Antlers Hotel.

Miss Patricia O'Reilly will offer greetings from the national society, serve as parliamentarian and install the new state officers.

A native of Dallas, Miss O'Reilly is chief technician at Oak Cliff X-Ray and Radium Clinic in the Texas city.

She is a graduate of St. Edward's Academy and St. Paul's Hospital School of X-Ray Technology in Dallas. She was certified by the American Registry of X-Ray Technicians in 1952 and became a member of the national society in 1954.

Miss O'Reilly held elective offices in local and state technician organizations in Dallas and on the national level, has served as secretary-treasurer and first vice president. She became president of the national society at its 35th annual convention in 1963 in Pittsburgh, Pa.

69% in County Drive to Work, Survey Shows

A nationwide survey conducted by the Government to determine just how people travel to work each day discloses that, in El Paso County, most of them go by private car or car pool.

No less than 69 per cent of the local residents who go to work do so by car, the figures show. The remainder get to their jobs by a variety of other means.

The purpose of the survey was to obtain data that would be useful in an attack on the nation's transportation maze, which is getting worse every year.

The findings have just been released by the Department of Commerce in a voluminous publication entitled "Journey to Work." It is based on data gathered by the Census Bureau.

The figures for El Paso County show that 38,756 local residents, out of a total of 55,295 who go to work, do so by car or by car pool.

Compared with the 69 per cent locally who travel that way, there are 64 per cent in the United States as a whole who use automobiles to commute to work, 71 per cent throughout the Mountain States and 70 per cent in the State of Colorado.

The modes of travel that are used by most people in a particular community depend to a large extent on where they live in relation to their jobs, or if their area is lightly or heavily populated and on how available are buses and other forms of public transportation.

Some people, in fact, don't ride to work at all. In El Paso County, for example, there are 8,715 persons, such as doctors, farmers, shop keepers and the like, who are listed as working at home.

Another 3,367 locally live near enough to their jobs to walk to work.

As to the rest, the report shows there are 2,309 who travel by buses or streetcars, none who use rail transit, 1,285 who use motorcycles, taxicabs or other vehicles and 1,363 who are in the "not reported" column.

The choice is closely related to income, density of population and car ownership.

New roads have encouraged more people to move to the suburbs and have added still further to the use of cars. The result has been more bottlenecks and increased congestion in the central business districts.

Annual Phi Beta Kappa Initiation And Dinner Held at Broadmoor Hotel

The Phi Beta Kappa chapter of Colorado College held its initiation and dinner in the ball room of the Broadmoor Hotel on Thursday night, with about one hundred in attendance.

Prof. Richard C. Bradley, president; Miss Lorena Berger, secretary; and David L. Bitters of Leawood, Kan., elected to membership last year, in his junior year, were in charge of the initiation. Following dinner, Miss Marla Bullock of Denver, and Arthur Warwick of Port Arthur, Ontario, elected to membership last year, spoke. Prof. Amanda M. Ellis was in charge of arrangements and publicity. Assisting her were Mrs. Sam Vickerman and Mrs. Richard Bradley.

Miss Bullock and Mr. Warwick traced, at times in a serious vein, again in a humorous way, the development of Phi Beta Kappa. Founded at William and Mary College in 1776, just as this country was about to embark on the Revolutionary War, the fraternity at first had weekly meetings and an occasional one at the historical Raleigh Inn. Fellowship and interest in current affairs were manifest in their debates, where such topics as "The Justice of African Slavery", were hotly contested.

Careers Day Announced By Auxiliary

The Woman's Auxiliary to the El Paso County Medical Society will sponsor the third annual Careers Day on Saturday, March 14, for students in the ninth thru tweleth grades.

Careers Day is a program designed to encourage young people toward careers in medicine and its allied fields. The day will begin at 8 a.m. in the Margery Reed Auditorium at Penrose Hospital. A film will be shown and thumbnail sketches by the following specialists to give the students insight into their specific careers: a physician, a physiotherapist, occupational and speech therapist, X-ray and medical technician, medical librarian, a diploma and practical nurse, dietician and pharmacist.

After the morning program the students will be split into three groups for luncheon at either Penrose Memorial, or St. Francis Hospital. A tour of the hospital will follow lunch. Transportation to the hospitals for lunch and the tours will be provided. The only expense will be $1 for lunch. Information about Careers Day has been sent to the schools. For further questions call Mrs. Frederick Gydesen at 632-3063 or Mrs. Rex Nash at 633-5248.

Penrose Auxiliary To Hold Annual Meeting, Coffee

Penrose Hospital Auxiliary will have an annual meeting Wednesday. Sisters will be hostesses for the coffee held at 9:30 a.m. in the Doctor's conference room.

The short business meeting will be followed by the installation of new officers.

Sister Mary Assunta, superintendent of the hospital, will give a brief talk on new equipment and developments in the hospital.

There will be an awarding of pins for hours of volunteer service done by the auxiliary members.

All old and new members and friends are invited to attend.

Hamilton-Greiner Vows Read in First Baptist Church

Penny L. Hamilton and David L. Greiner were united in marriage at 8 p.m. Feb. 1 at the First Baptist Church, the Rev. Ward B. Hurlburt, officiating.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James H. Hamilton, 2237 E. Boulder St., Apt. 7. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. Palmer Greiner, 70 Duke St. and Mrs. Helen Gay, 2017 Santa Fe St., Pueblo.

The church was decorated with white, lavender and pink carnations with white candles. Traditional nuptial music was played.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of silk organza with a fitted bodice and sabrina neckline trimmed with lace appliques and seed pearls. The gown had long pointed sleeves, a full skirt with lace applique on the hemline, a lace insert in front and a panel of lace in the back ending in a chapel train. The veil of illusion net was caught to a crown of seed pearls. She carried a deep purple orchid with a cascade of pink roses and white hyacinths on white satin ribbon.

The maid of honor, Joye Massaro, wore a dress of pale lavender silk organza and carried a pink carnation nosegay.

Miss Alma Moore, bridesmaid, wore a pink silk organza dress and carried a pale lavender carnation nosegay. The flower girl, Lorrie Grant, wore a pale pink silk organza dress and carried a white basket with pink ribbon streamers and filled with lavender carnations.

The ushers were Timothy C. Hamilton, the bride's brother, and Danny P. Greiner, the bridegroom's brother.

The bride's mother wore a cream colored two piece suit with cranberry accessories and a lavender and pink carnation corsage. The bridegroom's mother wore a cream colored two piece suit with brown accessories and a pink carnation orsage.

A reception was held after the ceremony at the First Baptist Church.

The bride wore a lime green two piece suit with brown accessories when the couple left on a wedding trip to Denver. Their future home will be at 1201 Berkley St., Pueblo.

The bride is a graduate of Wasson High School and attended Southern Colorado State College. The bridegroom is a graduate of Centennial High School, Pueblo, and also attended SCSC.

Price-Geist Ceremony Held at First Lutheran

Miss Bonnie Kay Geist and Lynn O. Price were united in marriage Feb. 8 at the First Lutheran Church. The Rev. Christian Thearle performed the double ring ceremony. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Geist of Yoder. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Milford Price of Milwaukee, Wis.

The church was lighted by two seven branch candelabra and the altar flowers were red and white carnations. Roger Rasner and Paul Geist lighted the candles. "Oh, Perfect Love" and "Wedding Prayer" were sung by Miss Connie Rumsey accompanied by Mrs. Helen Deits at the organ.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a floor length silk organza and lace gown, with fitted bodice and Sabrina neckline trimmed with sequins, full length tapered sleeves, and a lace edged train. The tulle veil was attached to a crown of crystal and pearls. She carried red roses and white carnations framed with lace.

The matron of honor, Mrs. Judy Crowley and bridesmaids, Miss Dorothy Devorss and Miss Karen Lindt wore identical dresses of cranberry-brocade, styled with bell skirts and round necklines draped in the back and tied. Headbands of brocade and white flowers held the veils. Their bouquets were white carnations and lace in heart shapes centered by a single red rose.

The flower girl, Viola Geist, sister of the bride, wore a floor length red taffeta dress with a white lace yoke. Her headband was the same as that of the bridesmaids. She carried a basket of red and white carnation petals. The ring bearer, Kenneth Eichman, cousin of the bride, wore a white wool coat and dark trousers.

The best man was Robert Linton and the groomsmen were Fred Geist and Joe Crowley. Ushers were Arthur and Elmer Rasner, uncles of the bride.

The bride's mother wore a beige linen suit with beige and brown accessories and a tangerine carnation corsage. The bridegroom's parents were unable to attend.

A reception was held immediately following the wedding in the church Fireside room, where the red and white theme was used. The four tier cake, topped with wedding bells, was served by Linda Lawyet and Connie Lindt, cousin of the bride. Shirley Corum poured the punch and Elaine Sullivan poured coffee. Sandra South, cousin of the bride, was in charge of the guest book and Pamela Rasner, also a cousin, the gift table.

The bride wore a pink wool suit with beige patent accessories when they left for a wedding trip to Denver. The couple's future residence will be 214 N. Spruce St.

The bride is a graduate of the Edison High School and is currently a student of the St. Francis X-ray school. The bridegroom is a graduate of West Division High School and is employed by the E. and E. Ambulance Co.

Out of town guests were, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Geist of Ft. Morgan, Mr. and Mrs. Jake Geist, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Keller, Mr. and Mrs. Warren Ferrill and Mr. and Mrs. Merle Bender and Judy, all of Denver; Sandra South of Boulder; Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Meyers and girls of Crowley; and Walter Schubert and Martha of Olney Springs.

Demand for Suburban Apartments Growing

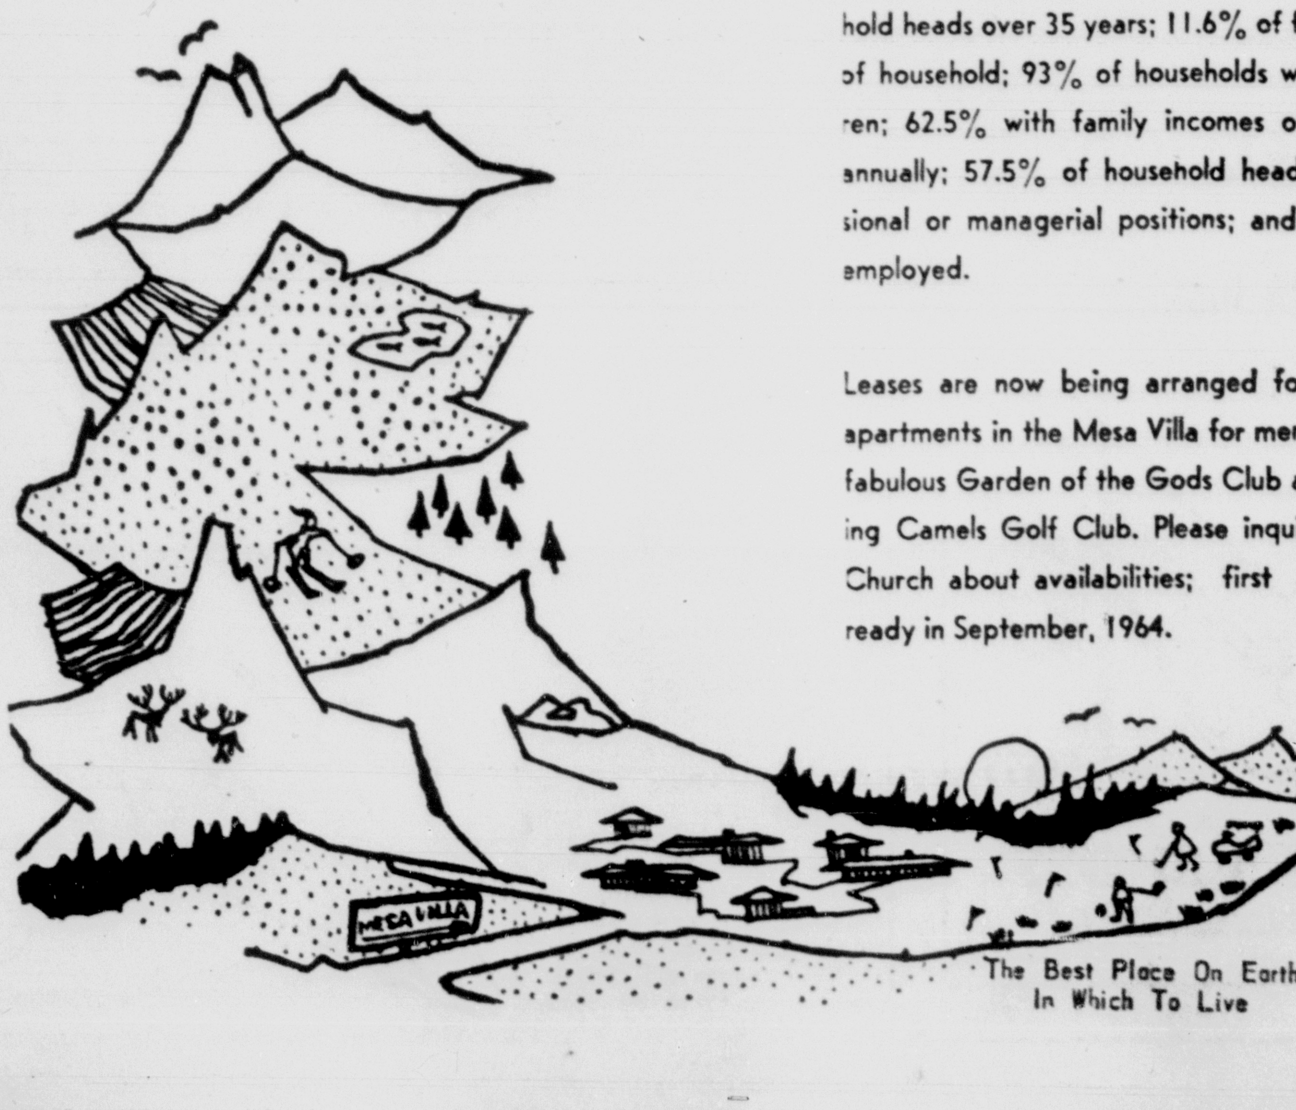
A special brand of prestige accompanies some suburban locations of the new high-quality apartments. Today, these uncrowded outlying apartments offer a special appeal to those who are now living in suburban homes but find it increasingly difficult and time consuming to maintain an individual property ownership.

As time goes on, too, the snow shovel and garden spade take on the aspect of physically harder work. Many people favor suburban apartments as a result of having experienced the pleasant, uncomplicated life of the suburbs. Others find satisfaction for their increased need of the peace, quiet, and amenable views and environment. And others—who desire more time for their business and professional activities—find the suburban apartment a better answer than trying to maintain a home.

Contrary to the thinking of a few years ago, the suburbanite apartment dweller is highly community minded. With more time of their own, they become more dedicated to charitable causes, political activities, and cultural purposes.

The characteristics of residents of high rent apartments in the urban fringe of a community in 1960, as indicated in a study published by the Urban Land Institute in October, 1961, included a wide spectrum of people, such as: 90% of 1 or 2-person households; 97.5% with household heads over 35 years; 11.6% of female heads of household; 93% of households without children; 62.5% with family incomes over $10,000 annually; 57.5% of household heads in professional or managerial positions; and 23.5% not employed.

Leases are now being arranged for residence apartments in the Mesa Villa for members of the fabulous Garden of the Gods Club and the Kissing Camels Golf Club. Please inquire of Byron Church about availabilities; first occupancies ready in September, 1964.



Woman's Club to Hear Garden Talk

The Woman's Club of Colorado Springs will meet at the new hour of 2 p.m. Wednesday in the clubhouse, 20 Mesa Rd. The president, Mrs. C. L. Urbach, will preside and the spiritual message will be given by Mrs. William C. Mitchell.

Mrs. Marion Black Williams, garden columnist, will talk on "New plants, equipment and pitfalls to avoid in gardening in this region".

Mrs. Williams is a graduate now a division of Temple University at Ambler, Pa. She serves as regional director and on the national board of The Garden Writers Association of America. Her writings on high altitude gardening appear in "Flower and Garden," "Flower Grower" and "Popular Gardens" magazines.

Mrs. Grace Crandall, music chairman, will present Phyllis Dempsey, a pupil of Margaret Smith, who will play the following violin selections, "Meditation from Thais" by Massanet, "Hungarian Dance" by Brahms and "Schoenrosmarin" by Fritz Kreisler.

Welcoming members and their guests at the door will be Mrs. Mildred Cooper and Mrs. John Meyer.

Pouring at the tea-table during the social hour will be Mrs. Ethel S. Brown and Mrs. Helen Gardner. Assisting with the serving will be Mrs. J. R. Bogue, Mrs. C. C. Mason, Mrs. D. Altpeter and Mrs. C. W. Priest.

Annual Phi Beta Kappa Initiation Dinner Held at Broadmoor Hotel

Later, minutes at Harvard, Yale, and Dartmouth found members debating such subjects as "Is Political Ambition Consistent With Moral Integrity?" "Is Conversation With the Fair Sex Advantageous to a student?" and "Whether the Wearing of Low Bosoms, in Conformity With Custom and Fashion, Be Any Impeachment of a Lady's Modesty." The debate on whether women should share in civil government was decided negatively as was the one on whether a national debt was advisable. The annual meetings were almost always elegant affairs, tho in 1880 one young man felt that $5.70 was to much to pay for the elaborate dinner, even tho a good "theatrical" orchestra played, except while speeches were made.

Phi Beta Kappa, which elects every year the top students in ranking colleges and universities has three chapters in Colorado: at Colorado College, the University of Colorado, and Denver University. The speakers pointed out that members of Phi Beta Kappa have always been in the vanguard of our society. In public life have been and are such figures as John Quincy Adams, Theodore Roosevelt, William Howard Taft, Woodrow Wilson, Calvin Coolidge, Franklin Delano Roosevelt, Robert McNamara, Dean Rusk, Henry Cabot Lodge, Roberty Kennedy, Bernard Baruch, Francis Perkins, Charles Evans Hughes, William O. Douglas, and most of the members of the Supreme Court, including Colorado's Byron White.

In other fields too, Phi Beta Kappa has included leading lights. In letters, "they range from Irving, Emerson, Longfellow, Mark Twain, and Whittier, to Carl Sandburg, Robert Frost, T. S. Eliot, Pearl Buck, Dorothy Thompson and Amanda M. Ellis. In science, are Samuel Morse, Eli Whitney, Alexander Graham Bell, Alexis Florence Sabin, and Ernest Larsen. In business are men like John D. Rockefeller Jr. and Mark Hopkins; in education, such men and women as John Dewey, Horace Mann, Alfred Whitehead, Booker T. Washington, Marjorie Nicholson, Louise Pound, Dr. Kenneth Curran of Colorado College and James Conant. Others include Walter, Keller, and Harry Emerson Fosdick."

In conclusion, Miss Bullock quoted from Emerson's Phi Beta Kappa address in 1931 when he said that in the right state the scholar "is MAN THINGING; in the degenerate state, he tends to become the MERE THINKER, or worse still, the PARROT of other men's thoughts.

Meek young men grow up in libraries, believing it their duty to accept the views which Cicero, which Locke, which Bacon have given, forgetful that Cicero, Locke, and Bacon were only young men in libraries, when they wrote these books. Hence, instead of Man Thinking, we have the bookworm. Books are the best of things well used; abused, among the worst." The right use, Emerson believed, was "to inspire. . . The one thing in the world of value is the active should." A recent article in the official magazine of Phi Beta Kappa "The American Scholar," urged members "to become men and women of achievement."

Attending the initiation and dinner were the following initiates: Paul Langford Carson of Englewood, Catherine Jane Grant of Arlington, Va., both juniors; Susan Keep Arenta of Salt Lake City; Mary Bardone of Prairie Village, Kan.; Judith Mayo Clark of Grand Island, Neb.; Stefan Feyock of Colorado Springs; Charles Thomas Gibson of Arvada; Linda Ann Harrison and Walter Edwin Hecox of Denver; Robert Heiny of Grand Junction; Susan Hile of Boulder; Norman Eugene Lindon, Mrs. Carol Sue Marchert Matoush and Fay Elaine Douglas Metcalf of Colorado Springs; Jennie Pearson Moore of Ashland, Ohio; Michael William Orem of Fairmont, Minn.; Elizabeth Ann Ross of Colorado Springs; Stephanie Gwynn Row of Longmont; Harrie Daniel Sherman of Denver; Mrs. Ruth Ann Thompson of Colorado Springs; Jean Elizabeth Torcom of Park Ridge, Ill.; Mrs. Elizabeth Alden Turecky of Colorado Springs; and Carol Lee Wright of Hot Springs, Ark- Honored, too, were the seniors elected last year, Marla Bullock of Denver; David Bitters of Leawood, Kan.; and Arthur Warwick of Port Arthur, Ontario.

Others present included: President and Mrs. Lloyd Worner, Dr. and Mrs. Carroll B. Malone, Mr. and Mrs. Kermit L. Carson of Englewood, Dr. William R. Matoush, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Sherman of Denver, Dr. and Mrs. G. R. Wright of Hot Springs, Ark., Mrs. C. W. Harrison of Denver, Mr. and Mrs. Charles O. Hile of Boulder, Mr. and Mrs. Manas Torcom Jr. of Park Ridge, Ill., Miss Linnea Erikson, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Ross, Lt. Vol. and Mrs. G. Preston Grant of Arlington, Va., Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Gibson of Arvada, Mrs. Charles Thompson Gibson, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph C. Clark of Grand Island, Neb., Mrs. Edward L. Wright of Longmont, and Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Bullock of Denver.

Others included Prof. Amanda M. Ellis, Mrs. James Lee, Mrs. Gladys Morath, Miss Grace Berger, Mr. and Mrs. John J. Norton, Capt. James I. Miller Jr., Mr. and Mrs. H. E. The general business session will start promptly at 2 p.m. All members and advisors are urged to attend.

Agate Pair Observes Anniversary

Some 260 neighbors, relatives and friends arrived from 1 to 5 p.m. to wish Mr. and Mrs. Fred A. Beuck well for their 50th anniversary on Sunday. Friends came from almost 100 miles to be with them, at their home in Agate.

Gold and lace table cloths covered the tables. Flower arrangements served as center pieces.

Serving at the refreshment table were daughters and grand daughters of the Beucks. The center piece was a wedding cake decorated with bells touched with gold. The cake was made by Lois Kellogg Dunsire of Denver.

The Beucks' children are: Mr. and Mrs. August Bueck and children, Jananne, Gussie Ann and Fred A., Agate; Mr. and Mrs. Lee Franz and children, Peggy, Robert and Mary Jane, Ft. Collins; Mr. and Mrs. Glen Kellogg and children, Mrs. Connie Lee Saunders and daughter, Colleen, a great granddaughter, Denver; Mr. and Mrs. Henry Smith and children, Henry Jr. and Sharon, Kiowa; Mr. and Mrs. Bob Jergensen and children, Dan, Paul and Donnie, Aurora.

All were able to attend the open house. Before the celebration, they met at the August Beuck home for dinner. Also at the dinner were Mr. and Mrs. Park Wood and sons, and Mrs. Susan Schrammel of Kit Carson.

Miss Margaret Putnam and Fred A. Beuck were united in marriage on February 18, 1914 in Denver.

Mr. and Mrs. Beuck have lived at the ranch, near Agate, in Elbert County, all of these past 50 years.

Neufelds Visit Canal Zone

Mr. and Mrs. Morton Neufeld, 6 Polo Drive, Broadmoor, were made keenly aware of the explosive unrest in the Panama Canal Zone during their recent 19-day cruise down the east coast of South America. They were instructed by officials to go into Colony at their own risk as protection agencies were understaffed and in some cases of doubtful dependability because of confused political loyalties. They saw burned-out public buildings and many of the "Go Home, Americans" signs. The obvious extremes of wealth and luxury versus dire poverty are basic factors in the political upheavals, in the opinion of the Colorado Springs travelers, whose travels during the past few years have taken them into many foreign countries including the Orient and the Near East.

They sailed from New York City aboard the S. S. Marianna, one of the Grace Line's express freighters which carries only about a hundred passengers, and affords exceptionally fine meals plus the leisurely pace of a smaller, more intimate group than the large liners.

Ports of call included Guayaquill, Ecuador, Panama, Balboa, and Baranquia, Buena Ventura and Cartaghena in Colombia. They ran into some of New York City's worst winter weather last week on their return trip, which included business as well as pleasure.

Patricia Louise Wilbur Is Bride of Neal R. Spencer

Miss Patricia Louise Wilbur of Pago Pago, American Samoa and Neal Raymond Spencer, also of Pago Pago, exchanged marriage vows on Saturday, Feb. 15, in the Catholic Church of the Divine Redeemer, the Rev. Duane Theobald officiating. The chancel was decorated with arrangements of white mums and red roses. E. L. Rogers sang two solos, accompanied at the organ by Mrs. Evelyn Crandall.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. S. E. Wilbur and the late Mr. Wilbur of DeBegue. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. H. J. Spencer of Gainesville, Fla.

For her wedding, the bride chose a street length gown of white embossed organza, fashioned with a full skirt and fitted bodice with wrist length sleeves. Her shoulder length veil was held by a coronet covered with white satin and seed pearls. Her bouquet was a cluster of red roses with ivy streamers. Her jewelry was pearl earrings, a gift of the bridegroom.

The maid of honor, Miss Pauline Warmuth, a cousin of the bride, wore a pastel green brocade satin street length dress with a matching fitted jacket and pillbox hat. Her corsage was pink carnations and roses.

The bridegroom's father, Mr. H. J. Spencer, served as best man. The ushers were George Pfalmer, August Warmuth, James Wilbur, brother of the bride and David Massey, cousin of the bridegroom.

The bride's mother wore a teal blue suit with beige accessories. The bridegroom's mother wore a pastel green suit with matching accessories. Their corsages were pink carnations.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held in the August Warmuth home. Mrs. Andrew Loetscher and Mrs. George Pfalmer assisted the hostess. Miss Judy Davenport was in charge of the wedding book.

After the reception, the newlywed left on a trip to Glenwood Springs, DeBeque and Los Angeles, Calif. They will be at home in Pago Pago, American Samoa after March 1.

The bride graduated from Monte Vista High School, and the school of nursing at Loretto Heights College in Denver. She is employed as a teacher of Public Health Nursing at the American Samoan Hospital. She previously worked as a Public Health Nurse with the El Paso County Health Department in Colorado Springs.

The bridegroom graduated from Florida University with a degree in Entomology. He is employed by the Government of Samoa.

Out of town guests at the wedding included Mrs. S. E. Wilbur and James Wilbur of DeBeque; Mr. and Mrs. H. J. Spencer, Gainesville, Fla.; the bridegroom's grandmother, Mrs. Lena Evans, his aunt, Mrs. Beatrice Evans Massey and David Massey, all of Boulder; the bride's aunt, Miss Martha Wilbur, and a cousin, Miss Judy Davenport, Denver; and Miss Alice Wright, Grand Junction.

MR. AND MRS. HARLEY M. STRAIGHT III

Straight-Sircy Wedding Held in Lehmberg Chapel

Lehmberg Chapel of First Methodist Church was the setting for the Jan. 26 marriage of Patricia Lee Sircy, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. D. Sircy, and Harley M. Straight III.

Dr. Ben F. Lehmberg officiated at the double ring ceremony before an altar decorated with candelabra, white gladioli, pink carnations and pink pom pons. White satin bows marked each pew.

Mrs. Verda Lawrie played appropriate music at the organ preceding the ceremony and accompanied Mrs. Arline MaKinney who sang "You Will Never Walk Alone" and "The Wedding Prayer."

Escorted down the aisle by her father, the bride wore a floor length gown of tiered chantilly lace over white satin. Her shoulder length veil was held by a crown of pearls and sequins. Her only jewelry was a small drop star necklace, gift of the bridegroom. The bride carried a cascade arrangement of feathered carnations and ivy, centered with white cattleya orchids which she later detached and wore on her traveling costume. The bride also carried a white linen handkerchief that her maternal grandmother, mother and sister carried at their weddings.

Mrs. Larry Rhoadarmer, matron of honor and sister of the bride, and Mrs. Dennis Van Diest, bridesmaid, wore afternoon dresses of Boston pink with jackets to match. They both carried cascades of ice-pink feather carnations with Boston pink bows. In their hair, they wore matching carnations on a frame of Boston pink ribbon with ivy leaves.

Gordon Pennington was the bridegroom's best man. Don Sircy was the usher and groomsman. Pamela Miller, cousin of the bride, was the flower girl and wore an ice pink dress with white eyelet and carried a cascade of Boston pink carnations with an ice pink ribbon. She also wore a Boston pink carnation with ice pink ribbon and ivy leaves in her hair. Rodney Miller, cousin of the bride, was the candlelighter.

Mrs. Sircy chose an American beauty sheath with matching hat and black accessories and cymbidium orchid corsage for her daughter's wedding.

A reception was held after the ceremony at the home of the bride's parents. Mrs. Jerome Penkhus attended the guest book.

A three tier cake decorated in the bride's colors was cut by Mrs. Hubert Case and Mrs. Robert Crews. Serving at the punch bowl was Mrs. Patrick Jones. Miss Diana Erickson, Mrs. Arthur Holmes, Miss Lannette Otto, Mrs. Lewis Miller and Mrs. Leo Kosley assisted at the reception.

The bride is a graduate of Wasson High School and has been employed at the Big Steer restaurant and Skateland.

The bridegroom is a graduate of Rosedale High School, Kansas City, Kan. and Kansas City Jr. College. He is the Past State, Regional and District Master Counselor of DeMolay and a teacher at Skateland.

Paul Derrell Bennett Weds Marlene Marie Schawe

Karlene Marie Schawe became the bride of Paul Derrell Bennett in a ceremony performed at 11 a.m. Feb. 8 by the Rev. Kennedy at St. Mary's Catholic Church.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Schawe, 2403 N. Royer St. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Bennett, Joplin, Mo.

The church was decorated with yellow and white mums. Mr. Hammer played traditional nuptial music and Gertie Greenbaltz sang.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore sheath of white velvet with a chapel train and beaded lace jacket. The shoulder length veil was attached to a beaded lace pillbox hat. She carried white carnations with ivy.

The matron of honor, Mrs. Don Trefathen, wore an olive green velvet dress with an A-shaped skirt. She carried yellow button mums with ivy.

Joan Jacobson, bridesmaid, wore a dress identical to that of the matron of honor. Debbie Schawe and Kathy Trefethan, junior bridesmaids, and Suzie Trefethen and Denise Schawe, flower girls, wore dresses with olive green bodices and white organdy skirts. The collars and cuffs of the dresses were trimmed in white organdy. The junior bridesmaids carried white mums while the flower girls carried baskets of flower petals.

Chuck Artale was the best man and Bob Knapp, Russell Schawe and John Caltagirone were ushers.

The bride's mother wore a beige ribbon knit suit with a pink carnation corsage. The bridegroom's mother wore a lime green suit with a white carnation corsage.

A reception was held at the Branding Iron Restaurant immediately following the ceremony. Donna Lee Trefethen and Joan Jacobson assisted at the reception.

The bride wore a beige and white wool suit with brown accessories when the couple left on a wedding trip to Denver. Their future residence will be at 915 N. Weber St.

The out of town guests were Mrs. Fred Bennett, Joplin, Mo.; Mrs. George Peintner, Spearville, Kan.; Mrs. Louise Stein, Granada; and Mr. Jack Barr from Iowa.

Dear Abby--

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

Up in Smoke!

What do you think of man in his 50's who slips around to smoke? He started smoking when he was 15, and about four years ago he started having stomach trouble, so his doctor told him to quit smoking. He did, for about three years, then he started to slip around and sneak smokes. Can you imagine a man in his 50's thinking he is getting away with it? His breath and clothes smell of tobacco something fierce. And you should hear the excuses he uses to get out of the house for a smoke. Also, I find cigarettes hidden all over the house. It makes me think that if a man will slip around to smoke, maybe that's not all he's slipping around to do. Am I wrong?

—HIS WIFE

DEAR WIFE: Probably. Don't assume that because your husband has one bad habit he has them all. So far, you know only what you've learned from smoke signals.

DEAR ABBY: Should a 16-year-old girl who has been called "naive" feel complimented or insulted? —"NAIVE"

DEAR NAIVE: If she is truly naive, she should feel complimented.

DEAR ABBY: I am a born loser. I lost my husband to another woman. I lost my only child to my husband because the court decided that he could provide a more normal atmosphere for him. I fell in love with a married man who works closely with me. I have never been alone with him, nor do I intend to be. I am sure he is aware of me in the same way, though not a word has been spoken about it. My interest in him has numbed my interest in all other men. It is also interfering with my efficiency on my job, and I know it is affecting his, too. If you could tell me how to regain my former uncomplicated state of mind without changing jobs, I would be grateful. —"BORN LOSER"

DEAR LOSER: There are no "Born Losers" — only people with occasional bad luck and others who play games in which the odds are against them. Quit punishing yourself. Unless you enjoy suffering, you will change jobs.

CONFIDENTIAL TO "Giving Up In Albuquerque": Carry a Bible. And one day you will find that it is carrying you.

Get it off your chest. For a personal, unpublished reply, write to ABBY, Box 3365, Beverly Hills Calif. Enclose a stamped self-addressed envelope.

For Abby's booklet, "How To Have A Lovely Wedding," send 50 cents to Abby, Box 3365, Beverly Hills, Calif.

TO WED IN APRIL—Mr. and Mrs. Robert F. Rooney of 322 E. San Miguel St. announce the engagement of their daughter, Louise Blaine, to Steven E. Blyan, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. Blyan of Brooklyn, N.Y. Miss Rooney is employed by the Sun Realty Co., and Mr. Blyan is stationed at Ft. Carson. Plans are being made for an April wedding.

Opening lead: Ace of ♣

A Blackwood abuse was in evidence on this hand taken from a recent tournament.

The opening bid of one heart, the response of one spade, and the rebid of three hearts fall into natural molds. The next two bids are also routine. South, counting the combined assets, properly reached the conclusion that there were enough available for slam purposes. Whereupon he took matters into his own hand and subjected partner to the inquisition with a bid of four notrump. North dutifully responded, showing one ace, and South became seized with qualms. Since the ace of clubs was missing, he now become concerned about a possible spade loser and called things off with a bid of five spades. This gave North no further choice in the matter. He was obliged to check out, and the contract was fulfilled to the trick. Gratification at having stopped "on a dime" blinded the North and South players to the fact that slam could have been made in hearts, diamonds, and notrump.

If South had not taken over complete authority but had permitted the partnership the use of dual control, the partners might have had an opportunity to consult as to the best contract. After North's return to four spades, South might have made a descriptive bid of five diamonds, showing two five card suits. North would then raise to six diamonds, anticipating that any losing spades would be discarded on North's good hearts.

At one table when South, also using Blackwood, signed off at five spades, North took the law into his own hand and bid six spades. This is a violation of the Blackwood convention and was justly punished. However, if North was bound to disregard the rules of the Blackwood convention, he might as well have tried six diamonds, rather than six spades. He had already supported spades, and partner would in this manner be offered a choice. Having more solid diamonds, he would have chosen that suit as trump, with a happy ending.

107 E. PIKES PEAK

OPEN ALL DAY SATURDAY FOR YOUR CONVENIENCE

Pikes Peak Region Yesterdays

By DORA FOSTER

Weatherman Bowman told us one morning to wrap the children up well before the left home for school, since it was a col dmorning and no promise of any warming up much through the entire day. "Pull the earflaps of their caps down good and tight so they won't take cold," he warned us.

I smiled, remembering our early trips to the school house. "They won't leave those earflaps down long," I thought.

Our childhood walks to the country school one mile distant down Cheyenne Road, were made in all kinds of weather, even as children are doing these days, but never do I recall that we ever suffered from the cold. Our prudent mother saw to that. Our shoes were made of good stout leather often home - made half.soles, our wooley stockings were knitted by our mother's skillful hands, sometimes with the stripes running round the leg, sometimes plain in color; our underwear came down to the ankles, over that was a flannel underskirt, then a woolen dress, and on top of all was a gingham apron, with long sleeves and high neck.

Then beside the kitchen or the dining room stove mother saw that we put on our cloaks, not coats, boys wore coats, not girls). Our mitten sand our hoods were pretty, and of the colors we liked best, mine blue, sister's red, and usually we were then ready for the trip. I said usually, but if the thermometer or father reported temperature was "way down" then before we could snatch up our dinner buckets and dash off to meet the Buck girls who were often waiting for us down below the pine trees, mother did what we hated most of all, tied brown chiffon veils over our hoods and over our faces.

Being born in Wales and having her own well - defined ideas of what a mother could expect of obedience in her children, we stood quietly while the stuffy old veils were tied on, never saying a word in protest since we well knew what we could do as soon as we got down past the turn of the road and well out of sight of the home windows. We'd take those veils off. And we did. We either pulled them off or pushed them up over the tops of the hoods, and took some good long breaths of pure fresh air. We than ran happily on, the snow crunching and squeaking under our feet, our breaths coming in nice frosty waves from our mouths and soon we were stamping into the hall of the school house where we knew a rousing and roaring fire would greet us from the big round Franklin in the center of the schoolroom.

One reason we never told mother about removing the veils was because we did not want to hurt her feelings for we loved her mighty hard, and another good reason and probably the best one, was because we did not want her to forbid us ever doing that again. But those veils! They were brown and obstructed our vision, spoiled the sunlight on the snow, spoiled the sparkle of the frost, stuck to our mouths where our breaths had moistened them, making it hard for us to breathe. I don't remember that we ever put them on as we left the school house at 4 o'clock, but then by that time, to course, the day had warmed up so that mother had not expected us to wear them on the way home.

Occasionally if our mother thought our feet needed extra protecttion she would have us pull on over our shoes an extra pair of woolen stockings. I remember them more often on Nora Buck and The Twins than I remember wearing them myself. It was so interesting to watch them being pulled to, as they stuck so closely to the feet.

None o the other pupils, nor did we, possess any rubber boots or overshoes. Our shoes did not soak water, since father kept them well greased with warm mutton tallow, and the first pair o shining rubber overshoes that I possessed came as a nice surprise from our good friend and neighbor, Mr. James J. May, who had just returned from a trip to New York City. My two sisters also had been given these beautiful "storm rubbers" which had an extra long lap. I was 10 years of age when these overshoes were presented and I kept them washed and shining for a long time.

Now - a - days mothers or fathers warm up their autos and drive to the school house after school hours to pick up the children and see that they get safely home.

But while we were attending the late afternoon classes we could smile happily if the snow had grown deeper through the day or the wind started blowing it about in a wild fashion, for we well knew then that either our father or big brother would soon be driving up to the school house stile, with either the wagon or the sled to see that we were taken home in style. Going home that way meant, too, that all the pupils who lived in our general direction up the creek would be tumbled into the sled or the wagon bed and taken along with us, going out of our way perhaps to see that nobody was left out in the storm. What fun that was! No nicely heated and beaufitully upholstered Cadillac could ever give a child more thrills on his homeward ride than did those 15 minutes up Cheyenne Road, with the snow blowing in our faces, our schoolmates crouched down beside us and the clouds of packed snow flying back from the hoofs of the horses as they flew (?) along over the white trackless stretch towards home.

Just the other day I saw a little girl about 10 years old returning to her home after school and she was swinging her cap in one hand while she whirled her coat wind - mill fashion in the frosty air. I wondered what her mother said to her as she entered the house for lunch. The child probably assured the mother that it was "nice and warm outdoors."

So if weatherman Bowman advises the mother to "wrap the children up good" before they leave the house, leave it to the children to get themselves home in comfort.

"Snow Bound." Who is there among us who has not thrilled to some of these lines of Whittier's "Snow Bound."

"The sun that brief December day, Rose cheerless over hills of gray. And, darkly circled gave at noon. A sadder light than waning moon." Or these: "Meanwhile we did our nightly chores — Brought in the wood from out-of-doors." Or these, "With mittened hands and caps down low, to guard our necks and ears from snow. We cut the solid whiteness through."

All of which reminds us that our beloved old New Englander poet never basked in our Winter's Colorado sunshine.

Firemen Fight Snow While Station Burns

DURANGO (AP) — The only television station in Durango was destroyed by fire Saturday while volunteer firemen tried to get their truck up a snow covered hill.

The 80-foot tower collapsed before they made it.

Floyd Jeter, owner of station KJFL, said the fire consumed the building so quickly "there was nothing anybody could do."

The station opened last November and provided 2½ hours of local programs in addition to films. Jeter also owns station KFJL in Walsenburg.

Jeter was putting chains on his car when he spotted flames at 2:30 a.m. in the station located on the hill rising 150 feet just west of Durango. He telephoned city firemen, who are prohibited from answering calls outside the city limits, and volunteers "but I told them there wasn't much sense in hurrying," Jeter said.

The fire apparently started in a six-foot storage room at which the transmitter was partly located. The loss which included a grand piano and other personal items was estimated by Jeter at between $50,000 and $100,000.

None Injured in Crash Involving Three Cars

A three-car rear-end accident in the 400 block of South Nevada Avenue Friday night, resulted in damages totaling $525.

A car driven by Jimmie Harlan White, 19, Ft. Carson, struck the rear of a car driven by John Allan Abell, 18, 634 Glen Eyrie Ct. and knocked it into the rear of a car driven by Marvin Dean Ness, 20, Ft. Carson.

Damage to the Abell car was $500. Cpl. C. W. Maloney, city police, cited White for following too close.

Great Books Club Will Discuss Shaw Work

The Wednesday evening Great Books group will meet from 8 to 10 p.m. Wednesday in Mrs. Reid's office at the public library, 21 W. Kiowa St., for a discussion of George Bernard Shaw's "Back to Methuselah."

Jean La Mar will conduct the questioning for a discussion which requires no references to any earlier readings in the Great Books sessions.

This method, as approved by the Great Books Foundation of Chicago, allows anyone to participate who has read the text as assigned for the evening.

Questions will be drawn from what the author says, what the author means to the reader, and how the values of the book can be used in present day living.

Future readings will be discussed on the regular second and fourth evenings of each month and will include such assignments as Paul Tillich's "The New Being," and Whitehead's "Essays on Philosophy."

Further information on this project in adult education, sponsored for the eleventh year by the public library, may be obtained from Myrtle Allen, 633-8540, or Margaret Gibson, 633-3397.

Seeing Flow Of Blood Aids Lung Diagnosis

A technique for visualizing blood flow thru the lungs makes possible the diagnosis of various disorders including life-threatening blood clots, a Baltimore research team said today.

The radioisotope scanning technique has been used to detect alterations in blood supply to various parts of the lung resulting from disease, according to an article in the current Journal of the American Medical Association.

Authors of the report are Henry N. Wagner Jr., M. D., David C. Sabiston Jr., M. D., Masahiro Iio, M. D., John G. McAfee, M. D., Jon K. Meyer, B. A., and James K. Langan, Johns Hopkins University School of Medicine.

Radioisotope scanning is the visualization of an internal organ by determining the distribution of a radioisotope within the body. Satisfactory visualization depends primarily on the selective deposition of gamma-emitting radioisotopes in specific organs. The technique does not require a high concentration of the radioisotope in the organ.

A device called a photoscanner is used to reproduce the radioisotope distribution on x-ray film. An x-ray of the area under study is made at the same time and the scanning image is superimposed on the same film.

In the Johns Hopkins study, a compound containing radioactive chromium was injected into a vein of 70 patients scanned for lung ailments. Circulatory defects were observed in patients with tumors, cysts, pneumonia and other conditions.

It should be possible to use the technique in the diagnosis of blood clots in the lung's vascular network, the researchers pointed out. Recent advances in surgery have made it possible to remove these clots, they said, but broad application of the surgical approach to this medical emergency has been limited by the lack of reliable diagnostic methods.

Since the technique determines the relative perfusion of various parts of the lungs, they added, it should also aid the study of such diseases as emphysema and bronchial asthma. There is considerable evidence that in these diseases, regional defects rather than diffuse involvement of the lungs may be present, they said. The technique also could be applied as a means of measuring the circulation to various other organs such as the heart and brain, they pointed out.

The study indicates that the method is "a safe procedure," according to the Journal report.

The senior class play and Class Day Program were the main topics of discussion at the Feb. 14 Senior Class meeting. President Bob Weber asked for the support of the class in making the play and program a success.

A central committee to organize the Senior Class Day program was appointed consisting of the class officers and Diane Kraus, Carlyle Nerdahl, Kay Rutledge, John James, and Rey San Pedro.

Plans for a sopomore sponsored dance were discussed, but no conclusions were reached.

Susie O'Neill gave a short speech on school spirit.

The Junior-Senior Prom was the main topic of discussion at the junior class meeting held February 14.

It was decided that the Prom would be held at the Alamo Hotel on May 9. The dinner will be served buffet style.

Members of the dance committee are Ginny Trokey, Anita Abeyta, Betty Elkins, and Carolyn Hartsell.

Betty Talbot, Larry Baggett, Jim Fenton, Jolene Ganatta, Judy Olsen, John Stenger, Gilbert Taylor, and Don Pottenger make up the arrangement committee.

Students on the decoration committee are Marie Bowen, Roy Bath, David Beeson, Susi Byers, Helena Darnell, Domingo Flores, Pete Johnson, Beverly Ridenour, Angie Smith, and Doug Stanley.

The invitation committee consists of Nacy Cruse, Jim Banda, Peggy Bearup, Phyllis Bystrom, Cheryl Coln, Karen Kover, Diane McCarty, and Cathy Torbit.

Members of the program committee are Linda Cline, Evelyn Bryant, Bob Dodson, Linda Laughlin, and Judy Marshall.

Eleven senior students took the ACT college test Saturday, Feb. 15, at Southern Colorado State College. They were Carlyle Nerdahl, Carolyn Glaze, Diane Kraus, Ginnie Leonard, Laura Nugent, Janice Malone, Brett Henry, John Foster, Fred Romero, George Stanley, and Gary Powell. Larry McGuire took this test at St. Joseph's, north of Colorado Springs.

The test consisted of four parts: English, social studies, mathematics, and natural science. This test is usually required for college entrance or for scholarships.

Mr. Francis DeMarco, band director, attended an all-state music teachers' conference Feb. 13, 14, and 15 in Denver.

Various bands and choruses from all over the state provided the entertainment. New techniques and methods were presented at this convention to further music education.

Major J. E. Stenger, Fifty Infantry Division medical officer, spoke to the history classes on military aspects of four Civil War campaigns. He gave students an idea of the connection between political social and military factions during the War Between the States.

Four campaigns were covered: Antietam, Gettysburg, Vicksburg, and the Wilderness Campaigns.

Seven members of the FTA Club took part in a "Kadet" or practice teaching program in the elementary grades during the week of Feb. 10.

Before the teaching program began, the future teachers met the elementary teachers whom they later observed and taught for.

Each student observed the teacher's "classroom techniques" and after two days of this, presented a planned lesson to the class.

Those participating in the program were Jan Malone, first grade; Ginnie Leonard, third grade; Terry Kent, sixth grade; Diane Kraus, third grade; Gil Taylor, sixth grade; Dick King, fifth grade; and Laura Nugent, second grade.

RED SHOES — Four of the persons responsible for bringing "Red Shoes," the full-color feature film starring Norma Shearer, to Colorado Springs pose with posters announcing the event. The film, considered a classic, is now out of commercial circulation, but is being presented for two showings at 1:30 and 4 p.m. Feb. 29 at Perkins Hall by the Rocky Mountain National Ballet Company as an educational film. Company board members Mrs. John Major and Mrs. Paul Stallmann and president Robert Ramsey admire the first poster held by board member Ben Gahart.

The newly organized Quill and Scroll organization held its first meeting at the home of Mrs. Treva Franch. The purpose of the meeting was to elect officers.

Those elected were: Tom Rich, preisdent; Kathy Taylor, vice president; and Sharon Medley, secretary - treasurer. Dennis Crowe was appointed program chairman of the next meeting. The sponsors present were: Mrs. Treva French, Mrs. Estella Gill, and Mrs. Lola McClain.

Entertainment at the meeting included stories written by members of the creative writing class. Kathy Bell, Madison Bagley, Mike Gilliland, Gilbert McSheehy, and Jim Watson read their selections. Mr. Robert Loewe also entertained the group with piano music while refreshments were served. The next regular meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Estella Gill.

The creative writing class, in collaberation with the Annual Staff, has been busy writing the theme copy to be used in the yearbook. Copy writers have been occupied with the task of writing cultlines for pictures, head lines for class sections, and copy on clubs, organizations, and classes.

Recently a newspaper staff meeting was held to discuss a revision of the school paper. Many new ideas were presented. Some of these included new columns, new reporters, and new approaches to old columns.

The Pep Club sponsored a basketball homecoming dance. The dress was casual and Jerry Shafer of KYSN acted as master of ceremonies. Linda McClellan, a junior, was crowned queen. Her attendants were: Diana Beaver, Senior; Sharon Glass, Sophomore; and Carol Glosson, Freshman.

A field trip to the El Paso County Annex Building was a real treat for the members of the U.S. Government classes. Mrs. Harriet Beals, county cleak, Mrs. Virginia Goodsell, and Mr. Sage gave the class an excellent tour. Some of the things that the class saw were: pricinct maps, registration prodecure, and voting machines. As an added treat the students were able to use the voting machines. Mr. Ralph Cesario is the class sponsor.

The next project of the Future Teachers of America will be student teaching. The student teaching will begin next month at Chamberlin and Stratton Meadows gradt schools.

An initiation banquet was held at Ruth's Oven to install new members into the Future Secretaries of America. The speaker was Mr. Burton. He spoke on the subject of a secretary's duty in the modern business world.

The Lettermen's Club sponsored a basketball game between the Harlen Clowns and the men's faculty. The crowd was delighted by the antics of the Clowns. Lettermen from all schools in the Pikes Peak League will hold a dance in March to promote better school relations.

Revision of the old constitutions is the latest project of the Student Council. Some of the new ideas presented in the revised constitution will be more power in Student Council and better school disipline. A sock hop will be held in March to raise funds for the Student Council.

Car Thief Overlooks $2,000 in Trunk

Police Friday arrested a man who allegedly stole a car and drove it around for some time apparently unaware that there was $2,000 in the trunk of the vehicle.

Richard Lenart, 42, 1102 S. Nevade Ave., was apprehended in the car at the rear of 900 S. Tejon St. by Officers E. Lans and K. Trapp late Friday night.

Police said the car belonged to Robert Arden Dunkle, 1303 Royale Dr. Dunkle had parked the car, with the motor running, Friday in front of the Peerless Music Co., 113 E. Mill St.

He said that 10 money sacks containing $2,000 were in the trunk of the car at the time. The money was recovered.

The International Relations Club held its monthly meeting Monday. Emil Dystra, an exchange student at Colorado College from Belgium, spoke. The topic the club has chosen for this year is "Racism Around the World". Therefore in keeping with their subject, Mr. Dysta spoke on the Congo.

Cheyenne's Letterman's Club met Tuesday for a short business meeting and then initiation of its new members. At the business meeting it was decided that the "C" Club would buy the athleic department a moist heat unit. This machine would be used to help the athletes who have been injured and suffer stiffening or muscle spasams.

The Concert Band from Colorado State College in Greeley will appear at Cheyenne Wednesday. This band known as "The pride of the Rockies" is conducted by Wayman Walker and two past members of Cheyenne's band are members. The two Cheyenne alumni are Don Neilson, Drums; and Betty Bishop, clarinet.

The student exchange between Air Academy High School and Cheyenne will take place Monday thru Thursday. The two members of the Cheyenne student body who will attend classes at Air Academy are Jeff Day, senior class president; and Leslie Smith. Cheyenne's two visitors from Air Academy for the week will be Rob Stockhouse and Ann Smith.

A dance was held Friday after the basketball game with Denver Christian. The monarchs, a local combo, entertained at this Student Council sponsored event. There was a large turnout and the dance was deemed a success.

The Spanish Club presented a melodrama entitled "Help From the Desert," Wednesday night. The Spanish IV students wrote and acted in this play. Following the entertainment, refreshments were served and a business meeting was held.

Tryouts were held Tuesday for Hamlet. This famed play by William Shakespeare will be presented in the spring by the senior class. Rehearsal for the production will begin shortly and characters are already busy learning lines. Mrs. G. Spencer Beasly, chairman of the English Department, will direct the play with the help of the other English teachers.

The tentative casting has been done and the list of characters is as follows: Claudias, Dwight Love; Hamlet, Tom Taggart; Polonius, Val Kobal; Horatio, Jack O'Brian; Laertes, Scott Chrisman; Rosencrantz, Laurie Lork; Guildenstern, Laurel McLeod; priest, Mike Myers, Fortinbras, John Howard; Ghost, John Howard; Players, Leslie Smith, Ann Fitzgerald, Jackie Foster; Osric, Wanda Palermo; A lord, Susan Prange, Gertrude, Meg Blaine; Ophelia, Judi Bartlett.

MAKING DOUBLY SURE

NASHVILLE (AP) — Everything appeared normal when Patrolman William O. Rogers answered a burglar alarm at a local auto company. A salesman was making a pitch to a customer in the showroom. To make doubly sure, Rogers entered the rear of the building to look around.

Meantime, the salesman and customer left, locking the front gate on the way out. Rogers was finally rescued when a superior officer drove by and noticed him trapped inside the company's high wire fence.

Protestant Chapel for Spain

MADRID (UPI)— The Spanish Supreme Court has overruled a government order prohibiting the opening of a Protestant chapel in Valencia, it was disclosed here.

This was the first time in the history of Spanish law that the court had handed down a decision on the opening of Protestant chapels.

Permission to open the chapel was applied for by Baptist Minister Tomas Perez on Aug. 19, 1960. The Ministry of the Interior ruled against the petition March 16, 1961, after consulting with the Valencia civil government.

Now the Spanish Supreme Court has set a precedent by overruling the government decision and rejecting the government point of view that the right to open Protestant chapels was a "discretionary" one, "strictly political," and up to the arbitrary decision of the executive power.

MISS ABBOTT TO PRODUCE

NEW YORK (AP) — Judith Abbott, daughter of veteran Broadway showman George Abbott, has formed a partnership to produce shows. Katz is a player agent.

The parts first project is a comedy, as yet untitled, by Norman Wexler, a member of the New Dramatists Committee making his White Way debut.

Marine Gave Life Saving Trainee Lives

CAMP PENDLETON, Calif. (AP) — Marine Corps officers say a veteran instructor gave his life to save trainees when one of the youths activated a hand grenade.

Killed here was Staff Sgt. Bobby Gene Callison, 34, of nearby Vista. Two of the trainees were wounded.

Investigators said Callison's action undoubtedly saved several other marines from being killed. They gave this account:

Pvt. James M. Cromer, 17, of Indianapolis, Ind., had pulled the pin from a powerful M26 grenade and was preparing to hurl it from the pit where he, Sgt. Callison and other trainees were working.

But Cromer accidentally dropped the detaining lever that is supposed to fall free only when the grenade is thrown. The youth then appeared to freeze.

Callison, noticing his plight, grabbed the grenade and hurled it out of the pit.

Too much of the 4½ - second time margin had elapsed. The grenade exploded at a height of about 10 feet, killing Callison.

Cromer was taken to naval hospital in San Diego with multiple abdominal wounds. His condition was listed as serious. Pvt. William A. Quaring, 17, of Spokane, Wash., sustained a neck wound.

CSU Band Will Present Concert At Widefield Gym

The Widefield School District music department will host the Colorado State College Band (The Pride of the Rockies) when it arrives in the area Wednesday.

The band will present an instrumental concert at 7 p.m. that night in the Widefield High School gymnasium. Admission will be free.

The group will be under the direction of Wayman Walker who is assisted by James Miller. The 70-member band will play music entertaining to all age groups. The program will consist of music ranging from opera to concertos, jazz, novelty songs and Broadway hits.

The band, after arriving at Security, will attend a dinner hosted by the Widefield High music department, and after the concert, it will be housed at the homes of local music students.

Vets Warned To List Beneficiaries

A routine letter from a veteran who asked the Veterans Administration a question concerning his insurance revealed that he had forgotten to name his bride of a year as beneficiary. Had he died without change of beneficiary, the claim would have been paid to his wealthy sister.

The VA pointed out there are cases like this without number — all because of the failure of many veterans to keep their beneficiary listings up to date.

The law requires the VA to pay insurance claims to the beneficiary named by the veteran. Too often, VA officials said, the original list of beneficiaries, compiled when the policy was issued is sadly out of date. The most common reasons for obsolete listings are marriages, remarriages, divorces and deaths.

Veterans should write to the VA office to which they send their insurance payments, being careful to give their full name and policy number as well as the old and new beneficiary listings.

The VA will help when a veteran has forgotten the old beneficiary listing by sending him a microfilm copy of the old listing as well as a new beneficiary designation form to be filled in with up-to-date information.

District 11 Students Learn Of Smoking Evils

Long before the United States Public Health Service released its report on smoking and health, children in District 11 schools were learning about the possible dangers using tobacco, according to Garry L. Berry, director of health and physical education, authorities report.

He said that for many years such information has been part of the schools' health education program in the sixth and tenth grades. Last September the district further strengthened this part of the health program. It added information about smoking to the eighth grade curriculum, Berry said.

Educating children in regard to the dangers of smoking is a cooperative effort of the schools and the local chapter of the American Cancer Society. Berry said the Cancer Society obtains the most recent films and filmstrips on research on smoking and health. These are the basic materials of instruction.

In addition to providing projected and other materials, the Cancer Society arranges for doctors to assist in the instruction. When a film is shown, a doctor is in the classroom to lead a discussion and answer any questions pupils may have.

Berry said the presence of the doctor helps assure the authenticity of the information. He added that doctors can more effectively impress upon pupils the need to consider the possible health hazards before acquiring the smoking habit.

PIONEER "PINCH-HITTER" FLYING CLASS—Learns functions and effects of airplane controls. The first course of its kind ever given in Colorado, the "Pinch-Hitter" course was developed to enable a passenger in private or business airplanes to take over in case of pilot disability, navigate to the nearest suitable airport and land safely. First class to take the new course, all wives of Pikes Peak Region pilots, are, left to right, Mrs. Darrell Roberts, Mrs. William Ritchie, Mrs. Mel Eskanos, Mrs. Frank Ladwig, Mrs. Robert Zimmerman, Mrs. Finis Wandell, Richard Bealer, Beeline flight instructor and Mrs. Vernon Bolton. The eighth member of the first class, Mrs. Oliver LeCompte, was not present when the picture was taken. The course is being offered by Beeline Aviation at Peterson Field and will be repeated soon.

Grass that grows under shade trees should be watered every few days, soaking soil thoroughly, and should be given fertilizer every two or three weeks. Do not cut this grass as closely as you do the rest of your lawn and it will grow better.

Foreign Men Will Get Sampling of American Life

Four young men from South America and five from Japan will get a generous sampling of American life beginning Monday at the Air Force Academy.

Scheduled to arrive are four honor graduates from South American service schools and five cadets from the Japanese Defense Academy.

During their six-day stay, the Japanese will live with their U.S. counterparts in Vandenberg Hall, attend classes, formations, and athletic functions with them.

Tuesday, the Commandant of Cadets, Brig. Gen. Robert S. Strong Jr., will welcome the visitors. They will receive academic, military, and athletic briefings and then tour the Academy Library. That afternoon, the Japanese will tour the chapel and attend a Planetarium show.

Wednesday and Friday, the cadets will be airborne. They will take a navigational training flight in a T-29 Wednesday, and will take orientation rides in T-33s Friday.

That evening, two Academy staff officers, Col. Hugo Zimmermann, Comptroller, and Lt. Col. George W. Orton, Department of Mechanics, will entertain the cadets in their homes.

A tour of NORAD and participation in intramurals is scheduled for Thursday.

The South Americans, from Argentina, Bolivia, Chile, and Peru, will be escorted by four Spanish speaking Academy cadets: J. S. Puster, C. A. Estrada, M. W. Seibel, and T. S. Bradley, during their stay.

Capt. Lyman Kidder, visiting project officer, will entertain with personnel from the Spanish Department Wednesday evening.

Tours of Academy facilities, NORAD, and Ent AFB are also scheduled.

Firehouse Frolicking Burns Mayor

By PEGGY POLK

NEW YORK (UPI)—Burned-up Mayor Robert F. Wagner is demanding a full probe of firemen's firehouse frolics with playgirls during off-duty hours when they should be playing checkers or chess.

Fire Commissioner Edward J. Thompson, who last week suspended from duty a captain and four firemen, told the mayor he was confident the three women involved were not professional prostitutes.

He said they were just interested in showing the firemen and a few selected neighborhood fire-buff friends a good time.

"No evidence has been turned over to the district attorney," Thompson said because there was nothing to show the fire station was a house of prostitution.

He said Capt. Joseph J. Sosa, who has two heroism awards to his credit, and the four firemen will be tried on charges of conduct unbecoming a fireman by the department next week. They could lose their jobs.

Wagner told Thompson he wanted to make sure that no other firemen had similar sirens in their firehouses.

Thompson replied he believed it was an "isolated" case.

FOUR GOLFERS REPEATED

HARTFORD, Conn. (AP) — Billy Casper, winner of the Insurance City Open, and Connecticut-born Julius Boros were among the four multiple winners in 1963 PGA tournaments.

Casper won two, and Boros three. The others? Who else but Arnold Palmer, seven, and Jack Nicklaus, five.

It compares with 12 golfers who won more than one title during 962.

Citizens Will Study District 14 Goals

As a part of Project School Child, citizens interested in the Manitou Springs Public Schools are invited to attend a meeting at the Manitou Springs Chamber of Commerce building at 7:30 p.m., Tuesday.

The first topic for discussion widll be "Goals of Education," with special emphasis on our own local situation. This meeting will offer patrons an opportunity to express themselves and to help the school board and administration plan the type of school local citizens really want.

It will give all an opportunity to help formulate guidelines for education, locally and in the State.

Project School Child is a State wide program, being sponsored by the Colorado Association of School Boards, the Colorado Congress of Parents and Teachers, the Colorado Education Association, and the State Department of Education. Actually, the project is a Colorado citizens' study of education. School personnel are to give information and data, but are not to dominate the discussions.

Professional educators support this program and will serve as resource personnel.

It is hoped that Project School Child will involve a great many interested people in a thoro and objective study of their local schools. The goal of the study is to offer an opportunity for citizens to express their views about the schools after having studied the local school system.

State wide results of this study may well provide direction for public education in Colorado in the years ahead. As civilization and society become more and more complex, the demands upon the educational system become greater.

The project proposes to have study groups and hopes to have several such groups in District No. 14. Mrs. David Holman is acting as Project School Child coordinator in District No. 14.

She will need leaders for the discussion groups. Mr. D. D. Studebaker, president of the local PTA, will act as one group leader, but it is hoped that at least three groups will be formed locally.

Five main areas will be explored by the citizen groups. They are: 1. Goals of Education; 2. Curriculum; 3. The School Staff; 4. School Facilities and Materials; and 5. School Finance.

The first meeting and all others should be interesting and valuable. Only thru widespread improvement in determining educational goals and objectives can school programs be developed which truly serve the people in a democracy.

It is to be hoped that all citizens will participate actively in this dynamic program for helping the youngsters in the community and in the State of Colorado.

PLAYFUL VETERAN

BOSTON (AP)—When the old timers lined up for the opening tap prior to the National Basketball Association All - Star game here, Paul Hoffman, general manager of the Baltimore Bullets, slammed a playful elbow into Jim Pollard's stomach.

"The game hasn't started yet," said Pollard.

"I know," replied Hoffman, "but your head was turned and I just couldn't resist the temptation."

COOK-OUT CLEAN UP

Here are a few hints for taking care of cooking utensils on an outdoor picnic. Wrap the bottoms of pots used over an open fire with aluminum foil to prevent burnt on dirt. Place the utensils in a large plastic bag to take them home. Clean utensils as soon as possible and store in another bag.
